Feed Grain For '68 Announced

A Feed Grain Program for 1968 has been announced by the Secretary of Agriculture, according to a report from I. William Umbel, Chairman, Garrett Co. ASC Committee.

The aim of the program is to take 30 million acres of feed grains out of production. This will be 10 million acres more than were diverted in 1967. The increased emphasis on this program was brought about largely by the record breaking crop of corn and other feed grains produced this year.

The program for 1968 will be similar to the one carried out in 1966, he pointed out. However, it will cover only corn and grain sorghum. As in 1967, barley will not be included. It provides for diversion payments, price support payments and price support loans. To participate, farmers must divert to conservation uses at least 20 per cent of their feed grain base. Farms with bases of 25 acres or less can divert the entire base from production. Larger farms can divert up to 50 per cent of the base or 25 acres, whichever is more. Average per acre payments will continue at about 1967 levels. It has not been decided at this time whether or not advance payments will be made. Sign-up dates and further details will be announced later.

Guard Unit Faces Change in State

When the 29th Infantry division is phased out of existence next year members of the 115th Armor, Md. National Guard, will face a change, according to word at this time.

The headquarters unit of the National Guard in Cumberland will become part of the 121st Engineer battalion with headquarters in Ellicott City.

Although enlisted personnel there will not be reduced, officers are scheduled to go. Headquarters and Headquarters company will become Company C of the 121st Engineer battalion. Members of Company A., Frostburg, and Company C., Oakland, of the 115th Armor, will be formed into Company D of the 121st Engineer battalion. Company B of the tank Battalion in Cumberland will be disbanded and the personnel will be absorbed into Companies C and D.

With the changeover to an engineer unit the medium tanks located at the guard armories will eventually be moved away. The training is not expected to differ greatly from the present training program. Company C at Oakland was orginally part of the 121st Engineer Battalion.

New B&O Schedule Now In Effect

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad announced that it will make certain adjustments in its passenger service between Baltimore-Washington and Cumberland-Cincinnati, effective last Monday, November 27.

The National Limited's through cars (serving points west of Cumberland, including Clarksburg, Parkersburg and Cincinnati) will be handled on Trains 5 and 6 (the Capitol Limited) between Washington and Cumberland. The Capitol Limited leaves Washington at 4:15 p. m. Eastbound, the Capitol arrives in Washington at 9.35 a. m.

Concurrent with this change, B & O will continue to operate a passenger train between Washington and Cumberland on the former schedule of the National but, to avoid possible confusion, these trains will be renumbered 51 and 52. Westbound, No. 51 will leave Washington at 6:30 p. m., stopping at Silver Spring, Harpers Ferry, Martinsburg and Cumberland. Eastbound, No. 52 will leave Cumberland at 4:30 a. m., stopping at Martinsburg at 5:58 a. m., Harpers Ferry at 6:23 a. m., Silver Spring at 7:15 a. m., and arriving at Washington at 7:40 a. m. The planned extension of commuter trains Nos. 37 and 40 to Cumberland will not be made at this time.

Commuter trains Nos. 131 and 132, between Baltimore and Washington, will operate on their regular daily schedules and provide connections at Washington for Trains 51 and 52.

The B & O is issuing a new timetable incorporating these changes.

18 Are Killed On State Highways

Eighteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Four of those killed were drivers, six were passengers, and eight were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in six of the deaths, speed in seven, and "driver error" in twelve.

"State Police officers who investigated serious accidents on Maryland highways last week are of the opinion that twenty-four persons would have been less seriously injured and two persons would not have been killed had seat belts been in use", said Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operation of the State Police. "Thirteen of these persons had seat belts available, but they were not buckled up.

"Again, we have substantial evidence that seat belts have an injury-reducing value as well as a life-saving one. The sensible motor vehicle operator would certainly do well to see that seat belts are available in his car, and then use them himself and also see that his passengers do so".

Mr. and Mrs. Ross O. Decker, 505 Cumberland Street, Cumberland, are the parents of the bride. The Deckers were former Oakland residents. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William S. Gage, Chicago, and the late William S. Gage.

A chapel train swept from a soft satin belt and flat bow. A tiara of satin, lace and pearls held a ballerina-length double illusion veil. Sweetheart roses and chrysanthemums comprised the bridal bouquet.

Beitzel-Wolfe Wed Nov. 4

Miss Sharon Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl (Dutch) Wolfe of Oakland, became the bride of William G. Beitzel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Beitzel, Sr., of Accident, on November 4.

Rev. Regis Larkin performed the double ring ceremony at St. Peter's Catholic Church. Miss Marcella Kerins, organist, accompanied Charles O'Haver, vocalist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown tailored and hand made by herself. The round neckline, long tapered sleeves and hemline were accented by head-appliqued Chantilly lace roses. The back of the gown was highlighted with a detachable chapel train falling from the waistline, which was also appliqued with lace roses. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of pearls and she carried an orchid bouquet with streamers of carnations.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Nancy Fazenbaker, of Mt. Lake Park. Bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Evans and Mrs. Linda Wakefield, of Oakland, and Mrs. Suzanne Dolan of Accident. Pamela Beitzel, cousin of the groom, was flower girl.

Brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Robert Lewis, was best man. Ushers were John B. Peery, Jr. and Joseph M. Wolf, both of Oakland, and Michael Beitzel of Accident.

A reception followed at the American Legion. Mrs. Gertrude Bernard and Mrs. Ernest Wolf assisted with the cake, while Mrs. Dayton Alexander presided at the punch bowl.

For travel to New York, the bride wore a two piece navy blue suit with red accessories and a white orchid corsage lifted from her bouquet.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Southern High School. She attended Catherman's Business College for one year, and was formerly employed by Integrated Business Methods, Inc. of Oakland.

Mr. Beitzel is a graduate of Northern High School, and has served three years with the Army. He is now employed by the B & O railroad in Baltimore.

Four cases made up the criminal docket for the past week in the office of Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney in Oakland.

In three of the cases heard during the week, Donald S. Kelner, Charles H. Jubb, Jr., and Richard Freeze were charged by Leo Friend with lighting fields while having firearms in their possession. In their November 24 trial, Magistrate Maroney found them to be not guilty.

In the only other case heard during the week, Betty Madigan charged Niles Madigan with assault upon herself at her Deer Park home on November 22. Commissioners Agree To Transfer Funds

Aside from pertinent discussions about the Bloomington school addition and the Community College site, little of importance was brought to the attention of the Board of County Commissioners at their November 20 meeting.

Ross Sines made a motion that the funds available to Garrett County under the Land and Water Conservation Fund, administered by the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, be transferred to the Town of Oakland. The Town of Oakland would be presented with the necessary letter to effectuate the motion when the Town complied with existing regulations. The motion was passed, with the provision that the Town provide the matching funds required by the Land and Water Conservation fund.

Time to Call Sister . . .

There is an old joke in which a rail yard switchman was presented with an impossible hypothetical traffic situation by an examiner, we are told in an article in the Industrial News Review. When asked what he would do to solve the problem the watchman said he would call his sister. The examiner asked why? The switchman replied simply that his sister might like to see the biggest train wreck that ever happened.

So it is with the nation. We appear to be heading for an impossible situation and it isn't hypothetical. On one hand, we have tax experts in Congress talking of a $30 billion deficit in a single year and trying to devise ways of controlling government spending. On the other hand, ever larger groups of citizens spearheaded by so-called liberals are digging deeper and deeper into the public treasury.

Following are some of the big government programs just over the horizon as reported by Nation's Business: a guaranteed job with the government for anyone who can't find work elsewhere; annual income for anyone who can't or shouldn't work! socialized medical care; improved income distribution that would take more money out of your pocket by making the federal income tax rates much steeper; and social security for the young, financed out of general treasury revenues. There are many more proposed programs of a similar nature.

We believe it is time to call YOUR sister!

541 Deer Killed In 8-Day Season

Number 56 Less Than Last Year; Fewer Hunters Out

Five hundred forty-one bucks were killed in Garrett County during the eight-day open season, which ended last Saturday evening, according to records compiled at the checking stations. This was 56 less then the 597 bucks reported killed last year.

This is an unofficial record and may change when all records are checked. The total compared to 609 in 1965, 577 in 1962, 620 in 1964. The county's record kill was 804, reached during the 1960 season which was for a complete six-day season. For 1961 and 1962 an extra Saturday was allowed but four years ago the season was extended to nine days. It was reduced to eight days three years ago, and was moved to the day after Thanksgiving for the beginning of the season.

The unofficial kill in Allegany was 584, with 244 bucks killed in Washington county.

Hunters who did not get a buck will have another opportunity, if they choose, to use it during the special antlerless season, December 15 and 16.

The record for one day dropped to 17 on both Tuesday and Thursday but picked up again for the final two days of the season. Peak day was last Saturday when 212 were bagged.

Here is the report for the four deer checking stations in this county, and those reported at Westernport and LaVale police barracks:

Oakland, 58, 63, 17, 4, 6, 6, 9 and 12, total 175; fire hall in Friendsville 18, 38, 7, 3, 2, 2, 7,

Jennings Head Start In Progress

A GROUP of children in the Jennings Head Start program working with clay.

The Jennings Full-Year Head Start Program is progressing and now in its second month of operation, according to Brad Rinard, executive director of Community Action committee.

Conducted in the Community Center built by the Highland Association, the program is headed by a professional and para-professional staff. Two class-rooms provide space for thirty, four and five-year old children from low income families.

The program funded under the OEO in Washington through the county's Community Action Agency, is designed to provide opportunity to economically disadvantaged pre-school children for care equal to that provided in families with financial means.

Head Start attempts to deal with the total developmental processes of the child in planning for the physical, through health services, as well as the social, through individual and group relations.

In planning the Head Start program, the child's future in public schools is focused upon, according to Mr. Rinard. It endeavors to assist the child in preparing and developing for the academic curriculum of the public schools through a daily activities program.

Activities of the past month have included, working with colors, shapes of objects, numbers, recognition of letters, vocabulary, learning new songs and games, discussing things about nature, learning the meaning of group interaction and following instructions.

Although the program is directed primarily at children, it also includes total family involvement through volunteer help in actual program opera-

Kitzmiller War Vet Arrested

Goes Berserk And Has Shooting Spree

A 48-year-old Kitzmiller man, and World War II veteran, apparently went berserk at his home on Monday night, shooting wildly over a dozen times and refusing to surrender to the state and county authorities.

He was identified as Robert Hanlin, who occupied one-half of a double house with his wife. He was finally subdued by tear gas after threatening to shoot the officers.

The other part of the double house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Steve Newhouse.

Sheriff James E. Frantz told the following details:

Hanlin, in the upstairs bedroom, fired one shot through the partition into one of the Newhouse bedrooms where Mrs. Newhouse was making a bed. The bullet lodged in a dresser. Another bullet went over the bed and out a window. Authorities were notified and Sheriff Frantz sent Junior Evans and Delbert Swartzentruber, deputies to the scene.

Hanlin refused to listen to them and fired another shot down the stairway. The two deputies withdrew and telephoned the sheriff's office which brought Frantz and Trooper Ronald Lewis of the State Police. Sheriff Frantz also called the LaVale police barracks for some tear gas and equipment. Corp. Robert Henline and Trooper DeWitt also reported to Kitzmiller.

After he refused to surrender the officers tossed in one tear gas bomb which brought a volley of eleven shots down the stairway and a threat to kill them all. No one was hit. A second tear gas bomb was tossed and this time he gave up.

Sheriff Frantz said Hanlin had been a patient at the Veterans hospital in Martinsburg, W. Va., and had been due to return to Martinsburg on Tues- - he was returned there on Tuesday and remains a patient. Sheriff Frantz said the man was being charged with assault with intent to murder.

Local Family's Son Playing For Navy

A family who moved to Oakland in September has a son who was one of the stars of the United States Navy in the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia last Saturday.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Pike, and he is veterinarian at the Sterling Processing company. The U. S. Naval academy player is Dan Pike, a sophomore student at Annapolis. Pike made one of the touchdowns Saturday which enabled Navy to defeat Army 19 to 14.

The Pikes reside in the new development adjacent to Dennett Road Mr. and Mrs. Pike have two other sons, one a student at the U. S. Coast Guard academy and another in High school. Dan was a 4-point student at the Academy last year and has a 3.9 record thus far this year.

On the football team he is an alternating halfback.

The Pikes formerly resided at DeQueen, Ark., and a newspaper from that town while bemoaning the fact that two colleges, Rice and Arkansas, had felt that "Red headed" Daniel Lee Pike was not large enough to be playing football at either college, listed some of his accomplishments at Annapolis.

In games played this year he had carried the ball 35 times for a gain of 165 yards; had returned 8 kickoffs for 144 yards, caught an 8-yard pass, had the longest run from scrimmage, 42 yards, and had scored in the Syracuse game in addition to the one last Saturday.

Soldiers Meet In Vietnam

Pfc. David W. Lewis

Sgt. Chester H. Sines

Two Garrett county youth, who grew up in the same neighborhood at Swallow Falls, met accidentally in South Vietnam on Thanksgiving Day and had turkey dinner together. They were Sgt. Chester H Sines, son of Mr. and Mrs Perry Sines, route 1, Oakland; and Pfc. David W. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, also route 1.

As relatives of Lewis were informed, Sgt. Sines had been stationed in Vietnam for some time where he was assigned to Battery C., 1st battalion, 44th artillery, and was in faffgue clothes when he returned from the battle line. Pfc. Lewis had just arrived in Vietnam and happened to be assigned to the same artillery group. As they stood in the chow line Lewis happened to spot Sgt. Sines and it was a joyful reunion.

Sines was graduated from

Friendsville Family Awarded $18,000 By Allegany Jury

After deliberating about 40 minutes, an Allegany Circuit Court jury Monday afternoon awarded plaintiffs in a damage suit as the result of an automobile accident September 27, 1966, a total of $18,000.

Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton instructed the jury that it was to determine the amount of any award, since defense counsel admitted liability in the case.

The action resulted from an accident on State Route 42 near Friendsville, when Ernest D'Alesandro, who was driving a car owned by a Monroeville, Pa. auto agency, allegedly crossed a center line and collided with a car owned by Arthur L. Devine of near Friendsville, and driven by his wife, Mrs. Eileen Devine, 27. Their infant son, O. Raymond Lee Devine, age about one year, was a passenger in the car with his mother.

Plantiffs claimed that the child was badly injured, and suffered a broken right foot, severe facial lacerations and other injuries. In the suit filed for the child by the father, the jury returned an award of $2,000.

In the suit filed by the two parents, the jury awarded Mr. Devine $5,000 for loss of his car which was demolished and loss of the services of his wife and for medical expenses.

Mrs. Devine was awarded $11,000. She suffered a broken right wrist, back and side injuries, cuts and bruises and injuries about her head. She underwent surgical and medical treatment and was incapacitated over many weeks, it was claimed.

Attorneys for the defense were William H. Geppart and Hugh A. McMullen. Representing the Devine family were Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson.

Commissioners Select Yoder Farm As Site

Two Board of Education Members, People, Want Glotfelty-Wagner Area

A motion that the Board of County Commissioners purchase the Kenneth Yoder farm located near McHenry, containing approximately 160 acres, for the building site of the county's community college, was made by Hubert A. Friend on Monday afternoon about 4:30, which was seconded by Ross Sines, second member of the three commissioners. Allen S. Paugh, did not vote.

The site selected by the two commissioners was not the site recommended by the site committee, the Board of Education, and the Board of Public Works, but was the no. 2 site on the list of three considered.

Allen S. Paugh, president of the board, said the Maryland Department of Public Works, the college committee and the Garrett County Board of Education all agreed with him on the choice of site 1. He said his decision was influenced by the opinions of the people who will be directly responsible for the college when it is built.

Mr. Paugh then noted he made a motion to the effect that the county commissioners should make available the county's share of the money for the college and turn it over to the board of trustees and let them pick the site they believe will be the best, but he got no second to the motion.

He added that he had never felt the county commissioners had any right to select the site of the college, since he said the action was not provided for by law.

Hassle Not Over

The hassle for the college site apparently was not over, as the two members of the Board of Education had indicated that due to the overwhelming protest on the part of the people of the county as to the construction of the junior college, any location other than the Glotfelty-Wagner site as originally selected could not be approved by the board.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the protest against moving the site to any other location was almost unanimous at a meeting in the Court House on November 27, and that in addition to many telephone calls protesting any change in the site location, petitions were be-

Addled Ducks

Leo Friend, district game warden, reported an interesting story to the Maryland Game and Inland Fish commission, which has appeared in print under "News Flash from Maryland," a commission publication.

Is is a story of three wayward, mixed-up Mallard ducks. He writes: "It seems there are two Mallard hens and a drake that arrived on Wayne Harvey's farm in October. The hens went about the business of making a home. By the first part of November the hens had built their nests and were incubating the eggs—one nest had 13 eggs, the other 16. Apparently no one told these addled birds that not only had they chosen the wrong time of the year to play house, but also the wrong area, for a little of that Garrett County weather hit akmg about this time and all 29 eggs froze and broke.

"The birds seem to have taken a liking to Wayne's pond, though, for as of November 21 they were still around. We can't say if they have any inclination to try the nesting bit again but if they do we will let you know."

Over 400 pilots have been lost over Vietnam.

FBI Nabs Suspect Near Grantsville

A suspect in a suburban Baltimore bank robbery was tracked down by FBI investigators to a Garrett County hunting cabin between Grantsville and Frostburg Saturday alternoon. As a result, Dennis Milton Wilson Riggleman, 20, is being held in connection with the November 29 robbery of $1,897.90 from the Shipley-Linthicum Branch of the Maryland National Bank.

The suspect had been residing at Lansdowne, Baltimore County, where he was employed by a paper company. He is accused of walking into the bank and handing a teller a note which read "Don't yell. Give me the money. Give me the money". While the young woman was filling a paper bag marked "I mean it", the accused bandit grabbed the partly-filled bag and fled.

An intensive investigation had been undreway by FBI and Anne Arundel County authorities since a formal complaint had been filed before U. S. Commissioner in Baltimore charging the federal bank robbery statute.

Anne Arundel County detective Sgt. Charles Miller was credited with leading the FBI to Riggleman through a description of the getaway car.

Riggleman, whose family lives in Grantsville, has waived a preliminary hearing in Cumberland before U. S. Commissioner James A. Avirett. Riggleman was held briefly in the Allegany County jail before removal to Baltimore by deputies of the U. S. marshal. He will remain in custody in default of $10,000.00 bond pending grand jury action in a Baltimore U.S. district court.

Week's Weather Has Snow and Rain

By way of apology for the deep and unexpected snow of last Thursday, Ol' Man Winter allowed temperatures to rise slowly during the past week until the mercury could touch the 50's.

Last Thursday, the temperatures see-sawed between 23 and 24, with snow continuing until around 4 p. m. When the flakes stopped flying, at least seven inches of the stuff blanketed the ground.

Friday's 22-degree temperatures disappeared around 10 a. m., when the morning cloudiness did, allowing some sunshine and a 30 degree thermometer reading. Saturday was chilly, with sunshine peering through intermittently during the day.

The warming tendency began in earnest Saturday evening and carried over into Sunday morning, bringing fog and a misty rain. The trend was briefly interrupted by some snow flurries Sunday afternoon, but resumed again on Monday after the initial chill wore off the air. Monday's high hit 36.

Tuesday had a snappy 28 degree reading and clear skies. During the afternoon, clouds began piling up, and the temperature rose to 48. Wednesday used Tuesday's leftover clouds for cover all day, even though the mercury boasted a 50 degree reading.

Thursday brought drizzling skies and a 42 degree temperature at 8 a. m. It also brought the promise of being even warmer than the preceding days.

Full results and value of Head Start can only be partially realized at this time, Mr. Rinard said. A mother, in speaking of her child's development, said, "my child used to be shy and backward and wouldn't talk in public But now he is beginning to talk in Sunday School and does some things by himself". A second mother commented that her child was always afraid of the new and strange, and Head Start is helping him overcome this fear. "There have been no miracles', she said, 'but it has helped'.

Yoder Site

ing circulated throughout the county for support of the original site.

The two board members stated they feel they must back the majority of the people of the county who are the same people who voted by a margin of more than 2 to 1 for the college.

There was the feeling some two weeks ago that the board of trustees would institute mandamus proceedings in the court to force the county commissioners to provide the county funds to get the program under way at the site which had been approved.

It was pointed out that voters did not actually cast ballots on the site of the college but that in voting for it they implied supporting the site recommended by the Board of Education and other groups including the architects. It was also pointed out that at least $6,000 already had been spent for options and architectural work for site No. 1.

The situation is to be discussed at a regular meeting of the board of education next Tuesday morning.

After last Monday's meeting in the court House Ross Sines made a statement declaring "I personally believe that the White Face Farm owned by the Garrett County Memorial hospital is the ideal site for the Junior college. Many citizens have informed me personally and by telephone they are also of this same opinion. However, so that the junior college will not be delayed any further I will at the Commissioner regular meeting Monday, December 4, second the motion of Commissioner Friend to purchase the Yoder farm as the site for the junior college.

As a result of this Mr. Friend had renewed his motion of October 23, concerning the Yoder farm, which had failed at that time for want of a second.

Delay in making a decision on the site and providing necessary county funds has irked many resident which resulted in an overflow meeting in the Court House November 27. At that time Mr. Sines said the 160 acres of the Yoder farm could be purchased for $52,500 while the Glotfelty-Wagner site contained about 71 acres and would cost $70,000. The Yoder farm at the time of the motion, was not under option. It was also learned that the Wagner property was not under option either although the Glotfelty property was controlled.

O Tannenbaum

About this time of year the world turns its mind to Christmas, and strangely enough, in men's habitual manner, each civilization interprets such an event in the light of its own adjustment to surroundings. Little wonder, then, that people of our northern latitudes accept the December date of the Nativity and associate it with snow, cold and sparkling winter.

So our evergreens have been accepted as the official trees for decoration, as they alone survive with a beautiful green to brighten the holyday. And rightly so, for in antiquity, before man added his presence to the scheme of things, these plants were existing in a world which we could not recognize. The Triassic time of the Mesozoic Era gave us the conifers, cycads, and gingkos, now classed as naked seed trees. There are actually few survivors of the two latter types, except for tropical giants and the gingkos called maidenhair trees.

The Mesozoic Era was a huge span of time, embracing those periods when the Appalachian Mountains had been formed and were uplifted by a mighty force from within the earth and broken into basins filled with sediments from the uplifting. This faulting resulted in such areas as the higher elevations of the Deer Park area and the surrounding lowlands of the dipping Youghiogheny and Savage River regions, which now form the geological catch basins of Garrett County.

But when you sing "Not green alone in summertime, but green in winter's frost and rime", you are singing the melody of an old German folk song which refers specifically to the fir tree, for "tannen" means fir, and many forms appear, such as tannenicht for a fir plantation, tannenholz for fir wood, and tannenadelm for fir needles. Since these are about forty species of fir throughout the world, we can see how it came to be a favorite for Christmas. Hans Christian Andersen immortalized the lovely tree in his story of "The Little Fir Tree" which became ragged and discarded after the holiday.

Fir trees are distinguished from other evergreens by their cones, which grow erect, and their needles, which grow all the way around the stem, unlike the bundles on pines. Balsam fir and Douglas fir are the ones in great demand for Christmas in our region. Anyone who has had a balsam fir odor disseminating about his room during the season is not likely to forget the sweet, pungent, earthy invasion of his nostrils, nor the long time he was able to have no needles falling. Those fortunate enough to have a Douglas fir will admire this off-green specimen whose true ancestors have been lost in the biological scheme, leaving it with a lost link to either a true fir or hemlock, but nevertheless delighting us because it assumes a majesty of its own.

So it is that the long list of conifers, proud firs and their relatives of the spruce, pine, cedar, and hemlock groups, are placed in reverence as they lend an everlasting quality to the Yuletide.

A merry holiday to you under your own tannenbaum!

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Eldon Shingleton, Pastor

Church of the Brethren
Worth Preparing For

A good rule of thumb is that anything worth doing is worth doing right, and a kindred rule is that anything worth doing right is worth preparing for. The celebration of the birth of our Lord is certainly worth doing right. It is, by all means, worth preparing for.

Of all activities in which we become involved, certainly the celebration of Christmas is worthy of our involvement. However, we may easily fall into the trap of doing it only part way. That is, we may do the gift exchanging, card sending, and well wishing, but forget to praise God for his gift of ahundant life in Christ. The claim that God became incarnate in human kind is an audacious belief, a stumbling block to some, but for us who are being saved it is the power of God unto salvation. It is certainly worthy of our preparation and right celebration.

We can learn a lesson from the merchants. A successful seller of Christmas gifts prepares long and hard for the Christmas season. It is not a hap-hazard hit or miss proposition for him. To carry the analogy further, his successful business is based upon year round dispatch, careful buying, etc. He is prepared all the time. Likewise, we must be prepared at all times for the coming of Christ. But, just the same as the merchant makes a special kind of preparation at Christmas, so the Christian makes a whole-hearted, all out gesture in praise and worship at the time of the celebration of the birth of our Lord.

We are now in the period called Advent. Advent consists, generally speaking, of the four weeks prior to Christmas. It is a time of preparation, a time of confession, of soul searching to rid ourselves of anything that might stand between us and a proper relationship with God.

Yes, anything worth doing is worth doing right. Anything worth doing right is worth preparing for. This is an appeal for you to involve yourselves in worship and any act of preparation for the great day when we again thank God for the gift of redemption. Let us find Jesus Christ anew in a creative involvement with the people of God.

An Experiment in Religion

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We met a chemist some years ago who was planning to experiment with religion.

"Some Sunday," he said, "I'm going to go to Church and see if it makes any difference in my life."

"Doctor," we asked, "How does a chemist begin his experiments in a new field?"

"With research," came the reply. "He studies the findings of other men in that field—determines what has been proven—what is unknown."

"That's a good way to begin your experiment with religion," we suggested. "It would hardly be 'scientific' to judge Christianity, or your need for it, on the basis of one visit to Church. But a few months of faithful attendance, and many thoughtful evenings with the Bible will give you a clear understanding of what others have found in Christianity. You'll discover spiritual truths which centuries of experience have proven, and gain a faith that can bridge the Unknown."

At last report, our chemist was making fine progress in his experiment. In fact, he no longer thinks of his religion as experimental!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

BUT WHEN?

Background Scripture: Micah 4.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 11:1-9.

The other evening on television there were some old film clips of the joyous celebrations that took place on V-J Day, the end of World War 2. Many of us remember vividly the exhilaration we felt on that day twenty-two years ago. After a gigantic, tragic struggle, the world, it was said, had at last been "made safe for democracy." The "war to end all wars" had been fought and won. At last, perhaps, the ancient prophecy would be fulfilled: swords would be beaten into plowshares and "spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Rev. Althouse

The Decisive One?

Of course, this had not been the first "war to end all wars." The first great global conflict had, it seemed now, accomplished really nothing. This one, however, we hoped had been the decisive one.

But it was not the last war and today we find ourselves in the midst of an undeclared war that threatens to divide our nation. Some talk of "World War 3," not in terms of "if" but "when?" Thus, as in this Christmas season the old carols proclaim their "peace on earth, good will toward men," there will be many in the jungles of Viet Nam and the homes of America who will ask, "But when?"

This was the question which the people of Judah were asking in the time of Micah. There seemed to be nothing certain but constant warfare and international intrigue. Israel, the neighbor to the North, had fallen to Assyria, been carried into captivity, and virtually snuffed out of existance. Judah's own postion was becoming increasingly precarious, standing between the two great powers, Egypt and Assyria and constantly harassed by her small, hostile neighbors. To add to her worries, Babylonia, a new great power was rising in the East.

The Great Day

Then Micah, the small-town prophet from Judah's backwoods, came to his countrymen with a message that envisioned a future day of universal world peace. Men would no longer use their resources to provide munitions for national security. Now these resources could be made into implements for building, healing, and helping. What a day he envisioned: "They shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree, and none shall make them afraid" (Micah 4:4 RSV).

Statesmen have delighted in quoting this passage. Unfortunately, however, they have focused on only part of his message. They have shared his vision of a universal peace, but have ignored what he said of the means whereby this peace would be achcived. So men have heard the prophecy, taken hope, had their hopes dashed, and then cried in dismay: "But when?"

On That Day

Universal peace will result, says Micah, only when something else has first taken place

"And many nations will come, and say: 'Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord . . . that he may teach us his ways and we may walk in his paths.' For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem" (Micah 4:2 RSV).

World peace, then, is not a technique, but a result. It will come only on the day when all men worship and serve God and make his will their guiding light. It will come only when the walls between us are pulled down — those carefully—constructed walls which we delight so in building. It will come only on the day when we will serve but one God in acknowledgement that we are all brothers. It will come only when we can place obedience to him above loyalty for our nation, our ideology, and "our way of life."

To our question, "But when will you give us peace, Lord?", he answers: "When you and your brother walk in my ways."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

The citizens, the teachers, and most important, the students of Garrett County are being grossly cheated because a few people want to cut prices on education.

The school system in Garrett County has the fine distinction of having the lowest expenditures per pupil of any school system in Maryland. The salary of the teachers has been kept at the minimum required by law, and the county commissioners have cut operating costs in order to save money. But what are they saving the money for? For what could it be used that is more important than the education of the youth of our county?

The students here must compete with countless students from other districts when they go to college. If their competitors have had a superior high school education, the fight will be far from fair, and our students will most likely become the losers. How can they possibly be expected to compete with students who were lucky enough to live in an area where the people were willing to spend a little money to give them a superior education?

The Garrett County schools were forced to obtain any teachers who were available at the beginning of this school term. This was caused by the great number of teachers resigning last year because of the low pay. Of forty-one teachers newly hired this year, twenty-one were just out of college and have had no teaching experience.

At present, there are still qualified teachers remaining. Can they be expected to stay indefinitely when even West Virginia is expecting a raise in teachers' salaries? Next year there will be fewer qualified teachers in Garrett County, and the next year even fewer. If this pinching of pennies in education does not end,

Is the money saved by the taxpayers worth the price that the students are going to pay?

Randy Overdorff

Grantsville PTA Discusses Problems

The junior college, teacher salaries and other topics were discussed by members of the Grantsville Parent-Teacher association at a meeting on Monday, November 27. Donald Swauger, president, was in charge.

Mr. Swauger, Bob Diehl and Tom Carns reported on the county PTA meeting at Northern High where the main topics were the college and the teacher salary raise.

Mr. Swauger told of the possibility of taking the junior college issue to court, and the PTA voted to provide its share of providing the funds necessary. He also showed a graph pointing out that the county teacher salaries were lowest in the state and that the $400 raise was turned down by the Commissioners. He pointed out that thirty-nine teachers in the county would be eligible for retirement at the close of the 1967-'68 term. A discussion revealed that the PTA members were willing to do their part about the teacher raise.

Mrs. Ferne Epstein presented a program entitled "Your Child and Books", featuring the school library. Following adjournment Mrs. Epstein took parents on a tour of the school library, returning to the cafeteria where refreshments were served by Miss Esther Opel and Miss Claudine Opel, hostesses. A report of the treasurer showed the Hallowe'en social netted $379.52. PTA membership was listed at 118 with a membership campaign completed. Miss Claudine Opel won a first prize for $3 and a second prize of $2 to Mrs. Pauline Tharp.

Alas.

As big and lovable as it was, there were still some things some people didn't love about our old wagon.

Some people weren't too crazy about the way it rode. "Like a truck," someone said.

So we rebuilt the Volkswagen Station Wagon from the bottom up and now it rides just like a car.

Some people weren't too crazy about the way it looked either. "No class," someone else said. So we gave it more class.

"It's not the most comfortable thing on earth," was another complaint.

So we made it more comfortable. The inside is nicer. There's more room than ever before for up to 9 people. Just about everything's padded and cushioned. The armrests are thicker. The seats, more plush.

"The front doors are too narrow and too hard to get through."

So we made the front doors wider and easier to get through.

"The side doors get in the way when I'm loading," someone said.

So we put in a huge 3½' by 4' sliding side door. Slide the door open. Slide the piano in. Slide the door closed. (It locks automatically in both positions.)

"It doesn't have enough heater and vent outlets."

So now we have 6.

"It has too many little windows."

So we built giant ones.

"The windshield wipers are too small."

So we built giant wipers (to go along with the giant windows).

"It's kind of homely," someone finally said. "Can you make it beautiful?"

Nope.

City Council In Routine Session

At the December 4 meeting of the Mayor and Town Council, a $--50 bid from Sharps Motor Company was accepted for a 1968 replacement truck for the water department.

Richard Schaub, from the Western Maryland Regional Planning office in Hagerstown, was present to explain the functions of his office and the planning grants obtainable to do local planning. He stated that he would be available four days a month to give technical assistance.

The Mayor and Town Council instigated two motions during their meeting. Motion No. 1 concerned keeping a man on duty at the water plant 40 hours a week, except in case of emergency. Motion No. 2 dealt with contacting the Southern States Cooperative in Oakland with regard to correction of the dust caused by their grinding operations.

Two Country Club delegates, Cheston Browning and Victor Pritts, asked the Mayor and Council to endorse a loan from the bank to construct a new Club building. The two were told that the group felt this would be acceptable providing it was legally taken care of.

Permission has been obtained from the State Roads department to forestall the next payment on the Youghiogheny bridge until next April. The payments otherwise would have been paid in October.

The council members and Mayor Smith delegated Don Browning to handle the town's part of the Lion's Club Welcome sign. The town is responsible for the words "Welcome to Oakland, Gateway to Vacationland".

November collections totaled $19,590.46 for the city. This included $1,320.43 from water, $358.43 from taxes, $3,983.72 from parking meters, $10,000 from the bank loan, and $3,382.77 from the gasoline tax fund.

Expenditures for the month reached $18,075.67, which included street labor, $1,077.20; $858.00 for auditing; $8,175.00 from the water bond debt service account; $375.00 for garbage removal.

With the balance on hand in November of $11,991.94, plus the $19,590.46 worth of receipts, the November assets reached $31,582.40. That amount minus the $18,075.67 expenditures left a balance of $13,506.73, as of Dec. 1.

The January meeting will be held on the fifteenth.

Seven Are Killed On State Highways

Seven persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Two of those killed were drivers, two were passengers, and three were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in one death, speed in three, and "driver error" in four.

"It has been well publicized that Maryland highway deaths so far this year are considerably well ahead of the same period in 1966", said Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police, "but we would like to point out that while there has been a 5 percent increase in deaths to motor vehicle operators and passengers, there has been a 7 percent increase in pedestrian fatalities.

"In many cases it is the negligent driver who kills a pedestrian, too often, however, it is the pedestrian himself who is responsible for the accident which caused his death".

Lt. Col. Davidson continued: "Pedestrians, as well as drivers, have a responsibility to promote highway safety".

France asked for help of Poland in ending Viet war.

Spoerl To Head Area Heart Drive

George Louis Spoerl, Jr., Cumberland, will serve as general chairman of the 1968 Heart Fund campaign in Garrett and Allegany counties. He has been associated with the heart campaigns for several years. His goal for 1968 is $50,500.

He estimated the economic cost of heart disease in the two counties in the neighborhood of $2,184,000. He said diseases of the heart and blood vessels were responsible for 60 percent of deaths in the two counties last year for which statistics are available.

The Heart fund will be conducted in February. Theme of the campaign will be "Reduce Your Risk of Heart Attack" through the knowledge and application of the risk factors.

Veteran West Va. Teacher Is Killed

One of Kanawha county's leading Republicans, Paul W. (Pop) Workman was killed Monday, December 4, when he was struck by an automobile on U. S. 119, near Clendenin, W. Va.

The 73-year-old Mr. Workman was Kanawha county assessor, elected in 1964, as he completed a two-year term in the House of Delegates. He had taught and coached at Clendenin High school for thirty years before his retirement in 1959.

Police said Mr. Workman's car had run out of gasoline and he was starting to cross the highway to a service station when struck by another vehicle.

Mr. Workman was the brother of Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, of Alder street, Oakland, and the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Workman. Rev. Workman was a former pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland and his son had resided in Oakland for several years.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Clendenin where he had resided. Attending the funeral from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Stemple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Stemple and Mrs. Donald Stemple.

Survivors besides Mrs. Stemple are three other sisters, Mrs. T. E. Holderby, Huntington; Mrs. Frank E. Campbell, Weirton; Mrs. William C. Manser, Wheaton; his wife, two sons, Richard W. and Paul Jr., and six grandchildren.

Portion of I-70 Open To Traffic

The Hagerstown by-pass of Interstate Route 70, which runs south of the city between U. S. Route 11 and U. S. Route 40, was opened to traffic at 4 p. m. on Wednesday, December 6.

Opening of the Hagerstown by-pass completes I-70 from its interchange with U. S. 40, just east of Hagerstown, out to Hancock, some 27 miles west of Hagerstown, where I-70 turns north into Pennsylvania.

Built at a cost of approximately $7,945,000, of which Federal-aid funds paid about 84 percent, the new section of four-lane divided highway is about 5.7 miles in length. The project also includes 4.2 miles of ramps and service roads and 1.9 of modifications to existing roads.

In Maryland, three sections of I-70 have been opened to traffic. They are the portion between Hancock and Hagerstown, I-70s between the Capital Beltway and Frederick and about six miles of I-70N west of the Baltimore Beltway.

Scheduled to open late in the fall of 1968 is the portion of I-70 between Hagerstown and Frederick.

Seal Sale Campaign Shows Decided Increase

The Christmas Seal campaign for the two counties has reached a total of $10,156.56 to date, according to the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis association. This shows an increase of $241.66 over the same date last year, with Garrett County showing the increase.

Allegany county reported $8,663.86, compared to $8,730.54 last year, a decrease of $66.68, while Garrett County receipts totaled $1,492.70, compared to $1,184.36 last year, an increase of $308.34.

Mrs. Dorothy Shank, executive secretary, said reminders would be mailed within the next few days to those who have not yet replied. She urged people to return their envelopes if they do not wish to contribute so that they will not receive a reminder.

Cumberland Friars Ask Sentence Reconsideration

A group of Capuchin Friars from Cumberland has written to Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, asking Agnew's intervention in the death sentence imposed upon Gary Miller, 17, in Allegany County last month.

Miller, of Pocahontas, Pa., is to die in Maryland's gas chamber the first week in January for the murder of Miss Judy Zeigler, 20, of Salisbury, Pa., in the Frostburg area last May.

Miss Zeigler was killed by blows to the head and her body bore a number of stab and slash wounds.

The friars, of the Capuchin brothers Training Center in Cumberland, say the death sentence imposed by the two-judge Allegany Circuit Court was harsh and unrealistic. They also called for further investigation into the case.

Tom Wilson Hears From President

By Carol Canan

Although he doesn't consider himself an outstandingly patriotic person, Thomas Wilson proved himself to be at least an interested citizen late in November when he wrote to President Johnson at the White House.

For his efforts to learn how demonstrators could trample, burn, or otherwise desecrate the U. S. flag; and how draft card burners could escape recrimination, Mr. Wilson received two letters from high government officials in Washington, D. C.

He first received a letter from Whitney Shoemaker, Assistant to the President, who wrote saying the president deeply appreciated both his letter and his interest, and thanking him for giving his thoughts on current problems.

The other letter, from J. Walter Yeagley, Assistant Attorney General, brought to light the disreputable fact that there is no Federal law containing penalties for acts of disrespect to the flag. (A law has passed the House of Representatives and is currently in the Senate which will make desecration of the flag a federal offense). All states and the District of Columbia have criminal statutes covering destruction or mutilation of the flag.

His letter further stated that the FBI follows all reported draft card burnings, only to discover that nearly all destroyed "draft cards" are merely replicas. Mr. Wilson was assured that in case a young man actually does burn his card, appropriate action is taken.

Mr. Wilson, 76, is a retired farmer living in the Short Run area near Kitzmiller. He believes in active participation, inasmuch as possible, in governmental affairs. For him his efforts were rewarded with answers to his questions and the assurance that someone up on Capitol Hill realizes that we are a nation of thinking, caring people and not merely self-seeking clods.

Delegates To Attend Assembly At Elkins

A delegation of Jehovah's witnesses from this area will leave early Friday to attend the group's three-day "Walking Orderly by Spirit' assembly to be held in Elkins, W. Va.

Donald Stull, resident minister, said this would be a program of Bible talks, discussions and interviews designed to strengthen faith.

Wilson Co. Will Repair Herrington

The Wilson Construction Company, of Cumberland, was the apparent low bidder on a project to make repairs to the lake spillway and discharge chute at Herrington Manor State Park near Oakland.

The Wilson firm bid $36,400. The only other bidder was the Phoenix Construction Company, also of Cumberland, with $40,500.

Bids were opened by the Maryland Department of Public Improvements in Baltimore the other day.

The project entails concrete work to prevent additional leakage at the dam which was constructed in the 1930s as a WPA job. Some drilling and grouting with concrete is also anticipated under the dam.

VOLUME 91. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., DECEMBER 14, 1967. PER COPY 10c NUMBER 42.

First Order of Business

In a riot there are no victors. The losers include everybody, the rioters, victims, law enforcement, community, the State and Nation. This was a statement recently from John Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI.

He continues, in part: "Causes of riots are numerous, but a study of recent violence appears to be a direct outgrowth of the civil disobedience movement and the phony peace movements. Some leaders have wilfully violated laws they deem to be unjust. They have gone unpunished although guilty of breaking the law. Young thugs and misguided teenagers, seeing others defy authority and the courts, have been led to believe that any crime under a banner of complaints is justified. Consequently they ignore the law and roam around creating violence and terror.

"Stern, decisive action is needed when a street disturbance begins. Justice is not served when a growing horde of vandals and looters is appeased and their pillage overlooked. Quiescence does not satisfy rioters. Uncertainty on the part of authorities denotes weak-

Church Safe At Deer Park Robbed

The "Deer Park thief" has struck for the sixth time in a year, this time at St. John's Episcopal Church located just off Route 135. The thief or thieves, got away with approximately $300 of church funds.

Unfortunately for the thief, all but about $70 of the amount was in checks, according to Rev. Thomas Staup, vicar.

Father Staup said he believes the thief had either been concealed in the building or observed his actions closely last Saturday. After working in the church office until approximately 12 noon, Fr. Staup drove his babysitter to her nearby home, then returned for lunch at the vicarage, located in another part of the building.

He had not locked his office door, as he believed he would only be gone a short while. When he got back to his office, about 12:40 p. m., the filing cabinet safe was pried open, and the money gone. A pair of scissors pilfered from his desk had apparently been used to open the safe. The church poor box also was robbed, although the amount of money taken was not determined.

State police were notified, and are currently checking various leads, including fingerprints left by the culprit. Local banks were asked to stop payment on any checks made out to either St. John's Episcopal Church or Father Staup.

This was the sixth case of breaking and entering in the Deer Park area during the past year. The summer home of Mrs. Katherine McLeod was burglarized last winter, and the thief twice attempted to enter the home of Mrs. D. W. Loomis, but had been frightened off on one occasion by Mrs. Loomis' caretaker, J. H. Taylor. Fitzwater Furniture store also had been broken into recently.

Contempt Citation Sought By Judge

A citation for constructive contempt was filed last weekend in the Garrett County Circuit court against the Guardian Publishing company, Inc., of Frostburg; its editor, Dorothy M. Martin, and Murray G. Collins, also of Frostburg.

The contempt proceedings were instituted because of a story which appeared November 30, in that newspaper concerning the hearings in juvenile court for fourteen young men and women, and which ended in dismissal of all cases after a lecture to teen-agers and parents. Included in the story was a statement that Judge Naughton had ordered the court records destroyed.

The petition declared that the printed article relating to the official conduct of Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton tended to scandalize and create a general disregard of the authority of Judge Naughton, acting in his judicial capacity; that the writing treated falsely and contemptuously the Circuit Court and Judge Naughton, acting in his judicial capacity, and the publication of the article "is conduct that demonstrates a gross disregard of that respect and dignity which is essential to the maintenance of the authority of said Court in the esteem of the people".

The petition further declared the article was false and known by the defendants to be false or printed by the defendants with a reckless disregard for the truth.

It further indicated that the language used in the article was designed and calculated to be contemptuous of the court and to ridicule the court and that the statement created a clear, present and imminent danger to the proper administration of justice in the Circuit court for this county.

The defendants were given until January 22 to show cause why an order adjudging them in contempt of court should not be passed. A hearing on the citation for contempt of court was set for February 15, at 10 a. m., in the Garrett County Circuit court, with Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney designated to prosecute the proceedings. The contempt proceedings were signed by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill.

Readies For Season In Vietnam

Decorated store windows and last minute shopping are just a memory this Christmas season for Army Special Four John R. E. Nazelrod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O. Nazelrod, route 2, Deer Park, as he puts the finishing touches on his unit's Christmas tree.

Specialist Nazelrod, a clerk in the 537th Personnel Service company at Bien Hoa, Vietnam, will spend the season under tropic palms and scorching sun of South Vietnam. The typical American Christmas will be absent for this year but the religious significance of the day will be marked in services at army chapels and in field services.

Army cooks will prepare Christmas feasts with roast turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, ham, mincemeat, pumpkin pie and assorted trimmings.

Specialist Nazelrod does not yet know if Christmas will be a day of leisure for him. A substantial minority of America's servicemen in Vietnam will spent the day on duty. Nazelrod's working hours are largely dictated by needs of the combat troops his unit supports. Usually he works 12 hours a day, sometimes 24.

Nazelrod, 20, entered the army July 8, 1966 and arrived in Vietnam January 13. Prior to entering the army he attended Southern High school at Oakland.

Sleet Storm Affects Power, Phone Circuits

First Serious Sleet Of Year Interrupts Continuous Service

Glittering ice covered most areas of the county last Sunday evening, and caused thousands of dollars of damage to electric and telephone facilities, and to a number of houses which were hit by falling limbs, before rising temperature on Tuesday caused it to melt.

The storm created numerous hazards. Sunday's rain turned to sleet during late afternoon, and while it made the area a photographer's heaven it spelled havoc to motorists, pedestrians, road crews and utility men.

Large trees and limbs weighted by ice fell across power and telephone lines, cutting electric and telephone service to many areas. Parts of Oakland and Mt. Lake Park were without electricity. Schools in the vicinity of Northern High school, Grantsville, Friendsville, Accident and Yoder, were closed around noon Monday due to lack of heat and power.

Power trouble was experienced, in addition to places around Oakland and Mt. Lake Park, at Gormania, Mt. Storm, W. Va., Meadow Mountain and Herrington Manor areas, all served by Monongahela Power company. Potomac Edison power company also had its difficulties with power cut off around Northern High school for most of Monday. At one point along U. S. route 40, ice formed on telephone cables to a depth of some four inches, according to Gerald Crabtree, C. and P. Telephone company manager at Oakland.

He said service was almost completely restored by Tuesday evening. He said some 173 stations were out of service Monday and Tuesday out of a total of some 6,800 in the county. He said most of the trouble with the telephone lines was in the areas of Blaine, Bittinger, North Glade and Accident.

Hugh Denison, manager for the Monongahela Power company, said the most difficult area for his company was in the Meadow Mountain area along Dry Run, where a mile of line was flattened by the ice on Tuesday.

Mr. Crabtree said some of the trouble with his lines would occur when the ice would finally drop from the lines, causing the wires to flap up and down, striking some electric high tension lines in the process causing them to burn.

A big oak tree fell across a high tension line in Mt. Lake Park early Monday morning, causing an explosion and a flash which resembled sharp lightning. Limbs also fell on a power line on Center street in Oakland, causing interruption of electric service for several hours. Similar trouble in the Herrington Manor area was repaired by Monday afternoon but

Illness Causes Postponement Of Board Meet

Acceptance Of Site Selection Still Undecided

The decision of the Board of Education as to whether or not it was agreeable to the selection of the County Commissioners last week, when they approved the Yoder farm as site for the junior college was not forthcoming as a scheduled meeting of the Board of Education was postponed on account of the illness of Willard I. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

The Board was set to meet on Tuesday but had to be postponed until next Monday.

The failure to hold a meeting left up in the air the question as to whether the board would accede to the wishes of what it was terming "the majority" of the people of the county to accept no substitute for site No. 1, orginally approved by the Board, the site committee, and the Board of Public Works.

Two members of the Board last week had indicated that due to the overwhelming protest on the part of the people of the county as to the construction of the junior college, any location other than the Glotfelty-Wagner site as originally selected could not be approved by the board.

Mr. Hawkins at that time said the protest against moving the site to any other location was almost unanimous at a meeting in the Court House on November 27 and that in addition, many telephone calls protesting any change in the site location had been received.

Petitions also were circulated and they had been received this week from the Cove, Accident, McHenry, Oakland and Kitzmiller areas. Names on the petitions totaled almost five hundred.

The petitions were headed by this message: "Let's get our college underway. There has

May Now Practice At Supreme Court

Fred A. Thayer, Oakland attorney and present state's attorney, was in Washington, D. C., on Monday where he was one of those admitted to practice before the Supreme Court in a brief ceremony conducted before that body.

This is the first time for a number of years that a Garrett County attorney has been admitted to practice there, although some old timers were of the opinion that years ago Mr. Thayer's grandfather, Fred A. Thaytr, and Edward H. Sincell were so admitted, but there was no way this could be confirmed.

Attending the ceremony Monday were Mr. Thayer's wife and son Rick, his mother, Mrs. Elisabeth Thayer.

Mr. Thayer was out of town this week and expects to be away for a few additional weeks, planning to visit in Canada during the Christmas holidays.

Jack R. Turney was sworn in Monday as acting state's attorney and will fill that position for the next few weeks in Mr. Thayer's absence.

Marine Recipient Of Purple Heart

Harry Calvin Coddington, lance corporal in the U. S. Marine corps, has received the Purple Heart award for wounds suffered while in combat in South Vietnam early last month it was learned this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Coddington, former residents of Oakland, now residing in Cumberland.

Coddington is stationed with the third battalion of the first U. S. Marine division and has been in a number of battles in Vietnam. He is a graduate of Southern High school.

There were no details concerning the medal presentation. He had suffered torn ligaments in the leg and was hospitalized. He still remains a patient in the hospital at Da Nang, South Vietnam.

Injured In Gym Class

Robert Steyer, 14, student at Southern High school, was hospitalized this week after he and another student, Henry Pike collided accidentally while in gym class on Monday.

Steyer suffered a concussion and was unconsciouss for some forty-five minutes, receiving artificial respiration from Tom Kuhn, instructor. The Pike youth was not injured. Steyer is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Steyer, Jr., of Mt. Lake Park.

North'n Hi Senior Injured In Wreck

A Northern High school senior was taken to Meyersdale Community hospital Friday night after being injured in a car accident.

The third home decoration contest is being conducted again according to John Kurilla, chairman of the Merchant's committee of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, with cash awards of $25, $15 and $10 going to the three top winners. Judges will make their choice, probably early next week or over the coming week-end.

Any family in the Oakland area which includes Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn, is eligible to participate.

Last year's winners were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Calhoun, of east Oakland, who had been named to the top for the second straight year. Second place went to Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Mance, while third place was won by William Welch, of Loch Lynn.

Cellar Walls Collapse

Two of the basement walls under a recently completed home occupied by Mrs. Florence Knox, along state route 135, east of Deer Park, collapsed early Monday morning.

The house remained upright on the other two basement walls, but Mrs. Knox and members of her family were forced to vacate the building. People crawled back into the house and picked up some clothing.

The home had been occupied just since early September. They were uncertain this week just what could be done. Apparently the rainy weather had caused a buildup of pressure behind the two walls.

Penna. Police Nab Jail Escapee

A forty-year old inmate assigned to the State Correctional Camp center in Jessup, who escaped last Wednesday night, even though he had been approved for parole, was back in custody on Thursday.

Robert Warnick, of Grantsville, appeared before Judge Thomas Lansberry at Somerset, Pa., last Friday and waived extradition.

A spokesman for the Somerset County jail said authorities returned him to Jessup. He had been arrested in Meyersdale.

Warnick walked off a dairy detail. He had been sentenced to 18 months for welfare fraud in June. He had entered a plea of guilty at the March term of the Circuit court. He had been charged with receiving $1,721.80 from the public assistance program to which he was not entitled. Judge Stuart F. Hamill had ordered a presentence investigation prior to sentencing.

Norman Katz, supervisor in the Department of Parole and Probation, said Warnick was approved for parole on October 10, but the parole had been delayed while an investigation of the inmate's home and possible employment was being conducted.

Marvin Watkins To Be WOW Speaker

Some 400 to 500 persons are still planning to attend the annual Christmas dinner sponsored by Camp 11 and Court 110 of the Woodmen of the World in Oakland, this evening at the Southern High cafetorium, but they will hear another speaker instead of the president of the WOW Life Insurance society.

Lester Bittinger, area manager, received word Tuesday that Nick T. Newberry, of Omaha, Nebraska, who was scheduled to speak, would be unable to appear, due to illness in the family.

Mr. Bittinger said that the speaker would be Marvin Watkins, eastern field manager, also of Omaha.

The dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. Merritt Feather will serve as master of ceremonies and entertainment will be provided by the Junior chorus of Southern High school.

Christmas Mail Heavier This Year

People are definitely mailing earlier this year, says Oakland postmaster Guy Wm. Hinebaugh, speaking of the Christmas mail status.

High day for mail thus far was Tuesday, December 12, when 14,500 items of mail were run through the cancelling machine. Mail volume is up 15 per cent this year, "Due to the good-looking guys in the post office windows", to quote Mr. Hinebaugh.

Usual high day for the past few years has been December 19. Last year, 18,800 pieces of mail were cancelled on that day. This year's peak day is expected to be Monday, December 18.

Mail volume this year is heavier than ever before, according to Mr. Hinebaugh. Many persons took advantage of SAM rates to send parcels overseas before the December and was unconscious for some Saturday, December 23 is the final day of mail delivery before Christmas. Only special delivery items and perishable goods will be delivered after Saturday.

Post office windows will remain open until 4:30 p. m. Saturday, December 16. Regular hours will be observed from December 18 until the 23rd.

Anterless Season Set Dec. 15, 16

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish commission decided last Thursday to go ahead with plans for the antlerless deer season December 15 and 16.

The commission voted the two-day season for female deer after being briefed by state biologists on the results of the buck season, which ended last week-end.

The total kill during the buck season reached a little over 4,000 down somewhat from the 4,525 killed last year.

Mr. Briner said he felt sure the total would exceed the $750 by the end of the week, which is the total needed.

Santa Claus is expected to arrive by fire truck around 1 o'clock. National Guard, Boy Scouts will assist the Chamber committee in the distribution.

Judge Orders Execution Stay For Miller Boy

The judges who found Gary Lee Miller, 17, of Pocahontas, Pa., guilty of first degree murder, signed an order in Allegany County Circuit Court staying his excution until after his appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals has been completed.

Associate Judges Harold E. Naughton and James S. Getty found Miller guilty of first degree murder on October 30, after a four-day trial. He was convicted of slaying Judy Lee Ziegler, 20, also Pocahontas area. She was found dead near Eckhart on May 28.

The two judges had sentenced Miller to die in the gas chamber at the Maryland penitentiary the week of January 1. Julius E. Schindler, the boy's court-appointed attorney, immediately informed the court that he planned to appeal the conviction to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

The judges' stay of execution order which was filed last Wednesday, stayed the execution pending further order of the court. Judge Getty also signed a second order in the Miller case giving the court reporter until January 16 to complete the transcription of the record in the four-day trial. The original 30-day period for the completion of this work ends December 16.

Miss Donna Rita Leasure, Mt. Savage, has been court reporter since early October with the murder trial being her first major trial. Judge Getty noted in his order that the court reporter is required to be in court for other trials which limits the time available for preparation of the record.

Masons Elect

Thomas D. Browning was elected worshipful master of Oakland Lodge No. 192, A. F. and A. Masons, at a regular communication on Tuesday evening. He will succeed William G. Schultz.

Others elected were John O. Durst, senior warden, Ward Ashby, junior warden, Robert T. Hoffman, secretary, and S. T. Naylor, treasurer. Other officers are appointive and will be named in the near future.

New officers will be installed early in January. Attending Tuesday night's session were Louis Biggs, deputy grand inspector, and Homer Michael, deputy grand lecturer, both of Westernport. The first or Entered Apprentice degree was conferred upon a candidate.

1st National Bank Declares Dividend

The Board of Directors of The First National Bank of Oakland has declared a semi-annual dividend of eighty cents per share from earnings for the last half of 1967, according to George K. Littman, President.

This dividend will be payable January 2, 1968 and makes a total declaration for the year of one dollar and fifty cents, with seventy cents per share having been paid last July 1. A comparison with 1966 dividends indicates an increase from one dollar and thirty cents for the previous year, or twenty cents per share.

The Board of Directors also authorized the setting aside of reserves for interest on savings, depreciation, and estimated income taxes.

Mr. Littman stated that the bank's resources have shown continued growth to more than $21,000,000.00, a gain of some fifteen million dollars, during the past ten years. The outlook for the economy of Garrett County and the Mountain Top area is very encouraging, he said, and with all citizens pulling together greater things can be accomplished as we look ahead to another year.

Community Minded People, Groups Answer Call For Aid

A community responds to a call for assistance. Evidence of this was found in a story emanating from the office of the Community Action committee, which revealed how various agencies and individuals combined to provide help for a local family.

At a hearing in Juvenile court recently a mother and father were found guilty of neglecting their six minor children. They were sentenced to correctional institutions but sentences were suspended upon condition they remain of good behavior, give proper care and attention to their children. They were placed under supervision of the Department of Juvenile Services.

Representatives of the County Welfare department suggested there were services available in the county such as the Department of Juvenile services and 'Operation Mainstream", under the Nelson amendment administered by the Community Action committee. It was suggested that combined effort be made to assist the family in improving the situation. The judge agreed and the committee met with the health department.

A major problem was the living arrangements. The house had one long room with a curtain partitioning the sleeping area from living and dining areas. The committee developed a petition, endorsed by the Juvenile Court, Departments of Public Welfare, Juvenile Services and Health, and forwarded it to the CAC. The father of the family was now employed in the "mainstream" project. The petition requested that the CAC provide transportation, manpower and equipment to add a large room to the existing dwelling.

A. No, they are not.

Q. If I have to take my son to another city for medical treatment, will I be allowed any deduction for our travel costs?

A. If the trip is taken to obtain medical care and not for personal reasons then your transportation costs as well as your son's will be deductible as a medical expense. If you drive, you may take a deduction of 5 cents a mile, in lieu of your actual expenses for gas and oil, plus whatever you spend for tolls and parking fees.

The costs of meals and lodging while in route or at the destination are not deductible except to the extent they are furnished to your son by a hospital.

Q. I've pledged a large gift to the building fund drive of my church. What year do I take this as a charitable deduction?

A. For those who itemize deductions, charitable contributions may be deducted in the tax year the gift is actually made. In your instance, you may deduct the gift the year it is paid.

Q. We sold our house at a profit but put the money into a bigger, more expensive home. Will we have any tax to pay on the profit?

A. Generally, if you purchase and occupy another home within a year at a price equal to or above what you received for your home, then you will not be currently taxed on the profit made on the sale.

A complete discussion of this subject may be found in IRS Document 5017, "Selling Your Home", available at your local IRS office.

Q. I'm taking a course at night school this fall in connection with my work. What records do I need to be able to deduct this expense on my tax return?

A. You should have records establishing that you are entitled to an educational deduction and which show how much you spent.

For education to be a deductible item it must either be required to keep your present salary, status or employment or it must be needed to maintain or improve the skills required in your present work. Education taken to meet the minimum requirement of your present job or to qualify for a new job or business is not deductible.

A letter from your employer which states the purpose of the night course you are taking will help substantiate your claim for an educational deduction. Receipts, cancelled checks and bills for the tuition:, books and other expenses of the night course can establish the amounts you spent.

If your employer pays for all or part of the course you are taking, do not claim a tax deduction for that portion of the educational expense.

Q. My neighbor's husband says they stopped withholding Social Security tax on his paycheck. He's not 65, why did his employer stop?

A. Age has nothing to do with it. Social Security taxes are required to be withheld on the first $6,600 of wages paid to an employee by his employer. In your neighbor's case, withholding for Social Security probably stopped because this maximum had been reached.

Q. Who do I write about a mistake made in a refund check?

A. Write to your District Director. When you do, be sure to give your Social Security number. It will also be helpful if you tell when and where you filed your return.

Q. To build up a college fund for my son I'm buying U. S. Savings bonds. How can I work it out so I don't pay tax on the interest these bonds earn?

A. The interest earned on a savings bond should be reported by the owner of the bond. If you have your child listed as the owner of the bonds then any tax liability will be his. Unless the interest earned on the bonds and his other income amounts to $600 or more, no return need be filed.

If you have your child elect to report the bond interest each year rather than wait until the year they are cashed in, then your child should file a return showing this bond interest the first year you start the plan. No further return will be required until the child has $600 or more income a year.

Keep a copy of this first return to show that the interest has been reported on a yearly basis.

Q. I have several employees who work for me on a straight commission basis. Do I have to withhold any taxes for them?

A. Yes you do. The withholding requirements apply to payments to employes of commissions and bonuses as well as to regular salaries.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

The libraries in Oakland and Grantsville will be closed on Saturday, December 23, Monday, December 25, and Monday, January 1. They will be open for the usual hours on Saturday, December 30.

The bookmobile will not be operated during the period from December 25 through January 1.

One of the most useful reference books in any library will celebrate one hundred years of publication this month. Among the many-volumed reference sets which now crowd the library's shelves the "World Almanac" is still one of the most important sources of information.

The Bible is of course the all-time American best seller; but next in total sales, according to "Saturday Review" is the "World Almanac". During the years when it was published under the guidance of Joseph Pulitzer it gained a reputation for great accuracy. In designing the "World Almanac" as a handbook for reporters Joseph Pulitzer developed a reliable source of information for everyone.

"If you can't find it anywhere else, look in the World Almanac" is a bit of advice often given to students of reference work. Facts and statistics on a great number of political, scientific, educational, religious, industrial and other subjects may be found in the "World Almanac". It is a useful handbook whether one is interested in Nobel Prize winners or water skiing champions, the population of Portugal or the gross national product of the United States, stars of the heavens or stars of the screen.

The new, anniversary issue of "World Almanac" will soon be in the libraries in Oakland and Grantsville.

A Moral Breakdown

In pondering the case of the unwashed, drug-taking hippies of New York and San Francisco, respectable Americans ask what it is that lies behind this disturbing phenomenon. No nation in history has "had it so good", as the politicians say. This is supposed to be the "Great Society", to use the slogan of the Johnson administration. Yet there is disturbing evidence of serious moral deterioration in some areas of our national life.

The hippies certainly should be carefully scutinized, for they are the part of the iceberg that appears above water. Below the surface are other shocking developments.

The hippies can be classed as dropouts from a society that in the past has been built around personal enterprise and self-reliance. They say that they only want to live their lives as they please. And they think this is a reasonable request. It isn't reasonable, of course, for society is still saddled with the hippies and the mess they make —no matter what they say. If a hippie becomes ill, a public hospital will care for him. If his room catches on fire, firemen will rescue him.

The truth is that the hippie wants to drop out of society only to a degree. He doesn't want to be stripped of all the protections of our free society. Certainly, he wants to be exempt from military service while citizens take the risks for him.

If communiism conquered America, there wouldn't be any hippies. The Russians would pack them off to concentration camps or force them to work in the forests or mines along with decent citizens.

Let's look more closely at the hippies and the impact of their way of life. Part of the hippies movement is a contempt for the decencies. The hippie world is a world of obscenity. Foul words, used in public, are characteristic of those who detest what they call the "square world", meaning the world of hard-working, responsible citizens.

One can see that the hippie attitudes are spreading, especially insofar as obscenity is concerned. In recent years, the motion picture industry has let down the standards of decency. Nudity is on the increase in films. Foul words are uttered in motion pictures supposedly produced for respectable people. The racks of paper back books at drug stores, airports and other public places are filled with books that belong to the literature of the gutter. Sadism and perversion has become the standard fare of the legitimate theater.

A generation ago, pornographic literature was not permitted in the United States. A few dealers in gutter literature smuggled it into the country from Paris. Nowadays, the production and sale of pornographic literature has become a colossal industry. The young people of America are being daily exposed to the offerings of the smut peddlers.

The late Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City said that no one was ever corrupted by a book, but that would be hard to assert these days. Americans are being fed a diet of literary and filmed filth that is unprecedented in history. Neither the federal courts nor the Justice Department are especially concerned about this tide of dirt.

Once before in history there was a tidal wave of pornography. It was in ancient Rome, at the time when Caesarism was rampant and the liberties and the decencies of the Roman people were being eroded. Americans would do well to review the history of that period. The United States is not immune to moral subversion and that seems to be what is taking place in America today.

The hippies are only one manifestation of a moral breakdown that is spreading at an alarming rate. Big Government's denial to the people of self-reliance helps bring about the conditions in which the hippie attitude develops. The federal government is engaging in the same kind of bread and circuses performance that the Roman emperors gave so many centuries ago. The integrity and personal responsibility of individuals is being undermined, and as this process takes place there is a softening and weakening of character that leads to grave moral excess.

The hippie phenomenon, the spread of pornography and the tyranny of the state — all are related to the evils of a permissive society that is abandoning high standards in personal and family life and in citizenship as well.

Call For Aid

The board of directors approved the project provided the community at large would furnish materials necessary to complete the project or financial aid with which to purchase materials. Substantial donations were made by local building organizations. American Legion and Optimist club also contributed. Another one hundred dollars was needed to complete the roofing and outside of the addition. Letters were sent to area businesses and service clubs who responded with more than enough for the job.

This was termed by the Community Action Committee administrators that "this was truly a community project", and that the response probably would have been obtained "no matter what the season of the year because the people involved are community minded and always act when called upon to assist".

in areas farther to the east the repairs were delayed because of the slowness of melting. A portion of a tree fell on a house on Pennington street, smashing a window and damaging the bungalow and garage roof.

Electric repair crews from the Oakland office had to be relieved by special crews from Fairmont, Morgantown and Grafton, who worked in sixteen hour shifts to get the lines back in order. Crewmen said ice formed to a thickness of an inch or more in some areas.

State and county highway crews worked under constant pressure to keep the roads cindered and salted, to permit traffic to move at a normal rate.

Temperatures Sunday evening and throughout Monday remained near the freezing mark, dipping to 29 and going as high as 35. The weather moderated slightly on Tuesday.

The balance of the week consisted mostly of above-normal temperatures, last Thursday began with a 42 degree reading and climbed to a high of 57. There were some rumbles of thunder and several flashes of lightning during the evening hours, although Friday brought clear skies with a high mercury reading of 49

Saturday, the day before the storm gave no warning weather-wise about the approaching sleet. Saturday featured sunny skies, with some ground thaw due to warm temperatures.

Tuesday's temperatures of 41 helped the remaining ice to disappear, although the high winds during the afternoon hampered utility linemen in their efforts to patch electric and telephone services. Wednesday delivered a spring-like high temperature of 51, along with mostly sunny skies.

Clouds rolled in during the evening hours on Wednesday, beginning Thursday with rain showers. Thursday's temperature reading at 8 a. m. was a warm 42 degrees.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Fifty years ago, on November 6, 1917, a small number of Bolsheviks overthrew the Socialist government of Russia, which they had dominated in an informal, short-lived "coalition". They murdered all of its officialdom they could catch, and establish Soviet Communism. The new government, first called the "Council of People's Commissars", was headed by Nikolai Lenin and had as its Foreign Affairs Commissar Leon Trotsky, and as Commissar for National Minorities Josef Stalin.

Under these three Reds and their successors — Khrushchev, Brezhnev and Kosysin — a world-girdling Communist juggernaut has been created and it has been responsible in 50 years for the murdering of an estimated 100 million people, other crimes against humanity that beggar description, the enslavement of nearly a billion people, drastic shifts in political geography and military power throughout the world, and profound and frightening changes in the thinking and behavior of multitudes of mankind.

Many people in nations not yet held in the mammoth Red claw have come to recognize Soviet Communism as a dark and monstrous evil threatening the advance of civilization. These are resisting aggression and warning of the dangers. Other millions of people who have not concerned themselves with such an "unpleasantness", today "see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil".

A number of vocal and extremely influential people in non-Communist countries, though themselves non-Communist, have come to accept Communism as a new world force with which non-Communist nations can and must work for world peace and progress. The commitment of the Communist International to the establishment of a "Communist World" by force, first announced by Lenin and constantly reaffirmed by Stalin, Khrushchev, Brezhnev and Kosygin, simply never has been accepted as meaningful; or it is believed (by these people) to have been subsequently ditched by a "mellowing" Kremlin hierarchy. This viewpoint has been so persuasively (and, I believe, to some degree conspiratorially) injected into the highest, decision-making echelon of our government that it now is the basis for important national policies and actions.

To sum up the "balance sheet" on Soviet Communism's 50 years, Eugene Lyons, for six years a United Press correspondent in Moscow and now a Senior editor of Reader's Digest, has just published a book Workers' Paradise Lost (Funk & Wagnalls, New York). In the book, Mr. Lyons rejects 21 "widespread myths" about Soviet Russia. Most important, he says the theory of a "mellowing" Soviet Communism, which has led the U. S. to protect Soviet-controlled Red Cuba and severely limit the action of our military forces fighting Communism in Vietnam, is phony and suicidal.

"The impulse of a wishful hoping world has been to exaggerate the supposed "mellowing in the Soviet empire", he writes. "In truth nothing fundamental has changed. Soviet Russia remains a rigidly totalitarian society, police-ridden and sensor-ridden, ruled by the same party still led by men formed and hardened in Stalin's service. The awesome machinery of internal espionage and terror has not been dismantled. The power structure, ideology and morality that made Stalinism at its worst possible remain intact".

Up and Up...

Have you been wondering why the cost of living continues to go up and up? Just read these excerpts from a report by the Bureau of National Affairs.

"Negotiated wage increases for all industries during the third quarter of 1967 hit a record high of 14.9 cents an hour, and were 3.7 cents above the corresponding period of 1966.

"The rise brought the average wage gain for the year to date to 14.2 cents an hour, up 3.8 cents from the figure for the first nine months of 1966.

"The current probability is that wage settlements for 1967 as a whole will average around 14.2 cents an hour, up 3.2 cents from 1966. Wage increases in manufacturing alone came to 13.6 cents an hour in the third quarter, up 3.2 cents from a year before. Among nonmanufacturing agreements, the median increase comes to 19.6 cents for the nine-months period but the gain from a year earlier is an average 5.0 cents.

"In the construction industry the median increase was 34.7 cents an hour in the January-September period".

Rising wages necessarily bring higher prices—and the cost of living continues its spiral. It's just that simple.—Industrial Press Service.

ness or concession to a mob. Thus offenders are encouraged and their violence gains momentum.

"Militant agitators, hate-mongers and rabble rousers who incite riots have no fear of overexposure. They seek attention from news media. They know that TV, radio and front-page news stories are the quickest means of getting their views before the public. Strict adherence to high journalistic principles is a valuable public service in matters affecting public safety.

"Many proposals have been advanced to help eliminate the causes of riots. Just as there is no single cause, there is no single remedy. The answer will not be found in sociological remedies alone. If our system of law is to survive, then the law must be enforced. Those who break the law, acting alone or in concert, must be detected and arrested, promptly prosecuted, and given proper, substantial punishment. Halting riots and removing crime from our Nation's streets, should be the first order of business."

been enough delay. We approve the Glotfelty-Wagner site".

Some citizens had written to the Board

"We thought we already voted on the junior college".

We thought the site was chosen when we voted for the college".

"The Yoder farm site is hemmed in by swamp and creek. It would be more costly to excavate. An unbiased person should present an estimate of cost".

"We prefer the Glotfelty-Wagner site. It is near the proposed new highway and easily accessible. If all people and committees met and examined and approved why do the County Commissioners think their judgment is better than experts".

"Why must we be forced to accept a second or third choice site".

"If the commissioners are in favor of the college why are they causing all these delays".

Should the Board not accept the recommendation of the Yoder farm as the site, the only procedure remaining is to proceed with a writ of mandamus in an attempt to force the Commissioners to carry out the law which ordered them to provide the funds to construct the college. It has been maintained all along that actually the Commissioners have no authority to select a site; that their responsibility is to provide the funds. Until now, however, no funds have been provided. Parent-Teacher groups throughout the county agreed two weeks ago to provide money to have the Board of Education proceed with the mandamus proceedings.

Edwards A Help In Fairmont Win

A 27-yard grinding, determined run on a trap play by George Edwards, sophomore back from Grantsville, broke a tie early in the fourth period and gave Fairmont State college a 28-21 victory over Eastern Washington college in the Champion Bowl of the NAIA Saturday afternoon at Mountaineer field in Morgantown.

A sun-drenched crowd of 12,750 enjoyed perfect football weather and saw the Falcons overcome a 14-0 lead in the second quarter to nail down the national small college title.

A couple of quick breaks in the third quarter—the first on a recovery of the second-half kickoff and the other on a bad pass from center by Eastern Washington, turned the tide for the Falcons who won their 11th victory of an undefeated season and extended their winning streak to 15 games.

Edwards, playing perhaps his greatest game as a collegian, made the recovery which set up Fairmont's tying touchdown. It was scored on an 18-yard pass play, Roy Michael to Jim Mertens, the latter of Cumberland.

Edwards quarterbacked Northern High school Huskies to an undefeated season in 1965, his senior year. He is a sophomore student at Fairmont state. Two weeks prior to last Saturday he and Mertens were given credit for sparking a victory over Northern Michigan in a semi-final match in the NAIA eliminations.

In Saturday's game Edwards made a 30-yard pickup following a kickoff which put the ball on Eastern Washington's 35 yard stripe shortly before a touchdown. Edwards started Fairmont on the move again with a 13-yard first down pickup but Fairmont was forced to punt.

Question

I've noticed that Winter seems to make my skin dry and itchy. What is there about Winter that causes this, and what can I do about it?

Answer

You're right about your skin usually being more dry in Winter than in Summer. The dry heat of stoves and heaters tends to evaporate moisture from the skin. And, while most people replenish this loss through perspiration in warmer weather, they do not perspire enough to do this during the Winter. This loss of moisture makes the skin less flexible, and small cracks will appear exposing tiny nerve endings causing irritation. Lubriderm is a product which you can apply for restoration of lost skin moisture. Lubriderm contains moisture-retaining oil which penetrate the skin and hold its moisture . . . as well as restoring its flexibility. This product is available in both a lotion cream for extra-dry skin condition and in a liquid formula which can be added directly to your bath water.

Is Your Name COLLIER?

Collier, an old and honored surname, is principally of English origin and usage. It admits of at least two derivations. According to most authorities on the origin of names, it is of occupational meaning and was applied in mediaeval times to those who worked in a coal mine. It is said also that Collier is of local meaning and was applied, when surnames first came into vogue, to newcomers to communities in England who came from Caulierers, a place in France.

James Collier (1752-1844) and Thomas Collier (1740-1787) were captains respectively of Pennsylvania and Virginia troops during the Revolutionary War.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has eleven listings of persons by the name of Collier who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

"Memoirs Of The Life and Writings of Reverend Arthur Collier, With Some Account Of His Family" is a genealogical work compiled by Robert Benson and published in London, England in 1837.

There are thirty references to persons by the name of Collier in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

Henry Watkins Collier (1801-1867), a descendant of Charles Collier who was one of the early settlers of Virginia, was governor of Alabama and also chief justice of the state.

William Miller Collier (1867-1956) was president of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., and U. S. ambassador to Chile.

Harry D. Collier (1876-1959) entered the employ of the Standard Oil Company of California at the age of 27, advanced steadily through the ranks of the organization, and eventually served as president and chairman of the board of directors of the company.

Louis Augustus Collier is vice-president in charge of sales and marketing, H. J. Heinz Company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Abram Thurlow Collier, an attorney of note, served as general counsel, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, Boston for a number of years and at present is vice-chairman of the board of directors of the company.

Melvin Lowell Collier is professor of mathematics, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Virginia.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The grasping tentacles of the Cosa Nostra, also known as Mafia and Syndicate, might be likened to the sinister Octopus, able to reach out with its many arms and suck into its clutches all in sight.

This formidable power which fingers the ranks of labor, the balance sheets of business, and the ranks of the professions is unraveled in a study of the scope of gangland operations. The Criminal Division of the Justice Department recently collated 300,000 index cards detailing the activities of over 3,000 syndicate ringleaders. Especially alarming are tabulations showing an increase of 600 bosses over the last fiscal year.

C. W. Harder

Syndicated labor columnist, Victor Riesel, poses a challenging question: "The entire Criminal Division, of which the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section is but part, has asked for only $3,777,500 for the 1968 fiscal year, just an increase of $176,800 over 1967. Why so little?"

Riesel goes on to point out that only eight new attorneys are sought for the tremendous odds they must encounter. Also, the labor rackets unit, reputedly active in safeguarding small business as well as unions, presently employs only five lawyers. "It would take that many just to probe some New England locals," says Riesel.

Under the present unwieldy system, a single attorney of the Criminal Division must supervise a multiplicity of areas, when each district needs separate management.

Riesel reports of a Connecticut union official who is described as "hiring only union members with criminal records." Fraudulent manipulation of pension funds is also mentioned.

* * *

Further detailed is the Cosa Nostra scheme to force two medical groups in New York to merge into one union and assess each member a substantial "initiation fee."

Recently revealed in this column were deals of Mafia "scam" operators, pursuing the con-game as reputable businessmen, moving innocently into an area, taking over a legit business, then requesting credit on the former firm name for all they can get. Merchandise obtained under the once-respected firm name is sold fast on a strictly cash basis or secreted away to other locations. Legal bankruptcy is declared and it is too late for creditors to recover their goods.

Prosecution of syndicate operators is difficult as they hide behind the veneer of legitimate business, and fraudulent violation of Federal bankruptcy laws must be first proven.

In its impulsive rush to assign America as world policeman, has the Administration not neglected the cancerous growth of strangling criminal prosperity within the U.S.?

Maryland Youth Wins 4-H Award

Young Maryland youth, Larry Grossnickle, center, accepts $500 scholarship from Omer G. Voss, left, executive vice president, International Harvester Company, at 46th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Looking on is Richard W. Hough, right, vice president of the company's Farm Equipment Division. Grossnickle, 18, of Middletown, was one of six winners in the National 4-H Agricultural Awards Program sponsored by International Harvester.

A Maryland youth who said, "Ever since I can remember, I have wanted to be a farmer," has been named one of six national winners in the 4-H Agricultural Program.

The youth, Larry Grossnickle, 18, Rt. 2, Middletown, was awarded a $500 educational scholarship by International Harvester Company, donor of awards in the program supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. Presentation was made during the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago, Nov. 26-30.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Grossnickle is a freshman at Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va. "I want to major in some phase of agriculture," he says. "After I finish college I want to come home and go into partnership with my father on our dairy farm."

Young Grossnickle already has a considerable dairy herd of his own—six registered Holstein cows, six registered Holstein heifers, and one registered Ayrshire cow. But his interests range beyond dairy cattle. In two years the youth raised 200 broilers, taking second place in the Frederick County broiler contest each year. He also has become a competent operator of farm machinery and completed three years of 4-H tractor projects.

As president of the Middletown 4-H Clubs for four years, he became active as a junior leader, passing on his skills to younger members.

The national winner has given numerous demonstrations on fitting and showing cattle and judging cattle. He also has participated in dairy judging contests.

"Farming, especially dairy farming, is a challenge to me," he said. "I love farm life and like to work with animals and the soil. Despite the many problems facing the farmer today, I want to become a member of that elite group called the 'American Farmer'."

Eleven Are Killed On State Highways

Eleven persons were killed on Maryland highways last week, according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Six of those killed were drivers, three were passengers and two were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in seven and "driver error" in ten.

"Investigations into the accident which claimed eleven lives this past week indicate that speed was a contributing factor in seven of the deaths", commented Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police.

"Exceeding the posted speed limit is not only illegal, but foolhardy as well. However, failure to adjust your speed to the constantly changing traffic patterns, road contours and weather conditions is equally as dangerous. The next time you are in the driver's seat, ask yourself, 'Can I stop suddenly if an emergency situation arises?' If your answer is not an emphatic 'Yes', slow down; don't risk your life and the lives of the other motorists by driving too fast for existing conditions.

Court of Appeals felt that Bingo and slot machines were not lotteries as defined in Md. constitution.

Precautions Listed On Christmas Pets

Would-be Santas who plan to supplement Christmas stockings with furry, finny or feathered friends should take a few precautions, advises Dr. Kenneth Crawford, Maryland Public Health Veterinarian, and Charley B. Miller, Sanitarian II, at Oakland.

"There are many advantages of pet ownership", said Dr. Crawford, citing the value of companionship, protection, sense of responsibility and pride of ownership as children and families share pets. Pet owners are cautioned to be responsive as well as responsible in protecting the family health against infectious diseases common to both animals and humans". "The World Health Committee on Zoonoses lists over 100 such diseases. In the United States, dogs and cats are the chief source of human infection. The most common diseases contracted from pets is Salmonellosis, which produces illness in humans by being a contaminant, which can be transferred to human food and eaten.

The Public Health Veterinarian also cautioned that other animal diseases of importance to humans which can be contacted include ringworm and several of the internal parasites of pets.

Maryland Law now prohibits the sale of baby chicks, ducklings and goslings which are under three weeks of age.

Monkeys are regarded by the Health Department to be the most unsuitable of all animals offered for sale as household pets. Nearly all monkey diseases can be transmitted to man.

The local veterinarian can prevent nearly all of the transmissible diseases of domestic animals. It is recommended by Dr. Crawford that upon acquiring household pets that the owner promptly consult a local veterinarian and begin the necessary vaccination and other health-protecting procedures to reduce the possibility of contacting unwanted illness.

Introducing 127 changes.

(Test drive a few dozen.)

The changes we're talking about aren't exactly what you'd call glaring changes.

With one huge exception—the Station Wagon (it's so noticeably changed you can't help but notice it).

Practically everything about it is different. From windshield (which is 27% larger) to interior (which has gotten very cushy) to the rear engine (which has been enlarged to 1600 cc).

But as far as our little sedan goes, it still looks like a big of old.

And our big sedan, the Squareback, still looks like a Squareback. Ditto for the Fastback.

Then there's the Karmann Ghia—still the beauty of the bunch.

But they're all more formidable VWs than ever. That's the big change.

Bumpers have been beefed up. Interiors have been softened up. Signal lights and tail lights are easier to see from all sides.

The '68s also have improvements that make them neater cars.

Things like flatter door handles and window knobs. Larger wipers and better windshield washers. Dozens of little things. The kind that probably won't bowl you over until you've had a VW for a while.

So instead of running in for a quick peek at the '68s, plan to take your time. Pick one out in your size and take it for a test drive.

Give yourself a fair chance to be carried away.

℞ FOUR IMPORTANT REASONS TO SEE A PHYSICIAN

The American Medical Association does not advise you to see a physician for unimportant medical problems. But, what problems are important?

1. If the patient's complaints or symptoms are too painful to be endured—get a doctor. Immediate relief is needed.
2. When an aooarently minor symptom or symptoms persist for more than a few days or weeks and does not appear to be due to some easily identified cause--get a doctor.
3. When symptoms returned repeatedly for no recognizable cause, such as in headaches, digestive distress, etc.—get a doctor.
4. When in doubt about any ailment—call a doctor.

IN MEMORIAM
Mayhew Troxell

In loving memory of our beloved husband, father and grandfather who passed away December 22, 1966.
Today brings sad memories
Of a dear one gone to rest.
The ones who think of him today
Are the ones who loved him best.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget,
But so far time has only proved
How much we miss him yet.
When we are sad and lonely.
And everything goes wrong.
We seem to hear him whisper,
"Cheer up and carry on."
Each time we see his picture
He seems to smile and say,
"Don't cry, I am only sleeping
'til we meet again some day."
And oh, the rapture of that moment
When we shall meet again
Sadly missed by his Wife
Effie, Children and Grandchildren.

come Look at the snow, mommy!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

There she was — blue eyes, rosy cheeks, thirty-five pounds of joy bundled up in a warm, wooly snowsuit. How could I resist her request —even if the ironing weren't done, and there'd be no pie for dinner. I pulled on my parka and went outside to join her.

We walked through the frosty winter world together and I seemed to see it anew through the eyes of a three-year old. Our commonplace street was miraculously frosted and furbished in silvery whiteness. From every corner beauty sparkled and shone.

And then we came to our church. It looked like a beautiful Christmas card, with the snow glistening blindingly from icy windows. Susie exclaimed, "Oh, Mommy, look—God is shining through!"

"Through the eyes of a little child" . . . this thought rang through my head, and I prayed that God's presence would always shine for her through the windows of God's Church.

IN THE MOOD

Lesson for December 17, 1967

Background Scripture: Malachi 1 and 2.

Devotional Reading: Psalms 34:11-16.

One Aldo Donati recently told police in Sicily that he has been married eleven times without ever having obtained divorces. "I simply love weddings," he confessed. "The ceremonies, the music, the nervous bride, the trappings — they hold a special fascination for me — so when the mood strikes, I get married!"

Rev. Althouse

The bigamist's explanation of his misdeeds may seem far-fetched at first glance. Yet, if we think of it, there is much of this same motivation at work in our world today. "When the mood strikes" today, people are liable to do or not do almost anything. We break contracts and agreements when it suits us. We shed responsibilities with no twinge of conscience. Relationships are broken as if they never existed. The "gentlemen's agreement" seems to have become obsolete because of a demise of "gentlemen."

A Scrap Of Paper

The affairs of nations also reflect this cavalier attitude toward covenants and relationships. Many treaties are made with the unexpressed assumption that neither party really expects to perform its obligations. We remember, of course, the broken treaties and pacts of Hitler and Stalin, but our own skirts are hardly without stain. The United States government has a long history of broken treaties with the various Indian tribes that once possessed this land.

Within the last few years, the American people have "looked-the-other-way" as the courts have allowed the federal government to break its treaty with the Indians who live on the Pennsylvania-New York border. The attitude of the government seemed to be that it was all right to break the treaty because the land was needed for a dam and the Indians would be reimbursed for their loss. That the Indians wanted their treaty and not reimbursement did not seem to matter.

Same Mistake?

It was this same disregard for responsibility against which the prophet Malachi warned in the fifth century B.C. when the Judean exiles returned from their captivity in Babylon. Their fathers had broken their covenant with God and the nation had suffered grievously. Surely these people would not make the same mistake?

Evidence seemed to indicate to Malachi that they might. They too lacked a sense of responsibility. They wanted the benefits of religion, but they did not want to give anything of value in return. They went through all the "right motions," but they gave only tokens of themselves. They kept their part of the covenant only when they were "in the mood" or it was of advantage to them.

Cheap Sacrifice

One rainy Sunday afternoon a little boy and girl decided to act out the story of their morning Sunday school lesson, Noah and the Ark. They found an old shoe box and set it afloat in the bathtub. Turning on the shower, they "made the rains come" and later pulled the stopper to make the waters recede. Then the little boy remembered that Noah had offered a sacrifice. The kitchen stove, they decided, would be a fine place for that. The boy suggested the sacrifice be his sister's doll, but the little girl indignantly refused, suggesting in retaliation her brother's baseball glove. "Certainly not!" the boy exploded. After some moments of careful thought, the boy exclaimed: "Say, do you remember that old torn teddy-bear in the attic? Let's give that to God; we won't want it any more." And that was their sacrifice.

We may smile at these children, yet have they not learned their sense of responsibility from us? "Let's give that to God; we won't want it any more!" What must children think of the "When-the mood-strikes-us" manner in which you and I fulfill our covenants to God and men?

Earth Station Near Etam To Be New Overseas Link

The earth station for satellite communications being built near Etam in northern West Virginia will serve as a major new link for service overseas in the Atlantic area. It will be part of the expanding global system of commercial space communications.

Construction on the complex which started in September is expected to be ready for operations the latter part of 1968. Cost of the facility is estimated at approximately $6.5 million. Cement and other building materials are being purchased locally.

It is being built on a 30-acre parcel of farmland in Green Valley, located about six miles south of Rowlesburg, toward Parsons.

Work at the site during the 12-14 months of construction will include land grading and preparation, construction of roads and installation of utilities, landscaping, construction of an 18,000-square-foot central control building with connecting pump house-garage, and other facilities.

A landmark of the facility will be a parabolic "dish" antenna 97 feet in diameter, standing taller than a 10-story building. Associated ground electronic equipment will be located primarily in the central control building.

The high-capacity station will be an essential element in a technically integrated system of ground terminals and space satellites providing multiple point communications between many countries simultaneously in the Atlantic Basin, according to William B. Carroll, station manager, who was in Oakland a few days ago on business.

When completed, the station will be capable of handling and processing all types of international communications via satellites — multi-channel telephone telegraph, facsimile, data, both color and black-and-white television. It will serve as an East Coast terminal for high-quality communications between the U. S. mainland, Puerto Rico, Europe, Latin America — and Africa when earth stations there become operational.

The role of the station in the coordinated ground-space system will be to process signals simultaneously sent to, and received from, synchronous satellites stationed in "hovering" equatorial orbits 22,300 miles over the Atlantic. It is designed to operate with advanced spacecraft of the INTELSAT III series, scheduled to be launched starting in 1968. These satellites will have approximately five times the capacity of the pioneering Early Bird satellite.

When in commercial operation, the station will transmit microwave signals with tremendous power to a satellite. There signals are amplified, altered in frequency and relayed to other stations over vast distances. In turn, the earth station will receive the relatively faint signals sent by the satellite, process these signals, boost them billions of times in power to useful forms of communications. The Etam station, in turn, will be connected to existing networks of communications through conventional land links.

Skilled technicians will be able to maintain centralized control, and monitor all phases of performance, from the main control building. A staff of about 35 or 40 persons will man the station, which will be managed and operated by the Communications Satellite Corporation (COMSAT).

The facility is one of three new stations being built to serve requirements for increasing commercial satellite communications. The other 2 sites are near Cayey, Puerto Rico, and near Jamesburg, in Central California.

Three existing stations, now operating with commercial satellites over the Atlantic and Pacific — are located at Brewster Flat, Washington; Paumalu, Oahu, Hawaii; and Andover, Maine.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles Walter Lee Soelter, who passed away May 7, 1967.

When one you care for has departed
And left you all alone and broken-hearted,
There's something in a kindred mind
That always leaves a sense behind
Ot true companionship we knew.
The pain it was to see you go,
Yet memory softens everything,
The grave its victory, death its sting,
We who loved you,
Sadly miss you.
We who held you very dear
And in the hours of lonely thinking.
Often feel your presence near.
Though God has taken you away
You are with us every day.

Sadly missed by loving Wife, Cora, Grandchildren

Bus, Truck Gas Tax Now In Effect

Many truck and bus operators in Western Maryland are unwittingly violating a new tax law, State Police reported this week. Trooper Joseph Helmstetter, attached to special police forces of the tax division said that the Road Tax on Motor Carriers Act of 1967 took effect December 1, but many owners of vehicles affected by it apparently are unaware of its provisions.

Under the law, certain types of commercial vehicles must be registered with the Gasoline Tax division of the Office of the Comptroller at Annapolis. Trooper Helmstetter said most larger companies were notified through their trucking associations but smaller operators received no notification. Among those not notified were cement companies, coal operators and individual operators.

The law applies to all commercial vehicles with capacity of more than nine passengers, to all trucks with three or more axles, including Maryland owned trucks, and to all tractor trailers regardless of the number of axles.

Even though they may not have been notified of the new law, owners of such vehicles are responsible for complying with its provisions, the trooper pointed out. Minimum fine is $20 and costs for each offense.

State police said persons who believe their vehicle may be affected by the new law should get in touch immediately with the Gasoline Tax Division of the comptroller's office by telephoning Annapolis 268-3371. They may contact John K. Coleman, chief of the tax division and obtain a temporary 25-day permit at nominal cost and ask for application to register their vehicle. It costs $1 for an individual to register. Owners must make a period report as to how many miles the vehicle has traveled and how much gas was used. The trooper said the purpose of the law was to determine whether or not the state was being "cheated" of its normal gasoline tax. People who operate trucks, buses, etc., in Maryland, are expected to purchase their gasoline in Maryland, since they use Maryland roads.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Education Without Judgment

To The Editor:

After listening and considering all the pros and cons about the Junior College, also about our two good commissioners, Mr. Friend and Mr. Sines, I feel down deep in my heart that our commissioners will spend our tax dollars wisely. We don't need one lady or gentleman to tell our commissioners what sight is best because they already know. It keeps a lot of us busy now, keeping up with our tax rates.

What will we do when this burden hits us between the eyes. Let us all work together for peace and harmony.

Student Reports On Activities At Atom Conference

Bonnie Buckel, senior student at Northern High school, recently attended the National Youth conference on the atom in Chicago, as a guest of the Potomac Edison company. It was held November 29 through December 2.

She gives an account of her trip.

Listening to famous speakers, traveling by jet, touring, attending elaborate dinners, and meeting outstanding teen-agers from all over the United States highlighted my trip to the National Youth Conference on the Atom. Six high school seniors and three science teachers were sponsored by the Potomac Edison Company, and accompanied by two company representatives.

C. L. Strite, from the Frostburg office of the Company, provided my transportation to the Holiday Inn at Hagerstown. There, at a banquet that evening, the delegation met for the first time. PE's delegation included two boys and four girls, three teachers, PE's public relations manager and his assistant. Following the banquet the group toured the new company building. This all-electric building, which cost six million dollars, was ultra-modern and ultra-comfortable!

The delegation headed next morning for Washington National Airport. At 11 a. m., our American Airlines 727 Astrojet began cruising down the runway. Suddenly, and very smoothly, we began rising into the clear blue sky. As I watched Washington grow smaller, I felt my stomach flip. We were airborne! What a thrilling sensation to see houses, towns, rivers, highways, and fields far, far below! It was almost like looking at a miniature railroad scene in a department store, but that was the real world lying 'way down below! At 20,000 feet I began to notice clouds around and below the jet. Soon we were above what appeared to be a solid mass of fluffy white cotton. In reality, we were far above the clouds, soaring toward Chicago!

About one hour and 20 minutes later, I found myself standing in O'Hare International Airport, a spectacular maze with miles of runways and a huge sprawling terminal building. To me, the fact that I had traveled all the way from Washington to Chicago in such a short time seemed unbelievable!

Our first stop in Chicago was the Museum of Science and Industry, a world-famous "do-it-yourself" museum. During the three hours spent there, we delegates found it impossible to view more than a few of the numerous displays. Among the highlights were such experiences as watching a 12-minute silent movie for the price of five cents, walking down "Yesterday's Main Street', seeing chicks hatching from incubated eggs, listening to the recording of a conversation on a replica of the first telephone, and, through a microscope, examining a microfilm picture on the head of a pin.

Shortly after getting settled at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel, our delegation attended a dinner with West Penn and Monongahela Power Company delegates. Potomac Edison, Monongahela and West Penn are subsidiaries of the Allegheny Power System. Donald Kammert, President of APS, addressed the group. A movie explaining the electric industry operation in our area was then shown. This included scenes from Garrett County!

Following this dinner the PE delegation went sight-seeing in Chicago, "The City Beautiful". From atop the Prudential Insurance Building, and towering sky-scrapers and brilliant lights formed a fascinating night scene. Marshall Field, Chicago's monstrous department store, boasted fifty windows with breath-taking Christmas displays.

Thursday morning, November 30, the first general session of the Conference on the Atom was held. President Johnson sent a message to conference delegates, congratulating us on our achievements in science, and stating that he has confidence that our generation of scientists will discover many peaceful uses of the atom. During all sessions of the conference, students and teachers heard lectures by scientists famous for their work with the atom. A few of these speakers were down-to-earth and understandable. But, as can be expected, some of the scientists were so intelligent that their topics were above our level. Many teachers didn't understand certain speeches. But I gained bits of knowledge here and there, and merely being exposed to men and women of this type was a learning experience in itself. One speaker, Dr. John R. Dunning, impressed me most. Dr. Dunning made a discovery concerning uranium fission, and being very involved in his work, was an enthusiastic speaker.

Thursday evening the PE Youth Conference continued — delegation dined at an exquisite Swedish Smorgasbord Restaurant, the Kungsholm. We proceeded to the Bismarck Theatre to the movie, Camelot. I was overwhelmed by the beauty of the theater, which reminded me of a cathedral with its elaborate decorations, and by the beauty of the movie scenery.

Friday the PE delegation toured Argonne National Laboratory in Argonne, Illinois—near Chicago. For a selection of four tours I chose the life sciences tour, revolving around the laboratory's work with the biological effects of the atom. Demonstrations by many scientists in their own laboratories proved most rewarding. I think I learned more from these than from all the lectures combined.

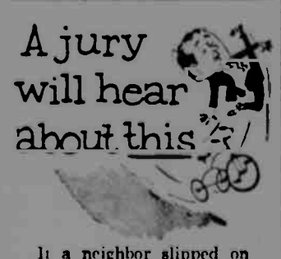
After another general session at the hotel Friday afternoon, I accompanied my room-mate, a girl from Pennsylvania and a fellow PE delegate, to visit her uncle and aunt. Her relatives lived at Marina City, composed of two apartment towers. Each of these towers possesses 23 stories of parking space and 1,000 apartments. Each apartment has its own balcony. The balcony on which we stood was directly above the Chicago River. The towers have an underground floor which is a business district in itself, containing grocery stores, clothing stores, restaurants, a candy shop, a lounge, an ace-skating ring, a bowling alley, and even a Marina City bank. Boats may be docked outside and under the towers.

Later Friday evening the Conference Dinner was held in the Sheraton Chicago's Grand Ballroom. Dr. Glenn L. Seaborg, Chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, highlighted the evening. His presentation, "Nuclear History —Voices of the Past", featured tape-recorded speeches by the men and women who have performed extensive research in the nuclear energy field.

Saturday morning I was forced to miss the closing session of the conference in order to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test at the University of Chicago. About 60 other students also had to take the test.

After a quick lunch in the Sheraton's Camelot Room, our delegation traveled to O'Hare International Airport for the return to Washington. Once again I experienced the thrill of the Astrojet's lift off! Although the weather was very overcast and the pilot warned passengers that "there may be some turbience", the flight was much smoother than any automobile ride. I've ever taken!

I finally found myself back in "good ole Garrett County"! It had certainly been a wonderful adventure to attend the National Youth Conference on the Atom, but it was also relief to come home.



I won my trip by completing an application which included questions concerning my science grades, a science project I had done, and my attitude toward the role of science in our modern world. I would strongly advise any student to strive for this tremendous award.

Information And Requests Heard By Commissioners

Richard Schaub, from the Hagerstown office of the Maryland State Planning Department, appeared at the December 4 meeting of the County Commissioners to discuss water and sewerage planning.

Mr. Schaub informed the Board that the State Planning Commission has been established and money is available for approved projects. To secure financial aid, projects must be devised by a qualified planner. Planning services are available from the State Planning Commisssion and the information is available to a water and sewerage planning consultant.

Mr. Schaub outlined the planning body on a county level; the local body may elect one County Commissioner to its 5-member board.

Mayor Russell Smith proposed a meeting of the mayors of incorporated towns in the county to investigate planning and zoning.

In other business before the Commissioners, Paul George requested that traffic regulating signs be placed on Route 135 alternate in the Swanton area and that the bridge be widened in Swanton. This is under consideration by the board.

Mrs. Ruby Evans requested permission to move the office of Trial Magistrate in Grantsville to her residence for the months of January, February and March of next year. The decision was left up to Mrs. Evans to determine.

The matter of providing shower stalls for the County jail was also discussed at the meeting, with Grover Stemple agreeing to provide estimates of cost at a later time.

Arzella Parsons, County Treasurer, asked the Board to provide her office with a cash register. Mr. Paugh made a motion, which later was made unanimous, that a register be purchased from the National Cash Register Company for $1,413.00.

A crowd of 3,000 anti-war demonstrators assembled to picket a speech by Dean Rusk, but he sneaked in ahead of schedulde and left after the noise subsided.

Mrs. John F. Hoover, a college classmate of the bride, was matron of honor. Dr. Ronald A. Brandon, Carbondale, Ill., served as best man.

Mrs. Huheey was graduated from Allegany High school in Cumberland, and cum laude from Goucher college, and now is in the graduate school of the University of Maryland. She holds the DuPont Teaching Fellowship in chemistry.

Dr. Huheey, who was graduated from the University of Cincinnati and the University of Illinois, serves as an assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Maryland.

Northern's Wayne Umbel was pinned in the first period of the unlimited match to give Kingwood a 30-26 wrestling decision over the Huskies last Thursday at Northern High.

All matches were decided by pins with the exception of two, the 133-pound encounter when Terry Stanton decisioned Neus 5-0, and the 154-pound match when Doug Carey of Northern outpointed Moore 10 to 1.

Scoring on pins for the Huskies were Ronnie Beitzel, Dale Garlitz, Dave Warnick, Paul Bittinger and Doug Carey. It was the first match for coach Jack Lear's charges who will meet Allegany High next Thursday on the Huskies' mats.

Youth Corps Get Grant of Funds

The Western Maryland Economic Opportunity committee which administers neighborhood youth programs in Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties, received a federal grant of $250,000 which will enable the program to operate through December 16, 1968, according to Robert J. Brown, committee president.

The Neighborhood Youth corps has been in continuous operation in the area since December, 1965 and employs 100 youths in the three counties in this federally-backed work-training program.

Since November 10 the corps had been operating at less than full capacity because of lack of a new appropriation from Congress.

In addition to training and work experience, enrollees also receive six hours of fundamental education weekly. In Garrett and Allegany counties trainees are bused to Frostburg State college each Saturday for classes, 9:30 to 3:30. College facilities are made available through cooperation of the faculty and students who conduct the education program. Classes are designed to enable youths to qualify for high school equivalency diplomas.

Joseph Gallen, project director, said all classes would resume January 6. Classes were suspended to coincide with the college Christmas vacation break.

Youths 16 through 21 who dropped out of school get benefit of the program. Since its beginning more than 165 have received fulltime jobs or improved educational attainment. Interested youth may apply at the Department of Employment Security.

MERRY CHRISTMAS GREETINGS TO ALL

Son of God . . .

Who is Jesus Christ? Men have answered this question in many ways, some devoutly and some blasphemously.

Because no single answer can sum up the wonder of God Incarnate, the Church, in seeking to express its faith, has also given many responses. The best answer, however, is that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.

From the beginning, Christians have felt compelled to witness to the unique relationship between Jesus and God the Father. St. Luke tells us that our Lord began in childhood to understand His special relationship with God. When he was only 12 years old He went to the temple to be "about His Father's business".

All the evangelists bear witness to Jesus' calling at His baptism, when the divine voice declared, "Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased".

Again, at His transfiguration, the voice spoke out of the cloud to Peter, James and John, saying, "This is my beloved Son . . . hear ye him".

The ultimate mystery of our Lord's knowledge of

Is Honorary Legion Member

William Chisholm, who resides on state route 135, east of Mt. Lake Park, was recently made an honorary lifetime member of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71. Mr. Chisholm is thought to be the last surviving Spanish American war veteran and he was legally ineligible for active membership in the Legion, since the group was not organized until World War I.

Mr. Chisholm, who farmed in the Sand Flat area for quite a few years, has been an invalid now for quite some time, and resides in his home along the highway with his wife.

Mr. Chisholm served in Cuba and the Philippines during the Spanish American war, being assigned with Co F. 10th Infantry. He was honorably discharged from the army in March of 1903, but continued to work in the Philippines for another five years with the quartermaster corps. He also worked in civil service capacity for ten years before returning to Garrett County in 1920 to farm.

A plaque, in recognition for his service in the Spanish American war, was presented to Mr. Chisholm and also a membership card. The awards were made by Paul Hoye, Mountain District commander of the American Legion. Present for the ceremony were Donald Hinebaugh and Randall Kahl. In the photo are Hinebaugh, Mr. Chisholm and Hoye, left to right.

Anterless Deer Kill Shows Drop

The two-day antlerless deer season in this county showed a decline over the number killed in 1966, according to a report from Harold Harman of the Game and Inland Fish commission at Mt. Nebo station, north of Oakland. The hunting pressure was also termed comparatively light with over 60 percent of the kills on one of the days being by Garrett County hunters.

The kill for the two-day season totaled 309 with 90 being checked on Friday and 219 on Saturday. The kill for the fall period, with 541 during the regular buck season and 8 bow and arrow kills, the total reached 858. Since the bow and arrow season is in effect until January 6, Mr. Harman said there could be an increase.

The division of the checking stations showed the following figures: Oakland, 55 and 73 on Friday and Saturday, for a total of 106; Grantsville, 27 and 65, total 92; Storeys, Deep Creek Lake, 14 and 17, total 31; Friendsville, 9 and 39, total 48; Westernport, 7 and 25, total, 32; grand total, 309. The figures compared to 367 for Allegany county and 242 for Washington county.

The lack of pressure by the hunters was pointed out from a count of autuomobiles in the Swallow Falls state forest. Eighty-nine cars were counted on the first day and 84 on the second.

Last year in this county the first day of the antlerless season showed a kill of 206 with the second day, 341.

Although deer hunting with guns is now illegal in the county, hunters may use bows and arrows for deer of either sex until January 6.

Other seasons still open include rabbit, until January 13; pheasant quail, and grouse, until February 3; and raccoon and opossum, until April 1.

Trappers may take muskrat and mink from November 15 until February 15. Fisherman may catch all species except Walleye, season on walleyes is closed from November 16 until March 31.

Game bird hunters may shoot woodchuck until December 19, geese until January 13, ducks until January 6.

Dr. Custer Provides Christmas Tree For Gov. Agnew

Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Custer and son Michael traveled to Annapolis Monday to present the Governor's lady with a Christmas tree.

The tree, picked from thousands on the Mt. Top Tree Farm owned by Dr. Custer, was sent to Governor Spiro T. Agnew and his family on behalf of the Maryland Christmas Tree Growers Association. Dr Custer was given the honor of supplying the Governor's mansion with a tree this year for the first time.

The eight foot white pine will be used as the Governor's personal tree, according to Mrs. Agnew, who reported that another tree had been set up for the public rooms of the mansion. She intimated that both she and the Governor will aid in decorating the Mt. Top offering when she said that the "big kids' and little kids were going to do the decorating of the pine.

Maust Coal Firm Is Purchased

The Maust Coal and Coke company parent firm of the three area mine operations, was sold over the past week-end to the Air Reduction Company, Inc., for $20,000,000. The transaction involved an exchange of stock.

Maust produces seven million tons of coal annually at 17 mines in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The corporation constructed and operated two modern mechanized mines in the vicinity of Bayard. The first, Alpine mine, was built to supply the eastern power markets. The second, North Branch mine, was constructed to feed coal over the branch line to the Mt. Storm Power station of Virginia Electric and Power company.

The company previously owned and still operates the Chapel Hill mine near the county line, in Preston county. Maust is one of the largest producers of coal in the nation.

Postal Award For Friendsville Is Listed By Brewster

Friendsville and its postal employees have been selected to receive the Postmaster General's "Citation of Merit' for oustanding cooperation in President Lyndon B. Johnson's Natural Beauty Program, it was announced by Senator Daniel B. Brewster this week.

Brewster said he was advised by Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien that the citation is awarded only to those communities whose postal facilities have received superior ratings in rigid inspections by regional postal officials.

The evaluation takes into consideration such factors as unusually attractive grounds and a concerted effort to make the surroundings of the post office as visually interesting as possible. Postal Employees and cttizens of Friendsville were commended for their "superior accomplishments in the beautification effort'.

"Mr. O'Brien has advised me", Brewster said, "that Friendsville will be cited for maintaining its postal facility in such a superior manner that it provides a clean, neat and pleasant place in which the public may conduct its postal business".

Top Young Farmer Will Be Selected

The winner of the Outstanding Young farmer award in Garrett and Allegany county will be named this evening at a meeting of the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Maplehurst Country club.

The project is co-sponsored by the Frostburg Jaycees, Cumberland Pargas, Inc., The Garrett National Bank, Oakland, and the Southern States cooperative of Garrett County. The program is designed to give recognition to a farmer between the ages of 21-35 who has displayed enterprising enthuiasm and accomplishments on a farm operation

There are eight candidates this year. They were interviewed and judged on their accomplishments, progress and civic mindedness. Judges included James Mellenry, county extension agent; and James Simms, 4-H club agent.

Contestants, their wives, judges, co-sponsors will be guests of the Jaycees at the meeting.

The winner will represent the area at Salisbury in January and compete for state honors. The state winner will travel in April to DesMoines, Iowa, where four national winners will be selected.

Respiratory Ills Cause Hi Schools Much Absenteeism

The virus "bug" known only as upper respiratory infection has found its way into Garrett county, causing school absenteeism to jump much higher than usual.

Average number of pupils absent at Southern on a typical day is 30. Last week, the number leaped to 180 for Thursday. Between the antlerless deer season and the virus, 280 pupils were missing from Friday classes.

Northern fared better than Southern at the outset: on Monday, 101 were out compared with Southern's 150. Tuesday NHS noted 54 absences compared with Southern's 100. The tables may be turning, however; on Wednesday, Southern listed less than 100 out of school, while Northern's total had gone back to 101.

This "bug" has caused some schedule changing in various school programs, and has lessened attendance at usually well-attended school affairs.

This appears to be the same type of viral infection which caused a 34 percent absentee rate at Allegany High school in Cumberland during the past few weeks.

Dr. Elmer L. Hill, acting county health officer, had recommended that persons noticing sore throats, hoarseness, and fever get plenty of rest, and stay on a proper diet. Added precautions are drinking plenty of lluids and taking aspirin, much the same treatment as for a cold, physicians say.

One of the worst manifestations of the infection is the unusually high fever it causes. Small children seem especially vulnerable, and fevers of 104 and 105 degrees have been reported.

With All Those Directions He Was Still Wrong

This is the way a Christmas card was addressed that came to the Oakland post office:

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Browning
Oakland
About 8 miles west of Oakland
He drives a Chrysler Imperial Part of the time he lives in Washington, D. C.
He is a grandson of a great hunter.

With all those directions the card should have gotten there easily. Except the residence is north of Oakland—not west.

Dr. Benjamin Spock was arrested as an anti-war demonstrator.

State's Attorney Has Another Busy Year, Report Shows

A report of the activities of Fred A. Thayer, state's attorney, given to the Board of County Commissioners on Tuesday, showed another busy year for that office. It was for the fifth full year of his term.

There have been 65 criminal trial cases docketed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County which represents an increase of 63 percent over the preceding year, and 21 criminal appeals cases docketed.

The major categories and number of cases are as follows:

Alcoholic beverages, 23; fraud, 10; assault and battery, 6; false pretense, 4; post conviction, 3; junk yard violations, 3; kidnapping 3; rape, 3; robbery, 2; arson, 1; automobile larceny, 1; grand larceny, 1; assault with intent to rape, 1; lunatic examination, 1; receiving stolen goods, 1; welfare fraud, 1; forgery, 1.

Two grand jury sessions were conducted and, in addition, four paternity cases were docketed.

Trial magistrate court docket included 100 cases docketed requiring the appearance of the state's attorney and involved preliminary hearings, non-support, assaults and battery, alcoholic beverage violations and numerous other miscellaneous cases. Motor vehicle offenses are not included in these figures.

Mr. Thayer again emphasized the cooperation of the sheriff's office and the Maryland State police in the investigation of criminal offenses. He added that "without the cooperation of the law enforcement agencies, the prosecution of criminal cases would be impossible'.

Smoke Damages Ed. Smouse Home

A smouldering fire in a kitchen wastebasket caused damage in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smouse, west Pennington street, last Thursday afternoon.

Oakland firemen were alerted about 3:40 p. m., but the flames had been extinguished by the Smouse children by the time the firemen had arrived. They estimated damage of $300 on the building. Firemen removed the smoke by use of a fan. They said smoke damage was extensive.

Oakland firemen also were called last Friday afternoon to the residence of Clifford R. Anderson, Jr., Spruce street, Mt. Lake Park, where an automobile was on fire from what was termed defective wiring. The flames were out on arrival. The loss was estimated at $25

A new antituberculosis drug is available for prescription.

Judy Simpson Recognized As Outstanding English Student

Judith Simpson of Southern has been cited as one of the outstanding high school students of English in the country. The National Council of Teachers of English has named her a 1967 national runner up in its annual Achievement Awards competition.

Judith Simpson

Each year, 8,000 students from across the nation are nominated for this citation.

To qualify, those nominated took three tests. The first was an IQ test and the second was a writing test. During the third examination each student was given a sealed envelope. This contained the subject they were to write about. Their knowledge for this was taken from their past reading experience.

Judy was given a scroll of recognition and the Southern English department received a certificate of merit.

Her name was included in a booklet which was sent to all colleges in the United States. This practically guarantees entrance to any college of Judy's choice. In previous years 99% of the Awards winners entered the college of their choice and about 80% of those applying for scholarships received financial aid.

Citizen Meetings Attract Very Few

The meetings scheduled during the past few days where interested citizens could discuss proposed legislative bills and talk over fiscal affairs of the county, created little interest, according to B. O. Aiken, House of Delegates member.

Mr. Aiken said there were no more than fifteen at any one of four meetings set, and the discussion centered around problems that concerned action by the County Commissioners, rather than the county's legislators.

Allen S. Paugh, president of the County Commissioners attended all four meetings. The other two commissioners, Hubert Friend and J. Ross Sines, were not in attendance at any of the four.

Meetings were scheduled at the Route 40 school, Friendsville, Oakland, and Kitzmiller. State Senator George R. Hughes, Cumberland, was in attendance.

Mr. Aiken said there was a lot of sentiment and discussion concerning the community college, and about more adequate pay for teachers, both of which are in the province of the County Commissioners.

There was some sentiment for a stronger bad check law, improvement of roads, and a request for merit pay plan for classified workers who are employed by the county.

There was some talk of the importance of the highway, Markleysburg, through Friendsville and thence to the junction of U. S. 219, at Bear Creek. The road from Friendsville to Bear Creek is a county maintained road, while the other is maintained by the state.

The 1968 legislature will convene January 17.

Schools To Close

Public schools of the county will close on Friday, December 22, at 12:30 p. m., it was announced from the office of the Board of Education, and remain closed during the Christmas holidays, reopening again on Tuesday, January 2, at the regular time.

Named Dental Officer

Dr. William Savage, DDS, Oakland, was named vice president of the Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society for the coming year at a recent meeting of the group. Dr. Richard E. Bolyard, LaVale, was named president.

Trustees Agree On Yoder Site With Conditions

Ask For Their Share Of Funds Authorized By Law

Members of the County Board of Trustees for the Community college, who are in reality members of the Board of Education, at a meeting on Monday, agreed to compromise with the two county commissioners on the Yoder farm site for the college, but only on condition the two commissioners accept five conditions concerning the furnishing of authorized funds.

The board issued a statement following the Monday meeting which listed the conditions in detail and requested a reply not later than January 2.

Members of the Board had maintained their belief that the Glotfelty-Wagner site was the ideal one for the college. The two commissioners, John Ross Sines and Hubert Friend, had finally agreed on the Yoder farm as the site which they would approve. Sines earlier had favored the White Face Farm but agreed to select the Yoder farm following a meeting of citizens. The third member of the commissioners, Allen S. Paugh, president, had supported the position of the Board of Trustees all along for the Glotfelty-Wagner site.

The statement issued by the board, follows:

Statement By Board

While the members of the Board of Trustees feel that the Glotfelty-Wagner site is the ideal one for the college and would serve the best interests of the college over the years, and would also prove to be the least expensive in the long run for the taxpayers, in order not to be charged with taking an arbitrary stand against a compromise that might prevent continuing the delay in progress toward the development of the college, the Board of Trustees agreed to compromising with the two Commissioners on the Yoder farm site, but only on the following conditions:

1. That the Board of County Commissioners provide at once sufficient funds to appraise and

Cancellations of Christmas Mail A Record Breaker

It has been a record-breaking Christmas season for the six clerks at the Oakland post office according to statistics. The postal staff has been working at least two hours of overtime a day for the past two weeks to get all the cards, letters and packages processed and delivered in time for Christmas.

As predicted, Monday, December 18, was the peak day for mail cancellations. On that day, 20,263 letters were run through the cancelling machine, 3,000 more than the highest day of last year.

Last Thursday, slightly more than 13,000 cancellations were recorded. On Friday, 14,000 were recorded, and Saturday's tally showed 18,000 cancelled envelopes, nearly the same amount as least year.

On Tuesday of this week, just over 13,000 letters were processed, with Wednesday also showing a great drop from Monday with approximately 13,000 cancellations.

Oakland postmaster Guy Wm. Hinebaugh stressed the fact that all packages addressed to persons within the Oakland area are being processed and delivered the same day they are received. This will be true of packages received on December 23 also, according to Mr. Hinebaugh.

Happy, the dog, is getting lots of overtime, too, says Mr Hinebaugh. Not quite as much as the crew who worked from 4 a. m. until 1 a. m the following morning, but she still puts in more hours than uusal.

Another Henline Joins State Force

Following in his father's footsteps is Neil Henline, 21, of Mt. Lake Park. Neil, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Henline, was recently accepted as a State Police recruit.

He will begin his training at the Pikesville Police Academy on January 2, 1968. 22 years after his father's entrance at the same school.

Mr. Henline took the required written test on September 30, and the physical examination on December 12. He received notification of acceptance on December 18.

The new recruit, only recently discharged from the Army, must undergo 21 weeks of training before he can qualify as a member of the State Police force (and a chip off the old block.)

FUN FOR KIDS . . . Make-and-play toys are high on the youngsters' gift lists this holiday season. One such unit enables kids to make all sorts of creepy people and things, using a plastic liquid that is heated and poured into a mold. The heating unit is UL-approved.

A good gift for a shut-in could be a flowering plant. The miracle of blooming p... adds a special touch to the holiday season. A plant ... presses your message ... feeling and meaning.

Cranberries Are American Treat

Cranberries are as traditional as apple pie. Known to the Indians as Ibimi, or "bitter berry", cranberries were pounded into a paste called pemmican, which was used as poultices on wounds.

Noting the berries to be the favorite food of cranes, the Pilgrims called them craneberries. In true American tradition, this was eventually changed to cranberries.

Cranes, of course, are welcome in cranberry bogs — but other birds are encouraged. Bogs are often lined with birdhouses — homes for swallows, which eat destructive insects.

Along with the birds, the bees play a welcome role in cranberry production. The pollen is too heavy to be carried by the wind so bees are necessary to pollinate the flowers.

IN NEWFOUNDLAND

The people in Newfoundland fish during Christmas week. Then, it is customary, they bring their catch to be sold. The funds from the fish sale are contributed to their local parish.

SYMBOL

On Christmas morning in the 18th Century, choir boys carried baskets of apples pierced with sprigs of rosemary to symbolize the fall of man and the hope of redemption.

We wish you a Merry Christmas

... our host of friends and neighbors, we extend our very best wishes for a most joyous holiday, and offer our deep appreciation for your continued loyalty and good will.

In other business, David J. and Mildred E. Everett were disallowed their appeal for a lower assessment on their property. Final assessment of $6,200.00 was affirmed by the commissioners.

Edwin Michaels asked for improvements and better maintenance work on Michael's Road. The Commissioners said they would investigate the road's condition before any action is taken.

CHRISTMAS VILLAGE

Torrington, Connecticut, erects for it's children in December a Christmas village, where Santa and his elves work on toys, surrounded by shelves loaded with gifts. Santa chats with the youngsters and provides each one with a gift.

His sleigh and reindeer are likewise an attraction and include Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer. The Nativity scene with the Holy Family is lighted by a Star of Bethlehem.

INDIAN CRANBERRIES

The American Indians made a paste from cranberries called "Pemmican". This was used as a poultice for cuts and wounds. They used the juice of the berry for red dye. Eventually the cranberry was to become a tradition as part of the Christmas menu.

Flagstaff, Ariz., received 47 inches of snow during the recent snow storm.

TO SEE CHRISTMAS

Open Up Your Heart And Mind

Sights and sounds tell us that Christmas is near.

Mistletoe and evergreen in doorways and windows . . . Christmas cards and the sound of the postman at the door . . . street-corner Santas and the aroma of good food from the kitchen . . . toys in store windows and the sound of music wherever we go; these are the sights and the sounds of Christmas.

We must look beyond these obvious trappings of the season to really see Christmas . . . to realize the miracle of Christmas. We must see Christmas through our heart and mind.

Christmas, as the birthday of Christ, marks the anniversary of mankind's greatest heritage. This heritage, manifested in the life and death of Christ upon earth, brings into perspective with unassuming dignity and finality the realization that God has bestowed upon mankind the inalienable right to merit eternal salvation.

So great is this heritage that despots, dictators and disbelievers have come and gone for generations, and while they have attacked, oppressed and persecuted the miracle of Christmas, its simple truth has held strong and firm in the hearts and the minds of mankind.

The miracle of Christmas is the world's one, single dominating influence, the simple affirmation of man's heritage and dignity.

Open up your heart and mind — and see the miracle of Christmas.

Protecting The Dollar

In arguing for a tax increase, the Johnson administration in recent weeks has taken the position that it is needed as a signal to the world that the United States will fight inflation and will not go the way of Great Britain, which has devalued its money.

Certainly the U. S. should be signaling to other responsible countries that the dollar will be maintained at its present level. More importantly, people at home need to be reassured on this point. The U. S. government has a solemn duty to uphold the worth of the currency and not to destroy the value of savings and other financial holdings.

But what is the best way to signal this intention to people at home and abroad? Is a tax increase the best way? Thoughtful citizens may properly deny that a tax increase, without corresponding cuts in public spending, is an adequate signal.

The dollar is threatened for one reason, namely, because the U. S. government for a long period of years has been lending or giving away more money that it earns in revenue. It has been pumping money into wasteful projects overseas and at home. It has been estimated, for example, that over $100 billion has been spent on foreign aid since the end of World War II. The Johnson administration, while allegedly concerned about the balance of payments, is continuing to support this kind of aid on a tremendous scale. India, for instance, is virtually fed by the United States, which sends vast quantities of wheat to that country.

Yet this spending on free food to India has not done anything fundamental to help the Indians save themselves. The Indians, caught up in a tragic mess of curious religion and equally curious economics, have wasted what has been loaned or given by the United States. India's problems become more acute every month.

At the same time, the leaders of the Great Society are insisting that the War on Poverty must be escalated and that a vast financial appeasement operation must be conducted for those who are in a mood to riot in the nation's cities. Influential liberals call for a domestic Marshall Plan that will involve the spending of more billions for rebuilding of urban "ghetto" areas at government expense.

These expenditures, domestic and foreign, are undermining the value of the American dollar. The reason is that they are non-productive expenditures. Unlike money spent on building a new plant in the United States, the federal projects don't lead to any financial return for the American people. They constitute a form of blackmail of this nation, whereby money is spent simply to keep the restless from commiting havoc.

The United States cannot afford to pay this kind of tribute forever. Rich as this nation is in material and human resources, its economy is not a bottomless well. Our society cannot get around basic economic laws. In our lifetime, we have seen the U. S. dollar devalued through unwise federal spending from 100 cents on the dollar to less than 50 cents. The grim prospect is that a more direct and speedy form of devaluation may be required unless immediate action is taken to bring spending in line with the nation's income.

The burden of defense is an immense one. Yet the Congress cannot get rid of this burden at a time when the enemies of freedom and the capitalist system are warring against the U. S. Thus the United States has fixed expenditures in the defense area that are inescapable. Reduction in public costs, designed to bolster domestic and foreign confidence in the dollar, has to come out of the innumerable non-essential spending items that have been added to the budget during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

We have seen the result of continuous spending of more than is received — as has been the case in the United States for 32 of the last 38 years — in two formerly great nations of the world in recent years. One of these nations, France, accepted a dictatorship. The other, Great Britain, accepted second- or third-rate ranking among nations, with still a very uncertain future.

A $2.7 billion military pay raise is expected next week.

A Phantom jet crashed into a Tucson food store; first reports indicate five persons were killed.

Snow rescue efforts in the western states have been hampered by a new storm center building up there.

IN NEW ZEALAND

New Zealanders spend their Christmas Day in much the same way as it is in the United States and Europe.

Son of God . . .

His relationship to the Father is hidden from us. We cannot know how He came to His knowledge that He was the Son of God, aside from these occasional moments of revelation.

And yet we have a clue to their tenderness and intimacy in our Lord's use of the Aramaic word Abba, a child's way of addressing his father. Only Jesus could call God "Abba" because He alone knew the perfect love and trust toward God that a youngster has for a beloved parent.

By His obedience to the will of His heavenly Father, our Lord showed Himself a worthy Son. His profound intuition of Sonship was embodied in all that He said and did in His misson and ministry. And the Father did not forsake His Son in His time of suffering and death. He raised Him up in power and authority to His right hand to share the divine rule that all who seek His Kingdom may become obedient to the Father, "sons of God . . . . that believe on his name". —The Episcopal Foundation, Chicago.

Longing, dear one for you.

Appalachian Gain Explained In Talk

Maryland's allotment to Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties under the Appalachian Act will total $7 million by next June 30. That point was made by Daniel S. J. Rohrer, Jr., chief of Western Maryland Regional Development office of the Maryland Department of Economic development. He discussed the plan Tuesday afternoon at a meeting in Cumberland. Allen S. Paugh, county commissioner, was one of those present.

Among projects listed was the construction of Corridor E which would link Garrett County with the Hagerstown and Baltimore-Washington areas.

The development plan identified good potential for recreation development in the Deep Creek lake area.

Mr. Rohrer also told citizens that the Oakland-Deep Creek lake were selected as secondary growth centers in the general area.

A status report showed that Maryland allocations in the fiscal year which started July 1, 1965, were $2,225,335. Under section 203, for land stabilization and conservation $92,000 was approved in fiscal year 1966 for the three counties and in fiscal 1967 $45,000 for Garrett and Allegany counties.

Section 214 listed all supplements to grants-in-aid. Included were $59,700 under Title III, for all three counties, $109,110 approved for an Agricultural center in this county; $363,720 for Garrett County Memorial hospital, $132,301 for Little Youghiogheny watershed in this county.

Stanley Snyder, Mt. Lake Park, was injured early Sunday morning in a one-car accident at the northern edge of Oakland. He is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital with multiple broken ribs, a pelvis bone and bruises.

The accident occurred as Snyder, traveling alone toward town, apparently lost control of the vehicle and ran off the pavement.

Sp-4 Ronald R. Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Riley of Rosedale, arrived at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport this morning from the Army base in Arizona. His leave will be over the Christmas holidays until Jan. 4, when he will return to Ariz.

Allegany Trips Rams' Wrestlers

Paul Miller of Southern High flattened Allegany's John Dowell in 12 seconds for a 145-lb. class victory last night but the Camper wrestling squad defeated the Highlanders 20 to 18 in a dual match at Cumberland.

Miller's abrupt defeat of Dowell was Southern's second of the series up to that point.

The first match ended with Tom George pinning the Camper's Terry Platt in 1:18. The victory was Allegany's second of the season with no losses. Southern's won-loss record now stands at 0-3.

For Southern Ed Friend floored his opponent along with George and Miller. Friend toppled Kirk Mann in 3:22 of the 165-pound clash. Scoring pins for Allegany were Rustlee Shacklee over Gary Reams, 120-pound; and Chuck Schoenadel over Randall Harvey in the unlimited class.

Winning on decision for Southern were Bradley Reams over Frank Billard in the 112-lb. encounter. Winning on decisions for the Campers were Allen Yockey, Bob Pritt, Mike Galliway, Alan Angelus and Gary Shook.

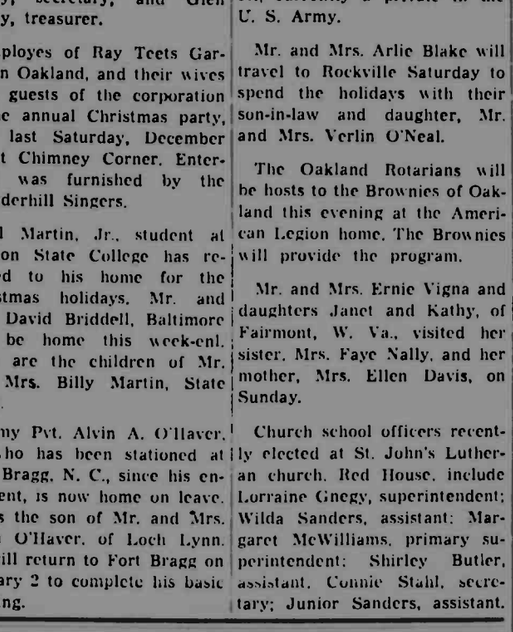
Moderate Month Being Experienced

Weather for the past week has generally been moderate, considering that this is December.

Last Thursday's morning temperature reading of 42 dropped ten degrees by the early afternoon hours, with rain showers on and off throughout the day. Friday brought cloudy skies along with its high of 24. Although Friday's skies cleared during the afternoon, Saturday dawned with a cloud-laden sky and chilly temperatures.



A warming trend began Saturday night, allowing Sunday to be a real "sun day" and bringing a high of 56. Monday, temperatures managed to climb to the low 60's despite lowering skies and rain sprinkles.

At 8 a. m. Tuesday the thermometer registered 41 degrees. Sunny skies contributed to the 52 degree high. A heavy frost covered the ground Wednesday morning thanks to a cold 23 degrees. Most of the day was sunny, with a high of 53.

Today's rainy skies appeared to be clearing up, which could allow the 8 a. m. 44 degree reading to again rise to the 50's.

21 Killed On State Highways

Twenty-one persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Seven of those killed were drivers, ten were passengers, and four were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in nine of the deaths, speed in twelve, and "driver error" in eighteen.

In commenting on the highway traffic problems which can be anticipated during the next few weeks, Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police, said, "Highway accidents are tragic no matter at what time of year they occur. The suffering associated with them is just as great in August as it is in December. But it seems especially tragic when the spirit of 'peace on earth, good will toward men' is shattered by them during the Christmas-New Year holiday season."

VAN S. DEEMS

Van S. Deems, 96, died Tuesday afternoon, December 19, in the 4-M Nursing home in Canton, O., following an extended illness.

He was a timber cutter in the Maryland and West Virginia areas, moving from Oakland to Ohio a number of years ago.

He was born September 8, 1872, at Volcana, W. Va., a son of the late Izara and Elizabeth Nutter Deems. He resided at the Foster Raines residence for twenty years, route 1, Minerva, O.

Deceased attended the Church of the Brethren at Fairview while residing in this area.

"SILENT NIGHT"

"Silent Night" was first sung at Christmas in 1818.

The church organ in an Austrian village had broken down — as a result of mice, so the story goes. Father Joseph Mohr wrote the poem and his organist, Franz Gruber, composed the music.

The congregation, which had been saddened because there would be no music for Christmas, sang "Silent Night" to a guitar accompaniment.

SAINT NICK—PIRATES FRIEND

Practically everyone knows that jolly old St. Nick was a real-life bishop in ancient Turkey, the original Santa Claus who liked to distribute anonymous gifts. Yet, it is not so well recorded that he was also the patron saint of pickpockets, robbers, and pirates.

This oddity came about when St. Nicholas intervened to persuade a robber band to return stolen treasure. Pirates looked to St. Nick for accurate tips on the weather, even flew his supposed likeness on flags of their ships. In later years, swindlers in France were popularly referred to as the "Knights of St. Nicholas."

St. Nicholas was apparently very wealthy and exceedingly generous. The best-known gift-giving tale concerning this first Santa Claus — bags of gold secretly thrown into a house to provide three luckless daughters with dowries — is today symbolized by the sign of the pawnbroker — three gold balls.

The good bishop supposedly possessed miraculous powers. While on a voyage to the Holy Land, he calmed the waters of the sea to save a drowning sailor.

Sailors and pirates adopted him as their patron saint. Pirates even stole some of his relics from a Turkish church and took them to Bari, Italy, where a church was build for him in 1087.

Born in southern Turkey, of wealthy Greek parents, Nicholas joined the church and became bishop of Myra. It is said that he went on a pilgrimage to Jerusalem and was there imprisoned by Emperor Diocletian for his faith. Later released by the Christian Emperor Constantine, he returned to Myra, where he died on December 6, 342.

Twelfth Night End Of Season

There are many ancient and modern rituals surrounding the observance of the Twelfth Night or Epiphany, January 6, which marks the end of the Christmas holiday season.

Epiphany was first observed in memory of the baptism of Christ. It was first mentioned in A.D. 194 and by the 4th Century was a widely accepted holiday. Today, Epiphany has a three-fold meaning; the visit of the Wise men to Jesus; the baptism of Jesus; and the miracle at Cana when Jesus changed water to wine at the wedding feast.

In 9th century England, King Alfred decreed that the Christmas season would include Christmas day and the 12 days following.

The Twelfth Night cake, along with the tradition of burning Christmas greenery on January 6, was in vogue when Charles II ascended the throne.

Latin peoples regard Epiphany as not only a solemn religious festival but also the beginning of the pre-Lenten carnival season. Mexican observance of Epiphany includes a march of the devout to the shrine of the miraculous Lord of Chalma in a valley southwest of Mexico City.

A January 6 ritual at Tarpon Springs, Florida, involves blessing of the Greek sponge divers and casting of a gold crucifix into the waters to signify the baptism of Christ.

Since Christmas is traditionally a season of joy and happiness, special consideration should be given to the "do" and "don't" safety rules we should observe year-round. Don't get carefree and increase the possibility of an unhappy accident.

First, decorate wisely. Do not use cotton, paper or any flammable material when you trim the family tree. Do not place electric trains or other electric powered devices around the tree. Metalic tinsel falling across the track could create a short circuit and cause the train transformer to burn.

Be sure that all toys are of nonflammable materials. Some imported toys are made of nitrocellulose (which looks like celluloid or plastic) and this material burns with surprising ferocity.

Choose only electrical toys and tree lighting sets which are laboratory approved.

Do not use lighted candles near the tree, or in windows. Keep curtains or any other flammable material at windows pulled back at least 6 inches from any electric candles or wreaths.

On Christmas day, keep a carton handy and dispose of all gift wrappings promptly. Don't let them pile up around the tree, near the fireplace, or any heating device.

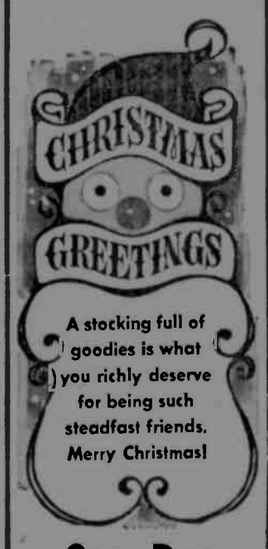
Have yourself a happy, accident-free holiday.

PAINT TOY BOXES

Children love to play with boxes, so why not decorate them for Christmas gifts? A wooden box painted in bright colors turns into a pretty — and practical — toy chest. Turn it upside down, top with a colorful cushion, and you have a child's hassock. Design several like circus cages — or, a kiddie train. Stretch your imagination and create more Christmas fun for your children.

In The Dog Pound

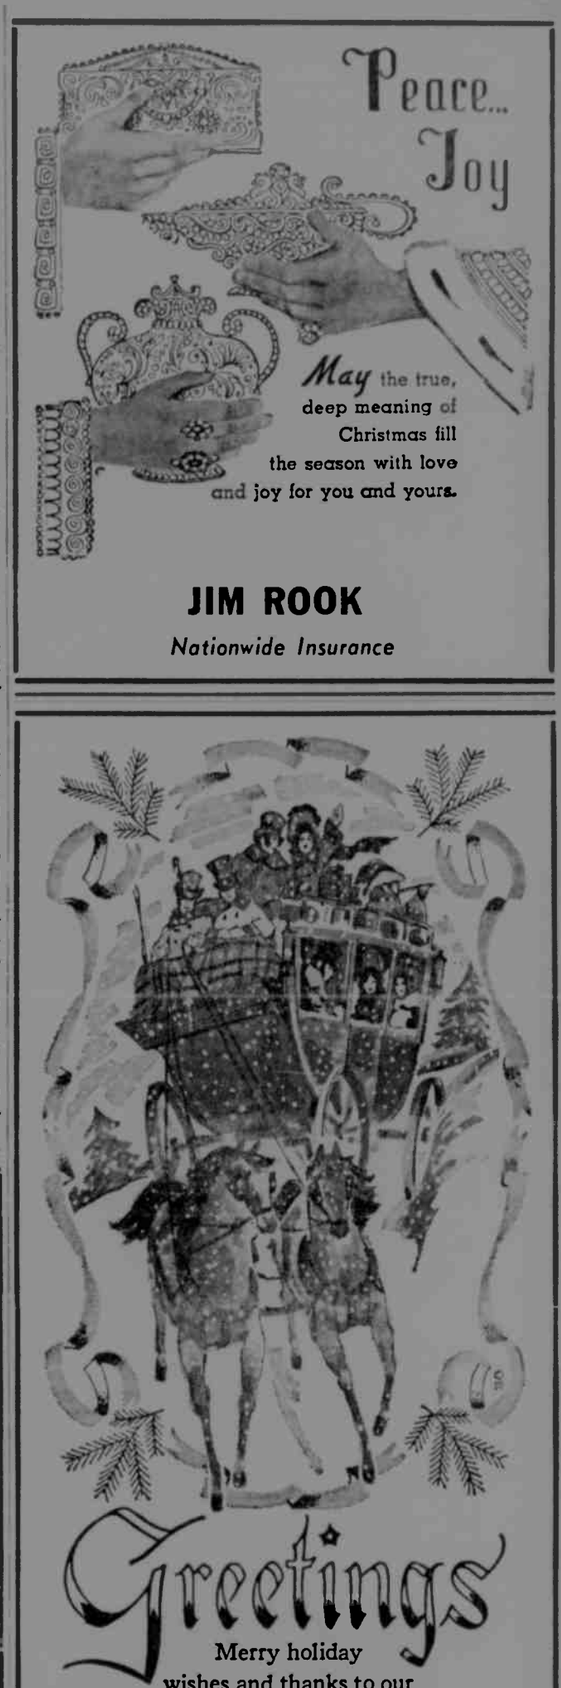
Seven dogs are currently inmates of Oakland's dog pound in the custody of Ellis (Dish) Cogley, city dog warden.



A full grown, 24 inch brown and white collie female has been in the pond for several weeks.

Two dogs were picked up in the Town parking lot last week, one, a light brown and white collie female, appears to be only about three or four months old. She was wearing a red collar when picked up on Saturday.

The other dog wearing a brown collar, was imponded Monday. He is a small mixed breed, mostly brown with some black and white hairs scattered over his coat.



A whole family of dogs, two male and one female, aged about eight months, are also in the pound. Each is approximately 16 inches tall, and appears to have some hound ancestry.

The final inmate of the pound is a small rabbit dog, black, white and brown in color, which has been used to hunt rabbits. Anyone taking her gets as a bonus three puppies, born Saturday night, says Mr. Cogley.

A Very Merry Christmas

Here's to your happiness on this heart-warming Christmas Day. We're delighted and heartily grateful for the sincere loyalty and good will of our fine customers. Many thanks.

LEIGHTON BROS.

Oakland, Maryland

Throughout the Christian world, Christmas is THE holiday, universally celebrated, universally recognized.

Probably no library in the world could house the volume of material that is written about this great holiday in a single season.

Because so much has been written — and will again be written this holiday season — we must consider it remarkable that the story of the Nativity has continued a simple and unaffected narrative — "For God so loved the world, He gave His only begotten Son."

Traditions and customs are subject to the changing times. Yet, amid the laughter and festivities, whatever carols are sung, however gifts are exchanged, there remains forever unaffected the simple story of the birth at Bethlehem. This is the story of Christmas — an event which took place nearly 2,000 years ago — the birth of a Redeemer and the promise of eternal salvation.

Through centuries of translation, of telling and re-telling, the meaning of Christmas remains simple and universal. Christmas is the birthright of every man.

CHRISTMAS PRAYER

St. Francis of Assisi is credited with making popular the Christmas Nativity scene. He is also author of a prayer inspired by the Christmas spirit:

"Lord, make me an instrument of thy peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love. Where there is injury, pardon. Where there is doubt, faith. Where there is sadness, joy. O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood, as to understand; to be loved, as to love. For it is in giving that we receive, it is in pardoning that we are pardoned. And it is in dying that we are born in Eternal Life.

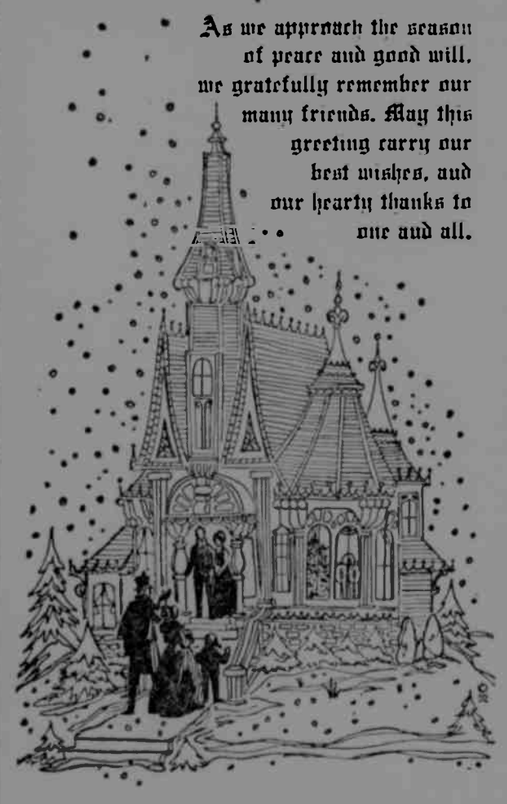
SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco's first tree was made in 1850 from Douglas fir branches wired to a stick by a German Wine proprietor.

By Any Name, Santa's The Same

He's Santa Claus in America but he has many different names around the world. He is called "Father Frost" in Russia. Children call him "Kriss Kingle" in Germany. "Nice Old Father" is what the Chinese children call Santa Claus and in Norway Children expect gifts from an elf called "Jul Tonten".

"Pere Noel" is who the French youngsters receive presents from and in Holland the name is "Sinterklass".



The world has many more "Santas", but whatever his name, wherever he exists, he brings happiness to children.

CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS

The origin of many Christmas customs can be traced back to prehistoric times. Some Pagan customs were modified to fit into the Christian observances. But, as official Christian Holidays, Christmas and New Year's had a long struggle to become firmly established.

GREETINGS

As we approach the season of peace and good will, we gratefully remember our many friends. May this greeting carry our best wishes, and our hearty thanks to one and all.

Some 1,500 Given Christmas Treat

Approximately 1,500 children were given Christmas treats at the annual affair last Saturday afternoon held by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. The number was not as great as in previous years.

Santa Claus was on hand to take requests of children concerning their wishes for Christmas. Santa arrived at the scene on an old fashioned sleigh.

Assisting in the distribution of the treat were members of the National Guard, the Boy Scouts, and others. Contributions which made the treat possible, were provided by merchants, business and professional people.

The list of donors, in addition to those previously published, included Dr. F. D. Custer, James P. Rook, Dr. Joseph Alvarez, Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy, Oakland Furniture Exchange, Helbig's Jewelry, Oakland Electric and Radio, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club, Sharps Motor, C. and M. Pontiac, Del Builders, Inc., W. E. Shirer and Son, Woodmen of the World, Dr. Andrew E. Mance, 219 Drive-In, Inc., and Browning's Inc.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

Books have been presented in recent weeks in memory of Edward Householder, Mrs. Nora Sands, Albert Schaible, Milton E. Pritts, Randall Shaffer, and Merle Willard.

As the Christmas holidays begin and students get busy on term papers, that most helpful of all reference sets, the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature" is getting especially heavy use.

The "Readers' Guide", as most students know, is the key to locating the great variety of information to be found in magazines. It indexes articles in 128 different magazines under subject and author.

The library subscribes to 74 of these periodicals and maintains a file of back issues of each of them for a period of four to eight years. The library receives 100 magazines altogether. They may be borrowed for a period of one week. For timely and easily-found information on a wide range of subjects, the library's magazine file is an excellent source.

Accident Farmer Recognized For High Corn Yield

Guy Broadwater of Accident was given special recognition on December 8, for producing a corn yield of 180 bushels per acre. This is nearly triple the Maryland state average corn yield for the past seven years. Altogether, Broadwater harvested 720 bushels of number 2 corn from a measured four acres for his 180 bushel average.

In producing his exceptional yield he used the 4-way cross-hybrid, Funk's G-17A, planted in 34 inch rows, with 23,000 plants per acre at harvest. He fertilied with 100 pounds of actual nitrogen, 140 pounds of actual phosphate, and 100 pounds of actual potash per acre.

Guy Broadwater is the Funk's G-Hybrid corn dealer in Accident. He was presented with a Documented Yield Award following certification of his yield by Ivan Kauffman, District Representative from New Wilmington, Pennsylvania.

The information was released by George Johnson, agronomist and former Crops and Soils editor of Successful Farming magazine.

Eglon Family Regional Winner In FFBL Program

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, of Eglon, were named regional winners of the Farming for Better Living program at a meeting in Morgantown, December 8. They received a $50 savings bond.

Winners of FFBL councils for 1967 in Monongalia, Preston, Marion, Taylor and Garrett counties, farm leaders and businessmen attended the luncheon. County winners of the five counties were recognized and presented with a $25 savings bond by L. Bush Swisher, Power company agricultural representative and FFBL project director.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Emerson Bishoff and son George Bishoff, county winners in November, were among those introduced.

Dr. B. L. Coffindaffer, Parkersburg, dean of Extension for the University Appalachian center, gave the main talk. Last year's regional winner family was Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Buckel, of this county.

The Winters family, 1963 Preston County winners, lives on a 165-acre farm. They operate a 26-cow Holstein and Guernsey dairy herd that averaged 10,807 pounds of milk per cow last year. The herd record has increased more than 1,000 pounds of milk per cow since 1963. Mr. and Mrs. Winters raise their own herd replacement heifers from artificially bred cows. A rigid system of culling is practiced.

The farm is operated under a complete soil conservation district plan that includes contour farming, liming and fertilizing according to test; woodlot-timberland improved water supply for livestock.

Mr. and Mrs. Winters have four children, two in West Virginia university. Cary, a married son, will graduate in agricultural engineering the latter part of this month. Linda is a sophomore at WVU. They have two daughters, Rebecca 12, and Mary, 10, at home.

In a lowly manger, hewn from the rocky hillside of Bethlehem, a Child was born . . . and herald angels sang. To the manger came humble shepherds, in wonder and rejoicing. Three Wise Men journeyed from the East, bearing precious gifts. And over all shone the miraculous light of a Star. In the words of the Christmas story, that light lives and shines across the ages, bringing hope and promise to all mankind. May the spiritual joys of the season bless you and yours, abundantly on this Christmas Day and forevermore.

Candles & Goblets Upside Down

Goblets become candleholders when they are turned upside down. Stand them in a row on a window sill. Let them light the living room. March them down the middle of the smorgasbord table. They are bright and effective and very quick and easy to arrange. Inside each goblet, place a large Christmas ball, each one a different color. Secure 10 inch red candles to the bottoms of the goblets (which are now the tops) with candle wax or floral clay, hide it with sprigs of evergreen. If you use candlewax, decorate or not as you wish — the wax matches the candle and does not show.

SUPERSTITIOUS PIE

Several writers say that mince pie originated in Germany, while others say that it's beginning is lost in the annals of history. it was however, an essential part of the Yultide celebration in early England.

Old superstitions held that any person refusing to eat mince pie would be unlucky for the coming year. Those who did partake, would have the same number of happy months during the year as the number of houses at which he ate mince pie.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws.

Questions and Answers

Q. I don't have a maid anymore but you're still sending me the Social Security tax form I used to fill out for her. How can I get this stopped?

A. If you do not expect to be paying any taxable wages to household help in the future write "final return" on the bottom of the Form 942 you received in the mail and send it back. Your name will then be removed from the mailing list.

Q. I've been renting a house to my parents at less than I usually would get. Can I deduct as a loss on my tax return the difference between what they pay me and what I would otherwise receive?

A. No. The difference is really a contribution to your parents' support and is not deductible. In addition, depreciation and other expenses of property rented to a relative or friend at less than fair rental value may only be deducted to the extent of the rent received.

The contribution you are making to your parents in the form of reduced rental can be counted as a contribution to their support. If you provide over half their suppport for the year, and other tests are met, you may claim them as dependents for tax purposes.

Q. I'm a recent widow. Is there any change I should make in my withholding?

A. No. You need not make any change in your withholding in the year of your husband's death. However, if your husband was claiming withholding exemptions for you, your dependents (if any) and himself, you may file a new Form W-4, claiming such withholding exemptions. Of course, you may not claim withholding exemption for your husband after the year of his death. Furthermore, for withholding purposes if you qualify as a surviving spouse, for the two years after your husband's death the tax will be withheld at the same rates as for married persons.

Q. Is there any penalty for not paying your estimated tax?

A. Yes. There will be a charge of 6 percent per year on the unpaid amount of any installment.

Q. Our church is having a special offering this Thanksgiving and is asking for contributions in food as well as money. Will either be tax deductible?

A. Yes, contributions of food or money to a qualified organization such as a church will be deductible. Gifts to individuals are not deductible.

Q. My return was audited and the agent wouldn't accept checks made out to cash as proof of some of my deductions. Why?

A. To substantiate a deductible expense your records must indicate, among other things, the purpose of the expense, and to whom paid, as well as the amount.

A check made out to cash or to yourself gives no indication by itself of the nature of the expense. This kind of check must be supported by other records, such as receipts, to be useful in proving any deductions you claim.

A check made out to a specific organization or person, a charity or a doctor for example, may well be sufficient to establish that a deductible expenditure has been made.

Q. I've taken over my mother's support from my brother. Who gets to claim her as a dependent this year?

A. Under the support test for claiming a dependent, the person who provides more than the total support for the calendar year is entitled to claim the exemption. To determine whether you or your brother qualify, add up your mother's food, clothing, shelter and other expenses for the year. Then find out whether you or your brother supplied more than half of them.

If neither you nor your brother furnished more than half of this support but your combined contributions totaled over half the support, then you may want to consider the multiple support agreement. Such an agreement enables one of you to claim your mother as a dependent providing certain conditions are met.

Be sure to check this provision of the law, as well as the other dependency tests, before you file your return next year.

Q. I was just billed for a tax I've already paid. What should I do about it?

A. Return the bill along with a copy of your cancelled check or money order. Frequently IRS receives payment that cannot be identified and this might have happened in your case. Another possibility is that your payment was received too late in our processing cycle to make the necessary adjustment in the billing notices.

A good practice to follow when paying a tax bill, is to put your Social Security number on the check or money order and return the notice with your payment.

Q. Is there any penalty for failing to report tip income to your employer?

A. Yes, there may be a penalty of up to 50 percent.

If you have tip income of $20 or more a month while working for any one employer then be sure you report it to this employer each month. For details on this reporting requirement, a copy of Document No. 5640, "Reporting Your Tips for Federal Tax Purposes", may be obtained from your local IRS office.

Q. I have an expense account to cover for traveling I do for my company. How do I handle this for tax purposes?

A. The general rule is that reimbursements and allowances you receive for expenses incurred in connection with your employment must be included in income. However, if you are required to account to your company for your expenses and your reimbursement does not exceed these expenses, then you do not have to report this on your income tax return.

If you account to your employer and the reimbursement exceeds your expenses then the excess must be reported as income on your return. But if your allowable expenses exceed your reimbursements, report the reimbursements as income but also deduct the expenses.

When the Puritans reached New England, they brought with them their dislike for any observance of Christmas and levied fines on those who dared to celebrate the holiday. It was not until the nineteenth century (after many German and Irish immigrants had arrived) that holiday celebrations really became popular in that part of the country.

In the Southern colonies, in Virginia, for example, there were gay gatherings of families and friends, with bountiful feasts and gala balls by candlelight. The aristocratic plantation owners carried on many of the holiday traditions that had prevailed for centuries in the home country. Often the slaves were not required to work as long as the yule log burned.

The Moravians who made homes in eastern colonies, because of religious persecution in the Old World, continued their unusual customs. On Christmas Eve, carrying lighted candles and singing a Christmas hymn, they marched into a stable, thus recalling Christ's humble birthplace. In our Southwest people of Spanish and Mexican ancestry staged old holiday plays such as "Los Pastores" and "Las Posadas", brought here from Spain via Old Mexico. Scandinavian settlers in the Middle West, cherished their native traditions as have their descendants. Therefore, our American Christmas observance is a most interesting and unusual one; for it includes varied customs from faraway lands.

Festive desserts and tasty holiday treats are a familiar part of the Christmas season.

Turkey on Christmas Day is an American specialty. Yet no treats are more associated with the holiday than plum pudding and mince pie.

The original plum pudding, tradition says, was cooked up by an English hunting party lost in the woods on Christmas Eve. It consisted of deer meat and a mixed variety of game animals, brandy, dried plums, ale, bread, sugar and flour.

Mince pie, we are told, was created by the Pilgrims and served with a tiny figure of the Christ child in its center. The earliest known recipe dates to the reign of James I... the 17th Century — and called for beef tongue, chopped meat, ...er, eggs, raisins, orange and lemon peelings, sugar and an assortment of spices.

Hot puddings have always been popular in England and are regaining some favor in America.

A pudding is spiced with cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg and is served before ... A hot mixture of cider, sometimes spices and ... and orange ... Another is the traditional Tom and Jerry, which is brandy, frothy with egg.

Three Area Teens To Attend Meeting

Three teenagers from Oakland will be this area's representatives at the Dec. 26-28 ...mmit Eastern Area Youth For Christ Holiday Teen Convention at Bethlehem, Pa. Rev. Thomas Crogan, director and his wife, Karen, will serve as chaperones and counselors. The teenagers are: Dottie Glaze, daughter of Mrs. Franklin Glaze, 121 Third street, Oakland, a Junior at Southern; Lisa Eary, a Southern sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eary, Rt. 2, Terra Alta; and a senior at Southern, Ralph Bee, Rt. 1, Oakland.

One hundred twenty were in attendence at the final Campus Life Rally of this year. The first of the new year will be Jan. 6th at Northern featuring a Northern area octet, "The Glory Bound Choraliers". Christ... was the theme of the most recent rally that presented Joe King as speaker and a group of 14 Christian teenagers from the Pen-Mar, New Freedom, Pa. Youth For Christ doing special music. A solo also sung by area teen, Mary Cosner, "The Babe in the Manger". Before the program the ladies of the Loch Lynn L. B. Church served a buffet dinner for the speaker, teenagers, and auto drivers from the Pen-Mar Youth For Christ.

The bridge between Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., and Kanauga, O., collapsed carrying with it 50 to 75 cars and trucks.

Native Son

Just how quickly the guillotine descends upon the neck of this writer will depend upon a discerning reader, the wife of the subject of this article, she, being mild and unassuming, the opposite of her loquacious husband, will laugh and soften the blow. He in turn will grin widely and glare at the monosyllables—before the denunciation.

You must know someone like him, probably the neighbor two farms away, a native son who never strays too far beyond the bellow of the head steer and takes off to the barn for a last investigation before bed, even if he forgets to bid his humans good-night. Never one of the quiet ones, he stomps his boots on the back step and needlessly remarks a kind of halloo as if you could ever mistake such a grand entrance by the back porch for any other man of the locality. But the great part of this is that smiles and chuckles greet him, for the countrymen accept his style and would be astonished to see him too serious for long.

You needn't be embarrassed if he reminds you of a personal matter, for his directness implies that he has never heard of blushes and could not believe in their use if he did. Why can't anyone in this nation say anything? So why shouldn't that brawny chest expand when his cattle price tops the local market?

And further, you may well accept the truth of his eating experience, where some years ago hungry threshers were constantly beset with two women at opposite ends of the table, passing dishes so dutifully that no one could manage to eat much, thus saving the host considerably. Perhaps you could also agree, after several visits to our county's heights and meadows, by one or another of the Laurel Runs, that if the country were only on the rock standard instead of the gold standard, we would have western Maryland millionaires by the dozen.

A hint of the hypocrite cannot lurk in this man's eyes, for unlike the subtle, unprincipled people who upset worlds, he will hit his target openly, with a certain brass if necessary. This code is dependable: there is no sense in sailing at half-mast in honesty when a full sail gives you an enviable chance. Maybe this square dealing is what put this nation at its peak when settlers of a frontier either faced facts or removed themselves from the ranks of those who made progress.

Does he have interior softness, like so many men of bravado? I should say yes, especially when noticing the gleam produced by reference to a daughter's gift, or hearing the unsolicited admission, from another man, that there is a good-hearted man, ready to help you when you're down.

If he can just hold those ear flaps down tight enough, there may just be two sprouts at the shoulders, one day on Mount Nebo.

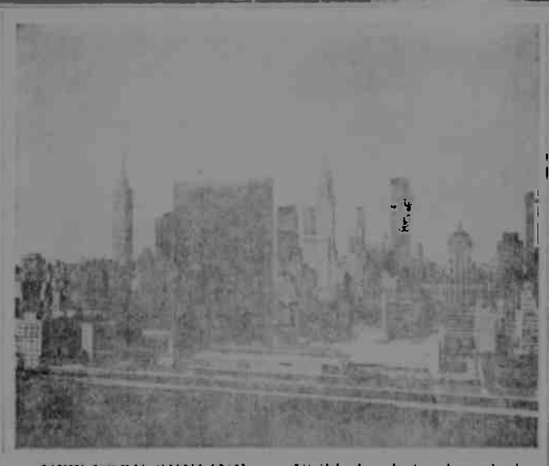
6,858 Violations...

In March of this year it was reported that the Federal Government is spending upwards of $425 million a year on its public information and public relations programs. That figure, it is revealed, is more than double the combined outlay for news gathering by the two major US news services, the three major TV networks and the 10 largest newspapers in the country. There are 6,858 Federal employees spending full or part time as writers, editors, and public information "specialists".

Members of the Congress and the representatives of the press, radio and TV in Washington are hit with a daily blizzard of government hand-outs and position papers. In short, the Federal Government's public relations arm is far and away the most vigorous lobby in the nation's capital. Indeed, it outdistances all other lobbies combined.



Yet, Title 18 of the United States Code Annotated has a very precise provision relating to precisely such lobbying. It reads:

"No part of the money appropriated by any enactment of Congress shall, in the absence of express authorization by Congress, be used directly or indirectly to pay for any personal service, advertisement, telegram, telephone, letter, printed or written matter, or other device, intended or designed to influence in any manner a Member of Congress, to favor or oppose, by vote or otherwise, any legislation or appropriation by Congress, whether before or after the introduction of any bill or resolution proposing such legislation or appropriation, but this shall not prevent officers or employees of the United States or of its departments or agencies from communicating to Members of Congress on the request of any Member or to Congress, through the proper official channels, requests for legislation or appropriations which they deem necessary for the efficient conduct of the public business.

"Whoever, being an officer or employee of the United States or of any department or agency thereof, violates or attempts to violate this section, shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both..."

And then there is this sentence in Title 5 of the United States Code Annotated: "..... No money appropriated by any act shall be used for the compensation of any publicity expert unless specifically appropriated for that purpose".

It seems to us that there may have been some violations of the U. S. Code in Washington. Maybe 6,858 violations. —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

Gatlinburg's Nativity Scene

Christmas every day of the year is the dream of many youngsters. And there is at least one place in the nation — Gatlinburg, Tennessee — where the spirit of Christmas, as represented by what has been called the world's most realistic Nativity scene, is experienced by hundreds of thousands of people, not just in December, but all through the year.

This famous scene is part of Gatlinburg's Christus Gardens, and it is unique in many ways. Portraying the First Christmas with startling realism, the life-sized, three-dimensional representation sets the mood for an entire tour which visitors may take through a series of important scenes from the life of Christ.

Ronald S. Ligon, director of Christus Gardens, which is non-denominational, explains that the appeal of the Nativity scene is demonstrated by the fact that while visitors to the gardens are relatively few during the month of December, there is always a substantial increase during Christmas week.

The scene, he points out, was designed to portray the biblical story of the First Christmas in the way most familiar to all, and consequently it has a few intentional inconsistencies. Joseph and Mary are shown at the manger, while four shepherds and three wise men stand and kneel nearby in the stable area.

Three sheep — real ones, incidentally, mounted by a taxidermist — stand nearby, and a tiny lamb lies next to the manger. Real straw covers the floor, real wooden beams form the roof structure and claytype walls carry through the realism of the setting.

The staffs in the hands of the shepherds are actual shepherds' crooks. Bluish light predominates, and rays from above shine through a window down upon the manger, as if from the Star in the East. Hanging over the side of the manger is a garment representing the swaddling clothes in which the baby Jesus was wrapped. Mary is garbed in the traditional blue.

Technically, Mr. Ligon explains, the wise men from the East would not have reached Bethlehem soon enough to be included in the Christmas scene, but the familiar portrayal shows the three there, with gifts of gold, myrrh and frankincense. Their presence, he said, is illustrative of the sacrifice each has made to give up his worldly possessions and travel a great distance to worship the new King.

The shepherds, in fields closer to Bethlehem, made what was for them an equally great sacrifice in leaving their flocks to go to the stable where Christ was born. The four figures in the scene represent all the shepherds who may have made this journey.

Mr. Ligon points out that an excellent indication of the success of this representation of the Nativity is the fact that young children immediately recognize it.

The figures in the scene were crafted by the world-famous Gems, Ltd., of London, producer of waxworks for three quarters of a century, and the scene was designed by Deroy Displays of Canada. Costumes for the figures were made by the eminent London firm of B. J. Simmons, from fabric woven in the lands where the figures wearing the costumes were supposed to have lived.

Complementing the Nativity scene is appropriate music — the familiar carol "Silent Night," sung by the Christus Gardens Choir, under the direction of Dr. Cyrus Daniel, head of the Music Department at Vanderbilt University.

Bruce Bulldogs Down Rams 66-53

The Rams were left out in the cold on Friday, Dec. 15, as they went down to the Bruce Bulldogs of Westernport, 53-66.

Southern held its ground throughout most of the first and second periods but then Bruce began to slip away. Bruce held a 13 point lead at the end of the game after the loss of two key players, Alvarez and Hawkins, by foul trouble. However, the Rams showed an amazing accuracy at the foul line, scoring 80 percent of the time.

In the preliminary game, after three overtimes, the Southern J. V.'s lost 42-44.

GIFT GIVING

Giving gifts during the Christmas season is a custom that most of us enjoy. Some of us even become reckless and spend more than we should for a particular gift merely because it seems the "perfect" item for a special individual.

In ancient times and places, gift giving was sometimes compulsory. Roman emperors demanded Yuletide gifts of clothing, gold and silver from their subjects. So, it is said, did the kings and queens of medieval England.

Long before the birth of Christ, Romans exchanged gifts of laurel, olive and myrtle branches, in conjunction with the Saturnalia, a pagan festival which occurred about the same time as the present date of Christmas.

The Druids of England and Northern Europe tied gifts on trees during the festival observing the winter solstice.

Gift giving today does not take the form of appeasement; it reflects the spirit of kind-hearted generosity.

It is a safe bet that even those who cry out that "Christmas is becoming too commercial" have their own special gift list.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Since the days of Augustus Caesar, governments seem to have employed systems to collect taxes. In fact, it could perhaps be said that if they failed in this score, there soon was no government.

In Latin America, however, there appears to be a substantial problem of collecting taxes, and their governments do not seem to have developed an adequate collection system.

C. W. Harder

Thus, in one of the many manifestations of the United States foreign aid program, there is a team of experts from the Internal Revenue Bureau working with the Brazilian government on methods to curtail tax evasion.

This comes under the head of the Alliance for Progress. Whether or not this means Alliance for Progressive Taxation is not quite clear.

Of course, one thing is quite clear. With IRS people as advisors, the Brazilian government is getting the benefit of the world's foremost experts in this field.

But there can also be raised the question as to just how much American expertise should be shared with the world, especially when it involves the internal affairs of another country.

There is no doubt but what the South Vietnam people, with the U. S. Marines engaged in their hassle, are getting the services of the most expert combat teams in the world.

But in sending tax collection experts to a foreign nation to tell the local government how to get in the money is an interesting situation. It can be wondered how this fits in with the Carnegie ideas of "how to influence people and win friends."

In years past the fact that occasionally units of the U. S. Navy made goodwill tours around South America was sufficient to raise the cry of "Yanqui, go home!"

Thus, it is hardly likely that those Latin Americans who are divested of additional sums of tax money will become more friendly when they realize the extra payments taken from them are due to the courtesy of the U. S. experts.

King George III had some ideas of how taxes should be levied and collected in the American colonies. They did not bring him happiness.

It is hardly likely the present program will enshrine Yankees from the north in hearts of the Brazilian people. After all, nobody likes a meddler.

The Christmas Tree

According to legend, the Christmas tree custom began when St. Boniface, a missionary in Germany during the 8th Century, adorned an evergreen in tribute to the Christ child and substituted the tree for some of the symbols used in pagan rites.

You can take your pick as to when the Christmas tree became popular in the United States. Some researchers say Hessian soldiers brought the tree custom with them to this country during the time of the Revolutionary War.

It has been established that Harvard University's first German professor, Charles Follen, decorated a tree for his son as early as 1832. A description of the tree was recorded in Harriet Martineau's book, "Retrospect of Western Travil." She described "an evening spent decorating the tree with gilded egg shells, wax paper bags filled with lozenges and barley sugar."

In 1847, researchers note, August Imgard of Wooster, Ohio, decorated a small spruce for his nieces and nephews.

CALM CHILDREN

Active children become more exhuberant with the coming of the Christmas season. The mad rush of shopping and holiday preparations stimulates a child's emotions.

Child specialists believe that a quiet atmosphere and explaining the joys of the holiday will help them, and help you have a more peaceful season.

We should spend more time getting children ready for a reverent Christmas rather than a commercial one. When the entire family pause to understand the true meaning of Christmas, it will be a joy to all.

FOR HUSBANDS

A gift suggestion for husbands and children is: Get together and decide on a time and work saving appliance that will free her from work every day of the year.

Such an appliance is an automatic dishwasher. It doesn't matter whether the housewife has a large family or if there is just a husband and wife, a dishwasher in this day and age is a must.

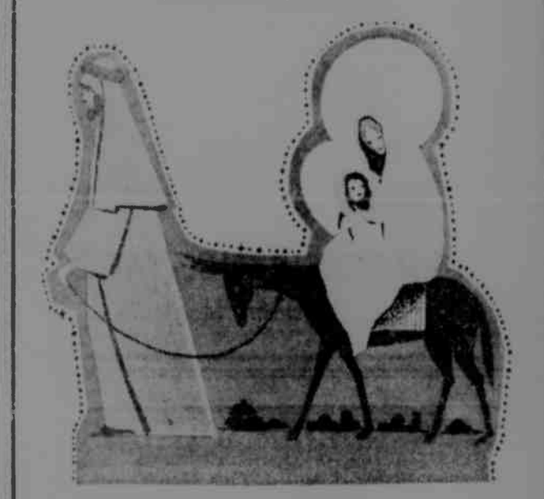
FOR THE LADY

Decorate the cover of a large plastic dish with colored shells. Fill the dish with cotton powder puffs — get a package of assorted colors.

Lions Aid Young Asthma Patient

The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club was recently notified that a five-year-old girl from Oakland, which it had sponsored in getting her into a non-profit Jewish hospital in Denver, Colo., for treatment of asthma, was now able to return home.

She is Robin Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Welch. When Donald Browning was president, an agreement was reached with the hospital. The girl needed treatment for asthma and the Lions club was advised that the only way treatment could be given was for some organization to be responsible for payment of her return home. This the club agreed to do.



The hospital in Denver is having a Christmas party for all its patients on Christmas day and Robin plans to stay for this party and then return home shortly after. The Lions agreed that an after Christmas party of the Welch family would be a happy occasion.

Flower child Joan Baez received garden duty while serving a 10-day prison term for blocking an induction center entrance.

INFORM FRIENDS

It is foolish to be bashful about writing information letters — information concerning children's ages and interests is helpful and welcome to persons you know will be sending gifts.

Children's interests change from year to year. If only the child's age is known, it is possible for the giver to receive helpful advice from clerks.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Someone has defined a vacation as two weeks on the sand paid for by eleven months on the rocks. With our emphasis on "Buy Now! Pay Later!", Christmas can be something like that

A small boy was asked what he was going to give his younger brother for Christmas. His quick reply was, "I dunno, last year I gave him the measles". Some may feel that Christmas is a kind of disease you can't avoid catching each year.

The Christmas season means many things to people. For the merchant, it means extra business but also hard and long hours at work. For post office employees, longer hours are required to move the expanded volume of mail. For many workers, it means overtime and extra money to buy gifts. It may mean seasonal employment for housewives who do not work away from home the rest of the year.

Christmas means reunion of families as children come home for the holidays. It means parties and plenty of good food.

But above all, Christmas means the giving of gifts - gifts from parents to children, the exchange of gifts within or among families. For many there is a felt need to share more fully with those who cannot return a gift. And, somehow, there is an added joy in this kind of giving. The gift, we realize, is more than the present - it is a part of ourselves.

Worship in our churches - during the Advent season, special programs, pageants, and great Christmas music - speak of a Gift - the very reason of Christmas.

The Hebrew people had long looked forward to a great gift. As anticipated by the Prophet Isaiah, "For us a child is born, to us a son is given; and his name will be called "Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace'". Christmas celebrates the giving of the World's Greatest Gift - Jesus Christ. God was, at His initiative, expressing His love and purpose in a human being - a message of joy, not fear. In the words of the angel, "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people; for to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord".

God gave the Greatest Gift, a gift of Himself. Christ delivers us from the destruction of self-centeredness and opens to us a reason for being - a purpose beyond ourselves. Christian giving is giving of oneself. This may not involve a present at all - it may be time to listen and share in the problems and troubles of another. It recognizes people as persons to be loved and respected. Presents are things which help convey our love for people - motivated by God - the giver of our Greatest Gift.

TOYS TO PLEASE

Toy manufacturers say that very often toys are bought for the parent. Parents intend the purchase for their child but neglected to notice how the toy operates. A toy loses very much play value if it has to be operated by a parent. Choose the right toys for your child.

It will be easy to determine which type toy is best by watching reactions — take him to the toy shop.

TIME

Time is a clock;
A second, a minute, a ticktock.
A whirr and hum,
Of time now, past, and yet to come.
A time that nothing can block,
Yet has its own lock.
A lock a key can't unclasp;
Or a man's mind grasp
For time is unknown,
And not its own.
And if the world should end;
Would there still be time to spend?

Plans Christmas Party

SANTA CLAUS, IND.

Two explanations have arisen for naming this small town near Evansville, Indiana, after the modified name of Saint Nicholas. About seventy five years ago this town applied for a post office and suggested the name Sant Fe. When it was learned that this name already applied to a post office in the state, the people decided to name it Santaclaus, changing it in 1928 to the customary words.

A second version says that in 1882, on Christmas Eve, while some residents were discussing in the general store the naming of their town, Santa Claus walked in. Unanimously they called out "Let's name it Santa Claus."

Whichever explanation is correct, the town has been busy both summer and winter in recent years. In summer, tourists stop in to see the museum, the original post office with its fine collection of toys of the past decades. A Santa Claus park, life size Mother Goose figures, Kriss Kringle Street, and a colored statue of the white beared saint, twenty-three feet high, weighing forty-two tons — all these make it a rare attraction during the ten months when Christmas mail is of secondary interest.

County Woman Named Outstanding Personality

A county woman was selected recently as one of a number of persons as "Outstanding Personality of the South for 1967".

She is Mrs. Martha Glotfelty of Accident, former member of the Maryland House of Delegates. Her name will appear in this year's edition of the book listing those selected.

The book is reviewed by businessmen, journalists, librarians, historians and biographers and will be a record in permanent form of her biography. Earlier in the year she had been informed by "Outstanding Personalities of the South, Inc." of Raleigh, N. C., that her name had been submitted.

Last week she received a wall certificate, suitable for framing, confirming the selection. The citation read; "This is to certify that Martha Imogene Glotfelty has been selected to appear in the 1967 edition of "Outstanding Personalities of the South" in recognition of past achievements, outstanding ability and service to community, state and nation".

Mrs. Glotfelty presently is employed by the Garrett County Commissioners as a secretary in the County Roads office.

The Cereal Leaf Beetle Quarantine Has Importance

State quarantines on the Cereal Leaf Beetle are now in effect in Ohio, Michigan and parts of Indiana and Pennsylvania, it was announced this week by James McHenry, extension agent. The purpose of these quarantines is to prevent the spread of an insect known as the Cereal Leaf Beetle into other states in which this destructive pest is not presently found. These quarantines were developed by the regulatory officials of the affected states with the assistance of the Plant Pest Control Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Cereal Leaf Beetle as its name implies is a destructive pest of cereal and grain crops. It was first identified in southwestern Michigan in July, 1962, where it had caused considerable damage to oats. The beetle has been a serious pest in certain areas of Europe for many years. In Russia losses from infestation have ranged from 25 percent to 50 percent.

The Cereal Leaf Beetle is about one-fourth inch long with wing covers and head being a metallic bluish black. The legs and front segment of the thorax (neck region) are red. The larvae or immature stage of the beetle resembles the Colorado Potato Beetle in shape. The head and legs are a brown-black and the body is yellowish.

Both the immature and adult stages of the pest damage cereal and grain crops. The immature stage chews out long strips between the leaf veins, and adults attack grain shoots.

Adult Cereal Leaf Beetles may be found during two periods of the year, spring and summer. The summer adults have developed from eggs deposited on grain by the beetles which have hibernated during the winter in grasses and other debris.

It has been determined that the insect is spread through the following crops and articles: small grains such as barley, oats, rye, and wheat; corn, grass seed, forage crop seed, hay, fodder, plant litter, sod, and used harvesting machinery. These articles plus any others that might present a hazard of spread are under quarantine regulations by the four states involved.

Feed dealers, farmers, and transporters of grain, or any other materials that may harbor the insect should make sure that they buy or transport only materials that have been certified.

Through cooperative survey work conducted by state and division personnel, the Cereal Leaf Beetle was found for the first time this spring in Mercer, Lawrence, Butler, and Beaver counties of Pennsylvania. Beaver county is only three counties northwest of Garrett county, therefore, the beetle is a serious threat to Garrett, Allegany, and the other counties of western Maryland.

Mr. McHenry said. Farmers should be on the lookout for this insect and submit any suspect specimens to their nearest County Extension Agent or Plant Pest Control Division office.

Happy Birthday,

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	2	1-9
Monday	Isaiah	7	10-17
Tuesday	Isaiah	9	1-7
Wednesday	Zechariah	8	1-8
Thursday	Matthew	2	1-12
Friday	Luke	2	1-7
Saturday	Luke	2	8-21

The lights of Christmas shine in children's eyes
As they uncover each well-kept surprise,
And we remember, as we share their joy,
That Jesus too was once a little boy.

He must have laughed and shouted at His play
Just as the youngest ones will do today.
And surely Mary watched with pride and love . . .
Thinking of shepherds, and a star above.

This day is blessed by children's happy voices.
The bells ring out; the Christian world rejoices.
With all the gladness grateful hearts can bring,
We celebrate the birthday of a King.

CHRISTMAS

Lesson for December 24, 1967

Background Scripture: Malachi 3:1-4; Micah 5:2-4; Isaiah 9:2-7
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 9:2-7.

I am not at all sure that you ought to read the background scripture for this week's lesson—not until Christmas is well over, at least.

That may sound like strange advice, but I know what Christmas means to most of us and I would hate to have yours spoiled for you. What I'm trying to say is that the book of Malachi doesn't have a very Christmasy feeling about it. In fact, there are some parts of it that might, if taken seriously, take all the Ho-Ho-Ho right out of our holidays.

Rev. Althouse

Season's Greetings

So why not skip the lesson this week and immerse yourself in the sentiments of the Christmas cards that come your way. They are practically guaranteed to be completely inoffensive to everyone. I can assure you that there isn't likely to be any Malachi on them.

Of course, if you are one of those who delights in reading what you've been advised not to read, you may very well turn to Malachi all the more quickly. I realize, however, that you are not that type — (though if you were, Malachi 3:1-4 is the passage I had in mind).

Perhaps you are just a little bit curious as to what could be so upsetting about the Bible. I mean, we think of this book mostly in terms of inspiration, comfort, solace, beauty, etc. This is particularly true of the Christmas stories: "good will," "peace on earth," and all of that.

Actually, Malachi 3 (RSV) begins encouragingly enough: "Behold, I send my messenger to prepare the way before me, and the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight, behold, he is coming, says the Lord of hosts."

Holiday Wishes

Nothing very threatening there: the coming of the Messiah. Of course, there is one little inaccuracy: ". . . will suddenly come . . ." With department stores heralding Christmas since September, I don't think Malachi's "suddenly" is quite accurate.

But of course, Malachi goes on (the trouble with most prophets is that they don't know when to stop!). It's what follows that can turn your mistletoe purple: "But who can endure the day of his coming . . ." — (Not at all a reference to the long shopping season) — "and who can stand when he appears?"

You see, the people of Judah rejoiced at the first part of Malachi's vision: the messenger was coming . . . hooray! They had waited so long, so patiently.

But now what is this Malachi is saying: "For he is like a refiner's fire . . . and he will purify the sons of Levi and refine them like gold and silver, till they present right offerings to the Lord". (Malachi 3:2-3RSV) A refiner's fire . . . in the cr[illegible]

Merry Christmas

This time of the Messiah's coming, this time of rejoicing and fulfillment would also be, Malachi said, a time of challenge and change. The messenger of God would purify the people, particularly the priests! Presumably the process of purification would not be without some pain and anguish, some radical changes.

You see now why Malachi is not recommended to replace "'Twas The Night Before Christmas . . ."? If Christmas means more than just the "Hooray, Jesus has come with the goodies", if it means judgment, change, repentance, rebirth, then I'm not sure we want any part of it. And that's the trouble, Christmas is really a challenge. The baby Jesus becomes the Christ of the dusty road, the noisy market place, the harlot's home, the prisoner's cell. And the invitation he gives us is not to join him in the security of the crib, but to be vulnerable on a cross.

Joy and Peace at Christmas

and warmth. The radiance of a Star shines into our hearts, as once it shone above a sacred manger, heralding the miracle of the Holy Birth.
As you observe Christmas with those near and dear to you, may you rejoice anew at the true, deep meaning of this most glorious time. And may the peace and joy of the season be an ever present blessing, to light the way for all men, everywhere.

Legislative Alert . . .

A legislative alert has been sounded by various individuals, and it concerns the attempt of certain groups to place in the constitution items which favor one group over another.

In a comment in The Sun paper of Dec. 14, it had the following to say: "All the Declaration of Rights provisions before the convention in Annapolis up until yesterday had to do with the rights of all citizens, each and every one. A List:

"Freedom of speech, freedom of religion, due process and equal protection, security of the person and right to privacy, rights of the accused in criminal cases, right against self-incrimination and double jeopardy,

1967 Was Year Of Great Promise But Little Action

"Promises... Promises... that's all I ever got!"

By Wilbur W. Close

As it did in 1966, the year began on January 1. It probably will end in like manner, on December 31.

In between, scores of events, large and small, public and private, affected the citizens of the area for better or for worse. Some of them have been gathered here, for a brief glance at the year behind, and a reminder of the accomplishments and failures of twelve months of living.

January

The new Board of County Commissioners prepared to take over the reins of government. One of the first occurrences was the appointment of Harold J. Adams as clerk, succeeding Mrs. Virginia Fizer.

The hospital came into the money twice during the month. The Appalachian Regional Committee announced a grant of $363,720 toward construction of a new wing. This was followed a few days later by a grant of $259,000 by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Along monetary lines, bank resources in the county were listed as over $36,000,000, a substantial gain.

The popularity of the area as a marriage center seemed to decline slightly. During the previous year, 1,639 persons had obtained licenses to wed, a decline of 273.

Work was begun on a major remodeling job for downtown Oakland. Demolition began on four business buildings on Second street to make way for the new offices of the Garrett National Bank.

The County Commissioners and delegates held a series of four public meetings. Chief topic of discussion was the proposed Community college, a question which would blow hot and cold all through the year to come. To determine public feeling, The Republican ran an informal poll among its readers. Final tabulation showed 640 in favor; 44 against, and two undecided. The apparent indecision of two continued throughout the remainder of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wagner, Jr., of near Oakland, were declared the Grand Sweepstakes winners in the 1966 Farming For Better Living program, topping

Holiday Trade Excellent, Most Stores Report

Most merchants of Oakland reported that December was generally as good or better than last year businesswise.

All agreed that trade was brisk on most December days, with more than the usual amount of business occurring from the fifteenth of December to Saturday, December 23. Most of the stores closed on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The majority of the merchants felt in many cases that business was better, with a few indicating the best business ever. There were a few slow days during the month but towns were extra crowded for the Christmas week-end. Many purchases continued to be of the better quality merchandise, the same as last year, also the higher priced. In some cases the increase in prices was a contributing factor in the overall increase in business. In some areas, too, the margin of profit was smaller.

Stores, generally, remained well stocked with quality merchandise and people again found that in most instances it wasn't necessary to go to other cities to get what they wanted.

Merchants were hopeful that similar conditions would continue through the months of 1968.

The merchants' committee of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce once again had arranged for stores to remain open in the evenings beginning the middle of December, for the convenience of customers.

He is senior warden elect of Oakland Lodge of Masons; treasurer, and is active in Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scout, Woodmen of the World work and is a member of St. Paul's Methodist church and the National, Tri-State and Maryland Funeral Directors associations.

On-Job Training Program Approved

The Garrett County Community Action Agency has been authorized to negotiate On-The-Job-Training contracts with local employers according to Bradford Rinard, executive director. As part of a state wide contract between the Maryland Office of Economic Opportunity and the United States Department of Labor, Garrett County has been allocated 25 job slots for the training of cooks and related jobs, he said.

Under an On-The-Job-Training agreement employers who need additional personnel and are willing to train prospective employees will be reimbursed for training expenses.

The amount of reimbursement will be determined by the type of training materials used, supervision involved, and the time required to bring the trainee to being a productive employee, he said.

Further information is available from Wayne A. Frederick, Director of Work Training and Job Development.

Lighting Contest Won By Gibsons

Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Gibson, Green Street, Oakland, were declared the winners of the annual outdoor Christmas lighting contest, sponsored by the Merchants' committee of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, and were awarded $25. Announcement was made by John Kurilla, chairman.

Winner of second prize of $15 were Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Sincell, Mt. Lake Park, while third place went to Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fitzwater, 4th St., and a prize of $10.

Judging was done over the week-end. This is the third year for the contest. Judging was based on beauty and originality of the display. Any family in the Oakland area was eligible to participate.

For the past two years top prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Calhoun. Dr. Gibson's house and property were decorated with numerous green lights, with a large star on the front of the house with a Santa Claus mounted near the chimney.

Varied Weather Is Continuing

Weather for the Christmas season has been varied with a few inches of snow, some extremely cold mornings, but also a plentiful supply of sunshine and comparatively balmy weather.

There were indications this would be changed with predictions of several inches of snow today and tomorrow. Temperatures dropped during the week to near zero level in certain areas of the county but there was moderation during the day with the mercury climbing into the 20s.

Skiing at the Wisp ski area was considered good to fair, with most of the snow man-made. A productive week-end was forecast.

Two Cases Tried In Juvenile Court

Two cases were tried before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill in juvenile court on December 21. Both cases involved school non-attendance.

In the first case, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd DeWitt, of near Oakland, were charged by A. B. Dean, Supervisor of Pupil Personnel for failing to send their two minor children to school, in accordance with the school law. The defendants entered a plea of not guilty, but Judge Hamill ruled otherwise, and sentenced them to be committed to the custody of the Commissioner of Correction for one year.

The sentence was suspended on the condition that they keep their two minor children in school regularly; present a doctor's certificate to school authories if the children miss more than one day of school at a time; also see to it that their children are properly fed and clothed.

They were placed on two years probation with the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services, and must abide by the rules and regulations set down by that department.

In the other case, a 14-year-old Swanton youth was charged by A. B. Dean with failing to attend school in accordance with school law, and with delinquent behavior. The youngster pleaded guilty, but Judge Hamill had this struck from the records and ordered him placed on indeterminate probation. (This allows the boy to have probation without a record.)

The youth was placed on probation with the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services until he is 18, or until the Department sees fit to release him.

He was ordered to attend school regularly and, if absent more than one day, must present a doctor's certificate to the school authorities. He also was ordered to abide by the department's rules and regulations.

Social Security Taxes To Be Upped

Social Security tax contributions are going up again. Next year the wage base maximum earning on which persons are required to pay Social Security taxes and on which future benefits are figured, will be raised from todays $6,600 to $7,800. Persons earning between $6,600 and $7,800 will pay up to $52.80 more next year. The hike will be from $290.40 to $434.20.

Persons self-employed and earning at least $7,800 will up the contributions by $76.80 up to $499.20.

An employe will have his social security tax rate raised in 1969 from todays 4.4 percent to 4.8 percent. This means they will pay a new maximum contribution of $374.40.

Daniel J. Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Yoder, Oakland, was named to the dean's list at Alderson-Broaddus college, Philippi, W. Va., for the fall term. He is a freshman at the college and received a 3.73 average on the 4.00 grading system.

Two Prisoners Are Taken To Baltimore

Two prisoners in the county jail, George Washington Teets, and Roy Bittinger, Jr., were taken to Baltimore on Tuesday and delivered to the Commissioner of Correction, it was announced by James E. Frantz, sheriff.

Both have sentences of six months and both were found guilty of assault and battery upon their wives.

Teets was sentenced in the office of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney on Dec. 26. Bittinger, of the Mill Run area, was sentenced some ten days ago but had taken an appeal on the sentence. On Tuesday he withdrew his appeal.

QUITE A RACK OF HORNS—That's quite a rack of horns the moose head is supporting, and there are three others just like it, the results of a Canadian hunting trip recently by four county men. On the trip were Ernest Schrock and Olin Schrock, of near Oakland; James Riggleman, Kitzmiller; and Eddie House of near Frostburg. They returned on December 20 from a ten day hunting trip at Red Lake, Ontario. Each hunter was successful in bringing down a large bull, some seven feet tall and weighing from 1,000 to 1,400 pounds. By agreement the hunters brought home a quarter of the animal, with the balance going to the Northern Light Gospel Indian mission. Forty miles out from Red Lake they hunted for three days and hauled meat for about five. Hunters used the 30.06 rifle. The Republican got a picture of one of the heads at the home of Ernest Schrock and had to get the assistance of Don Sincell to hold the horns since Mr. Schrock was helping a neighbor pick corn and was not available.

Stabbing Fatal For County Man

Sherman Pyles Dies Of Wound; Son Charged With Murder

Sherman Ralph Pyles, 50, who resided in the Vindex area, was stabbed to death at his home early last Friday night and his son was being held in connection with the death.

Being held was Charles Pyles, 20. Garrett County Sheriff James E. Frantz, who is investigating along with deputy John Evans, Jr., and State Trooper Stephen Russell, said the young man was being charged with first degree murder.

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill has appointed W. Dwight Stover and Clarence Penman, Oakland attorneys, to defend the young man and a preliminary hearing is scheduled for later this week.

Sheriff Frantz said he received a telephone call about 6:15 p. m. Friday from a neighbor of the victim, reporting some difficulty at the Pyles' residence, about one half mile off the Vindex road. When the sheriff arrived he found Mr. Pyles dead. The body was removed to Sacred Heart hospital in Cumberland, for an autopsy. Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, deputy medical examiner, said death was caused by a knife wound in the back.

The medical examiner said the knife entered the man's body about four inches from the spine and took a downward path. The wound was so severe that death resulted in a very short time, the physician said.

Sheriff Frantz took the son into custody at the home. Neighbors said that Mr. Pyles was the only member of the family who was regularly employed. He worked at Sterling Processing plant in Oakland.

Authorities said the family moved to the Vindex area some time ago from Preston county, W. Va. Mr. Pyles was a native of Rowlesburg, W. Va., a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Maca Pyles. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida Elizabeth O'Brien Pyles; four sons, Joseph, Jerry, Charles and Troy, and a daughter, Ludella Pyles, all at home. He also leaves a brother, George Pyles, Morgantown; two sisters, Mrs. Eunice Criss, Osage, W. Va.; Mrs. Bertie Beavers, Rowlesburg, and one grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday from the Pritts Funeral home in Kitzmiller with Rev. H. B. Riltenhouse officiating. Interment was in the Sanders Hill cemetery near Rowlesburg.

The Southern Highlanders will go to Turnerton on Tuesday, January 2, for a game there and then play a return engagement with Bayard High school on the home court Friday, January 5.

Northern has won all of its five games. Southern defeated Bayard, but lost to its other opponents, Valley, Aurora, Bruce and Terra Alta.

entrants from 25 nearby counties.

A telephoned warning to Southern High school, telling of an impending bomb explosion, resulted in pupils being released from the building while officials made a search for the infernal device. It was never found, and the whole thing was written off as a bad joke.

But the weather was no joke of any kind for skiers. An usually mild month had curtailed the sport, and forced cancellation of the Maryland Junior Ski meet.

February

But hardly had the leaf of the calendar fallen when the snow did come—the 1st serious storm of the winter. Heavy winds blew the six inches of powder into drifts which hampered traffic movement in the early days.

Robert Sprague Brown, of Kitzmiller, was promoted to the position of Regional Game Warden for the three western counties.

Two high school students were named "Homemakers of Tomorrow" in an annual competition. They were Jane Garrett, of Southern, and Connie Devine, of Northern.

The newly constructed library at Southern High school was opened during the month, being dedicated as the Willard Hawkins library, after the county superintendent of schools.

Heavy snow, up to 12 inches, set in at mid-month, but did not discourage 323 persons from Washington and Baltimore from a Winter Wonderland train excursion to the county.

The Welfare department issued a summary of its 1966 operations and showed a total expenditure in this county of $745,032 37. Of this, $111,190.85 represented costs of administration.

The County Commissioners agreed to submit the junior college question to a referendum at a special election in June. It was stated that they would follow the wishes of the voters when they were expressed.

Oakland firemen totaled up their activity for the past year, and reported they had answered 77 alarms. Damage was nominal.

Copping the second of two games, Southern's Highlanders grabbed the county basketball championship by defeating the Northern Huskies 71-66 and 69-43.

A sign of the times was the announcement by Treasurer Arzella Parsons that 5,349 sets of automobile license plates had been received for sale to motorists.

March

The month proved true to its reputation. Roaring in like a lion, schools were closed for two days as wind, snow and low temperatures played brief havoc with transportation in many areas.

The Garrett National Bank officially opened its branch office at Kitzmiller. Other branches were already maintained at Accident and Bloomington.

In a move that caught most citizens by surprise, the House of Delegates passed a liberalized liquor law for Garrett county. The new legislation would open up heretofore "dry" sections for the sale of alcoholic beverages and modify other regulations.

Those opposing tht legislation immediately cried "foul" and prepared to work for its defeat.

The weather turned from snow to rain midway of March, with four inches of precipitation flooding many roads and some homes, especially in the Oakland and Crellin sections.

Three persons were elected as members of the Oakland Town Council. James J. Helbig, Donald M. Browning and Ernest Gregg, Jr., were chosen. All had previous council experience.

Integrated Business Methods, Inc., opened a new tape punch plant in Oakland, with expectation of employment of 50 persons each of two shifts.

The March Term Grand Jury, meeting three days, returned only three indictments, none of a major nature. The usual inspection reports of county offices and buildings were submitted.

Danny Nicklow, a former star athlete at Northern High school and member of the Marine corps, was killed in the South Vietnam fighting.

Easter, coming late in the month, enjoyed the lamb-like weather which ushered March into. . . . .

April

At the begining of the month, the treasurer reported sale of over 5,000 automobile license tags.

A major coal operation for the area was announced by officials of the Namosa Coal Co. It was reported the firm had orders for some 8,000,000 tons per year.

Thomas Sluss, of Frostburg, was appointed county roads engineer. The post had been vacant since the resignation of Paul DeWitt early in the year.

Lawrence Myers was elected as president of the Garrett County Teachers' association, replacing Foster Riggs. Teachers in the county were working for an increase in salary for the coming term.

Mrs. Diane Thayer, wife of the state's attorney, was appointed a member of the Board of Education. She replaces Mrs. George Brady on the board.

Two candidates had filed for election as delegates to the Constitutional Convention, subject to the June special election. They were Ralph Beachley, county educator, and William W. Grant, Oakland attorney.

Elwood Groves, who had recently been appointed to replace Robert Maroney as Oakland trial magistrate, resigned the office.

The Oakland Fire company observed its 42nd anniversary during the month.

On the last Sunday, clocks moved ahead to conform with daylight saving time. There was expected to be little of the confusion which had marked the move in other years, when some areas remained on "slow" time.

May

It was the merry month, but Spring had a hard time finding the way to Garrett County during the early days. Two heavy frosts damaged some fledgling garden plants, but most growing activity had not reached a stage to be endangered.

Weather or no, one sure sign of the season turned up. The Board of Education announced that 303 seniors at the two county high schools would be graduated with the class of 1967. This represented 180 at Southern and 117 at Northern, a slight decline at both schools over the preceding year.

Governor Agnew received two petitions bearing several hundred names requesting the reappointment of Robert Maroney as trial magistrate at Oakland. Most of the petitioners were Republicans. Maroney was subsequently named to the position.

In preparation for the June special election, figures showed that 9,553 persons would be eligible to vote. This included 5,744 Republicans; 3,743 Democrats and 66 who were members of other parties or showed no preference.

County teachers submitted a formal request to the Commissioners for a salary increase. Their suggested minimum was $400 across the board. Commissioner Paugh made a motion calling for a $200 increase, but it failed for want of a second. The teachers were planning a series of meetings to study possible means of obtaining the salary hike.

A tornado which followed a severe thunder and rain storm killed a Deer Park man when his house was picked up bodily, carried through the air and thrown into a nearby barn. The high winds caused damage throughout the Deer Park-Swanton section.

A new approach to the study of space was being planned by the Board of Education. Plans were disclosed for the construction of a planetarium in the auditorium of the old Oakland High school to dramatize the movement of the planets and the workings of the solar system.

June

The County Commisioners had more figures in their head than stars in their eyes as they worked daily on the levy for the coming fiscal year, that involved budget which governs tax receipts, public expenditures and the determination of the real estate tax.

Death was a companion on an outing held for boys of the Forestry Camp at Lonaconing. A 16 year old member of the group, picnicking at Swallow Falls, drowned in swollen river waters. His body was not recovered until a week later.

Four high school students were recipients of the annual Danforth Awards at commencement exercises. At Southern they were Jane Garrett and Thomas Ryan, and at Northern Linda Schlossnagle and Frederick Kolb.

Since liberalized liquor laws were effective the first of the month, four new licenses for sale of whiskey had been issued. This brought to 60 the number licensed to sell alcoholic beverages, including beer, in the county.

Coming down to earth, the Commissioners unwrapped their budget. It called for a tax reduction of 55 cents per $100 valuation over the previous levy, and set the tax rate at $2.25.

Another Friendsville service man, Sp4 Charles Wayne Hook, was listed as having died in action in Vietnam.

The results of the special election showed William W. Grant elected as delegate to the Constitutional convention. In an overwhelming show of support, voters approved the establishment of a Junior college, 2138 for and 921 against.

Appointment of 238 teachers for the coming school term was announced by the Board of Education. This represented a turnover of seven percent and left one vacancy on the staff.

In an unusual mishap, an Oakland father of five died as the result of bee stings.

Scouting's highest award was earned by two members of the Oakland troop. Anderson B. Cosby and John C. Kerins received the Eagle Scout rank.

Weather throughout the month had remained extremely dry, bringing some concern to farmers and home gardeners.

July

But the first of the month brought the rain, which was to continue for some weeks and reverse the dry condition of June. Temperatures, however, were fairly cool, with 40 degrees being recorded on the Fourth of July.

The Town of Oakland grew during the month with the annexation of some 25 acres in the Country Club section, providing 54 building lots, some of which were already in various stages of development.

The mail load increased during July, as 13,000 real estate property tax bills were sent out to owners, reflecting the lower tax rate, although in many instances an increase in assessment had cancelled out any appreciable saving. These were to be followed shortly by 3,000 more bills, for personal and farm property.

Thanks to YOU, 1968 will be Busier Than Ever!

Big things are ahead for '68, all because of the many friends and patrons of The Garrett National Bank. Your enthusiasm and loyalty have caused tremendous growth at G. N. Bank, consequently, a spanking new Main Banking Office will he built this year in downtown Oakland.

Plans are off the drawing board, excavation is complete, and workmen are making progress in preparing the site for footers and walls. Each step of the building operation is another step forward toward the day when we can open the doors and invite you in. It will be a beautiful building and, we feel, a handsome addition to downtown Oakland.

The keynote of our expansion program is "service" . . . service to you in every phase of banking activity . . . making it more efficient . . . more convenient. This is our resolution for 1968 and all the years to come.

On behalf of the DIRECTORS AND STAFF of The Garrett National we send our heartfelt home, attracted the interest of many persons, but the animal made its way to places unknown.
BEST WISHES FOR THE NEW YEAR

The Garrett County Fair was scheduled to be held at McHenry August 8 through 12, and a number of new departments and amusement features were being planned.

The Board of Education announced that the teacher shortage was becoming more pronounced, with seven vacancies now occurring. Salary competition was given as the biggest reason for the shortage.

Mrs. Patricia Kittle resigned as executive director of the Promotion Council, to take a similar position in Southern Maryland. The post was later filled by Lynn Beckman.

The month ended as it began, with plenty of rain although by now temperatures were seasonable.

August

The summer doldrums set in during the month, and this was reflected in the news, or scarcity of it.

Linda Schmidt, a Southern High senior, was named County Farm Queen at the Garrett County Fair, now underway. The FFA and 4-H Baby Beef sale turned in a 965 pound first place winner, which brought 65c per pound at auction.

A long-time Oakland physician, Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, died at his home during sleep.

Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent of schools, told the Board of Education he would resign effective August 1, 1968, even though his term extended for another year.

The Oakland Teen Center, which had operated for a number of months, fell victim to rowdyism and vandalism. It announced it would close the doors because of the undisciplined action of a small number of youngsters.

Two transactions involving bank buildings occurred during August. In one, the present building of the Garrett National Bank was sold to Dr. James H. Feaster, and in the other an option on the First National building was taken by George McLaughlin, public accountant. Sale of the latter was subsequently confirmed.

The Garrett County Playhouse at Deep Creek Lake ended its 13th season after another successful season.

September

School reopened with a first day attendance of 5,263. This included 1,366 at Southern and 789 at Northern. Overall county enrollment was increasing.

The September Grand Jury, with H. T. Oursler as foreman, ended a busy session by returning 13 indictments, including one for kidnapping and robbery.

Two county men were among eight who literally lost their shirts in a "frenjy game" at the Owls Club, between Oakland and Terra Alta. The game was interrupted in the early morning hours by gunmen who took the players' valuables and then forced them to disrobe, to prevent pursuit.

The new planetarium officially opened, with scheduled visits by county school students and organized groups of adults.

Tax collections had reached 55 percent, according to the county treasurer, which was considered "good".

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer, died after a lingering illness.

A busy court session was indicated, with 42 cases set for hearing.

October

The hospital was back in the news during October, with the announcement that it would benefit from a $200,000 bequest from the estate of Mrs. Susan Brydon Pattison, of Bloomington.

Although Indian Summer was definitely in the air, events were proceeding toward Christmas, too. The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross began packing Christmas gifts for service men in Vietnam.

A Swanton man claimed he had observed a flying saucer in the Oakland area, and to prove it exhibited a color photograph which showed some light colored object hovering over the Glotfelty restaurant building.

After combining their best efforts, the County Commissioners at mid-month succeeded in failing to agree, once again, on the site for the Community college.

Three special railroad excursions during the month brought more than 1500 persons from the Washington and Baltimore areas on the annual Autumn Glory pilgrimage.

Oakland banks and their branches were ready to pour out Christmas spirit, to the tune of $200,000, to its Christmas Savings club depositors.

And as the month ended, so did Daylight Saving time, as residents turned their clocks back to recapture the hour they had lost in the spring.

November

The annuaul financial report of the County Commissioners showed receipts during the past fiscal year of $3,457,423.11, and expenditures of $2,995,067.71.

An accompanying report of the County Roads Department indicated receipts of $1,491,223, and expenditures of $1,322,736.78.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Bishoff and son, George, of near Oakland, were declared county winners of the 1967 Farming for Better Living contest.

As it had been for many years, the tax rate for the Town of Oakland was fixed at 90 cents per $100 valuation.

A total of 1,153 voter names were removed from the books, mostly because they had not voted during the preceding five years.

The Community College issue was still far from settled. The Board of College Trustees threatened mandamus proceedings to compel the County Commissioners to fulfill their financial obligations. Meanwhile, the Commissioners were unable to even agree among themselves just where the school should be located.

A helicopter crash in Vietnam was fatal to 1st. Lt. Randall Dale Shaffer, 21, of Eglon.

The Fair board did a little figuring, too, and disclosed that its net assets were now $23,750.68.

The local National Guard unit celebrated its 20th anniversary with an open house and dance at the Armory.

Weather during the month was seasonal, becoming a little wintry toward the end.

December

Following the usual pattern, thoughts during the month turned to the holiday ahead—and most events were pointed in that direction. Churches, groups and schools were planning their annual celebrations and various observances.

The eight day buck season produced a total kill of 541 in Garrett County, down 56 from the previous year.

Twenty young men, the largest group in many months, were ordered to report for induction into the Army.

A major week-end sleet storm caused considerable damage throughout the area, resulting in some disruption of telephone and electric service.

Fred A. Thayer, State's Attorney, was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Just before Christmas, some elusive respiratory illness caused widespread sickness among school students, and resulted in considerable absenteeism from classes. It was believed most would recover by Christmas vacation.

And so with a multitude of small events, the year drew toward the close. It would be difficult to sum it up with one sentence, but perhaps it would be well to conclude with the wish for a "happier New Year!"

CHINESE NEW YEAR

In ancient China, the observance of the New Year lasted not a day, but for 15 days. Festivities began on the first day of the new moon and were climaxed two weeks later by "Teng Chieh," the Feast of Lanterns.

Legislative Alert . . .

right to jury trial, rights against unusual punishment, habeas corpus, property rights.

"Then yesterday the convention, sitting as a committee of the whole, accepted the inclusion in the Declaration of Rights of a sentence which is in concept different altogether, and narrower, dealing not with the rights of all citizens but with privileges of a portion of the citizenry".

It gave employes the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing. But a bill of rights for organized labor does not belong in the Maryland constitution. It completely ignores the rights and freedom of citizens who do not want to be organized or forced to join or contribute to unions.

The Declaration of Rights should be a Declaration for all. Any special privileges for special groups should be handled by law, passed in the legislature. It should not be embodied in the Constitution.

There has been too much pressure exerted by special groups in trying to make the new constitution fit their particular liking. There are items passed by the con-con committee which, to our way of thinking, just don't belong in a basic constitution. If such action persists the final draft will be voted down by the citizens of Maryland when the time comes to vote or whether or not the citizens will or will not accept what has taken over four months to produce.

Nell Ames slammed the telephone receiver into its cradle after the little click told her that Joe was no longer on the line.

"Stay at your old office party. Stay all night. Stay through 1968 and see if I care." She picked up a cushion from the couch, hurled it across the room. It glanced across the arm of an easy chair and veered into the open fireplace.

For a moment, Nell was too stunned to move. Then she started forward, instinctively. But the edges of the cushion were burning steadily and she knew she could not remove it from the fire.

She kicked the cushion to the back of the fireplace and sat down on the couch, inhaling the odor of burning cloth and soot and ashes that had permeated the room.

"You fool," she chided herself aloud. "Fool, fool, foolish woman."

Many Times

How many times had she promised herself that she would not allow herself to become so upset when Joe did not come home at the usual time? A hundred? Probably more.

For a moment, Nell was too stunned to move.

How carefully, before their marriage four months ago, Joe had explained that his job as account executive with the ad agency demanded more than the regular 8-hour day. She had understood. She had accepted the fact. Yet, she began to resent the solo suppers, the constant necessity to decline invitations because Joe was "working" (why couldn't she tell them he was entertaining a client in some restaurant or lounge at company expense?), and the constant waiting, waiting.

Nell put on a pot of coffee. She always did, when she was waiting for Joe to come in. By the time it finished perking, she had regained her composure.

"O.K., gal," she said to herself. "This is it. New Year resolution No. 1: I shall get it into my thick skull that Joe often has to work late. I'll learn to really accept it. I'll take up knitting. I'll develop somekind of a hobby."

Nell poured herself a cup of coffee and walked back to the livingroom.

"Hello, honey."
"Joe!"

Company

"Yep, it's me. Short office party. Stan and Bill and Jerry, plus wives, will be along in a minute. I just wanted to give you a little notice and . . . say . . . what have you been cooking, anyway?"

". . . I cooked a cushion."
"Cushion."

"A cushion — in the fireplace there. It was really . . ."

"Never mind what it was. You can't serve cooked cushion to guests on New Year's Eve. Get into the kitchen and open a can or two. I'll spray the room with deodorizer or cologne or something. We don't want anybody to suffocate."

Nell surveyed the kitchen table. Not bad on short notice—sandwiches, chips and dips. Let 'em come.

Joe stuck his head through the kitchen door. "I did it. The living room now smells like a perfume factory. Hey, nice spread, kid."

"Thank you, kind sir."

'Oh, I have a secret for you."
"Secret?"

"Yes. I made a New Year resolution. To spend more time with you. I quit my job today. Bought an interest in the Weekly Gazette. I'll be home every night for supper. How about that?"

Nell wrapped her arms about him. "I think our guests are here. Let's go and greet them with a Happy New Year.

DIED

MALCOLM MACKAY

Reds In Defense Plants

And now our men in Vietnam know why they are there. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court told them on Monday, December 11, in announcing a 6-2 decision of the court. Our men are in Vietnam to defend the right of Communists to work in defense plants in the United States. And that should make them very joyous this Christmas season, and rekindle their determination.

In a short span of ten years, the Supreme Court has:

Invalidated Sedition laws passed by 42 of our States.

Ruled that a citizen may not be prosecuted for advocating the overthrow of the United States Government by force, unless that citizen advocates action to effect the overthrow.

Ruled that the department of State may not withhold passports from suspected Communists because of their 'beliefs or associations".

Ordered that Communist Party members not be compelled to register the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Handed down a decision that no American can lose his citizenship, even if he deserts from the armed forces in time of war, or even if he votes in a foreign country.

Those are just the decisions bearing on subversion in our country at a time in history when it is face to face with the most powerful and openly hostile enemy it has ever faced. Some of the decisions on the handling of criminals, religion and politics are equally revolting.

Somehow, it must be that we have failed to see the announcement of an important decision of the Supreme Court at some time in the past.

Was it decided at some point that members of the Communist Party should sit on the Supreme Court? Otherwise, how can it be that every decision seems to be in favor of the Communists?

The security ramparts of our nation are being dismantled at a furious pace by the Supreme Court. Another ten years like the last ten can be disastrous.

The legislative branch must act before the Court interprets the First Amendment as ground for voiding all subsequent amendments. That does seem to be the Court's intent.—U. S. Press Association, Inc.

New Year Giving Royal Custom

The Saxons learned from the Romans the idea of giving presents at New Year's. Gradually in England it became customary for subjects to send costly gifts to their monarchs. Often the royal wardrobes were kept almost completely supplied by these annual presents. Queen Elizabeth accumulated — so the story goes — hundreds of pairs of jeweled gloves. This practice continued in Great Britain until the era of Cromwell and the Commonwealth.

German boys and girls carry presents to their teachers, apples being given in some cases. In this country, too, people send New Year's Day greetings; but on this date presents are usually given only to servants, postmen, or janitors.

Gifts and greeting cards are exchanged in France on the first day of the year. Children often make small tokens for their parents, and present them, with good wishes for the New Year. Shopowners usually send something to their patrons; and at this date servants and clerks sometimes get an extra month's pay.

"First Footer" May Bring Luck

Perhaps one of the most widespread of the early New Year's superstitions concerned the "first-footer", the first person to cross the threshold on New Year morning. Women and light-haired men were considered unlucky "first-footers", as were people who walked pigeon-toed.

The superstition in some villages was taken so seriously that a dark haired man was given the job of acting as first-footer. Going from house to house, he would be the first to cross over the threshold, thus preserving the good fortune of the community.

The Anglo-Saxons, believeing that something might happen when the New Year burst in, often climbed upon the roof on New Year's Eve so as to have a good view of such event.

We moderns make plenty of noise, presumably because our primitive ancestors believed that noise would keep evil influences away.

Since New Year's Day is the time for reunions of families and friends, feasting naturally is a chief pastime. And throughout the world this holiday is associated with certain foods believed to bring good luck to the diners. Often, too, there is an exchange of dishes between friends. Some modern eating customs on this date can be traced to ancient eras. Serving sweets, for example, goes back to the time when sugar cane was discovered. A favorite Roman food was honey; apples dipped in honey were also a feature of Hebrew New Year observances, which take place sometime between September 6 and October 5.

Some American Indians associated New Year's Day with acorns and salmon. They made a ceremony of eating these at this time. In our southwestern states, Texas, for instance, there was a belief that good fortune would come to those who ate black-eyed peas on January 1. This goes back to England from which settlers brought the dea to Virginia. Black-eyed peas were considered a delicacy from the time of our first President. And the turkey has long been the main dish on many tables in the United States when friends gather to honor a New Year.

In some parts of the globe, people believe that a full salt shaker foretells a good year. India serves only new foods at this date, as they think the cooking of new rice assures prosperity. Rice cakes are used as New Year offerings in Ceylon. At some places, there are taboos on certain edibles on this date. For example, the Chinese refrain from rice, and Germans from dumplings.

How Old Is This World of Ours?

Happy birthday, world! But, which one? The New Year is 1968, but how old really is this world of ours?

One thing is certain. The world is centuries old. Using the principle of radioactivity, modern researchers have dated wood samples to be as old as 4,600 years.

Atomic scientists expect to extend their measurements beyond 20,000 years, which would, of course, be long before the dawn of recorded history.

OVER A MILLION

It is estimated that over a million and a half watch both the parade and the Rose Bowl football game between eastern and western teams, which was instituted in 1916 and has become a permanent feature on New Year's Day.

The House slashed a billion dollars from foreign aid bill, okaying one for $2.2 billion.

Ryan's Glade Club Meets

Plans were made for a sled riding party at a meeting of the Ryan's Glade 4-H club held recently. No date was set.

Demonstrations were given by Doris Steyer on "How to Make a Christmas Centerpiece", and David Rodeheaver on "How to Make a Wreath". Laura Benson became a new member. A Christmas party was held after the business meeting.

IN EDINBURG

Enormous crowds gather outside the Tron Church, in Edinburgh, on New Year's Eve, to wait for midnight. As soon as the clock strikes twelve there is an outburst of shouted good wishes, handshakes, toasts, and reels danced to the wild music of bagpipes.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robb are currently living in their Arlington, Virginia, split level home.

TIME'S MARCH

The New Year is born at the starting point of time, the Admiralty's date line, near the Chatham Islands in New Zealand. From this point, the line curves east and west of the 180th meridian in such a way that it lies always in the ocean. Leaving the islands, the New Year moves to Australia, Asia, Europe and most of South America before it reaches American shores at Maine. It takes three more hours for it to reach California.

WATCH NIGHT

At the Watch Night service in New York's noted Riverside church, there is an "hour of significance"; then the carillon in the tower announces the arrival of the New Year. This is a great contrast to the noisy observance in Times Square, but both are typical of the way the United States heralds the coming year. No doubt how one celebrates, he will wish with William Cullen Bryant; "The good old year is past, oh be the new as kind!"

Problem: Catch Up With The Sun

The sun in the morning sky is much more important to man than the signal that a new day has begun. Since man first began marking time, the sun has always posed a problem. Leap years in our present Gregorian calendar are necessitated by the fact the solar year is longer than the calendar year.

The problem is not new.

Sometime in the seventh century B. C., Numa Pompilius instituted the Roman calendar. Although it was revised several times, by the reign of Julius Ceasar, the Roman calendar was some two months behind the sun.

Ceasar put his best minds to work on a new calendar. They came up with a better method of keeping up, but could not decide what to do about the two months needed to actually catch up with the sun. They solved the problem by inserting two additional months between the months of November and December, making the then-current year, which we now refer to as 46 B. C., the longest year in history — a total of 445 days.

Calendar Accurate Until Year 2500

Man marks time by the Gregorian calendar, which was instituted by Pope Gregory in 1582. It is based upon the solar year of 365 days, 5 hours and 48 minutes, 46 seconds, with the extra hours, minutes and seconds compensated for through a well-ordered system of leap years.

Despite the fact that the Gregorian calendar doesn't please everyone, it will probably be around for a long time; at least, until the year 2500. Mathematicians have guaranteed its accuracy until that date and mankind seems to have the habit of never solving problems until they are accomplished fact.

Simply stated, the Gregorian calendar provides that years divisible by four, except for the years numbering the centuries, shall have 366 days, and the century-marking years shall be leap years — and have 366 days — only if divisible by four after the ciphers have been removed. For example, the year 1900 was not a leap year; the year 2000 will be, since it is divisible by four after the last two ciphers are removed.

THE ISLE OF MAN

Long ago on the Isle of Man, women sprinkled ashes on the kitchen floors on New Years Eve. Next morning they looked carefully to see whether there were any footsteps among them. If they saw prints leading toward the door, it was a sign there would be a death in the home. If the steps were reversed, it portended an addition to the family.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Sutter County, California, with a population slightly over 40,000 people, is principally known as one of the centers of the cling peach orchards.

But apparently it is now climbing to fame as a county which is reducing its welfare load by training people for jobs and putting them on jobs.

C. W. Harder

This has caused a great deal of resentment levelled against Mrs. Mary Quitoriana, the county welfare director. When she was hired for the job by the county supervisors, her instructions were to run a conservative operation. By putting people to work, she reduced the county's welfare load from 3½ million dollars to 2½ million dollars per year.

Under the past California state administration, this created a great deal of unhappiness, largely due to the fact that while elsewhere in California county welfare loads were increasing, in Sutter County they decreased eight per cent.

The state officials could not understand that there were people who could be forced off relief onto payrolls.

Of course, there was a big investigation, but the conclusion was that Mrs. Quitoriana is running a very efficient department, and presumably the matter should have ended the matter.

But there is a Federally financed sort of an agency known as the California Rural Legal Assistance which has jumped into the matter and has filed suit on behalf, so far, of some 30 persons who claim it is unfair for her to take them off relief and insist they go to work.

It can hardly be said that Sutter County is over-niggardly on this matter of relief. There is on record a family of a father, mother, and three sons whose time on the relief rolls totals 47 years.

* * *

The four families own four color TV sets, three boats with motors and eleven automobiles. The old folk are on old age welfare, the three sons are in the mid-thirties, but each of them, after any attempt to work, developed, severe back pains. They then secure medical opinions that they are incapacitated for work.

Apparently the three sons are so badly incapacitated that some days it is quite difficult for them to spend more than a whole day out on nearby lakes in their motorboats fishing. After all, a man can suffer a severe whiplash if he casts for bass enough hours in a day.

Three, two, one . . . the minutes and seconds tick away the last moments of the old year. With dear friends I herald the birth of the new year, and together we sing, "should auld acquaintance be forgot."

Cries of "Happy New Year" fill the air, as I say farewell to the old year that cannot come again. I recall days of joy and sorrow, frustration and success. I remember things not done that should have been, and accomplishments of which I am extremely proud. Beside the measure of the year's defeats, I total up its victories. The credit side far outweighs the debit, for over all the days I see the shadow of my church.

I end my retrospection, and rejoin festivities.

With God and His Church at the center of my life, I am fortified for whatever comes in the days ahead.

Your church is a source of courage and strength sufficient to every need. Attend your church, and face the future confidently.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

EXTRAVAGANCE!

Lesson for December 31, 1967

Background Scripture: Malachi 3.

Devotional Reading: Matthew 6:19-24.

The doctor had spent his whole professional career in the little French wine growing town. He was known and loved by everyone. Someone estimated that two-thirds of the population of the town had been delivered by the little physician. The others had been there before he arrived.

Rev. Althouse

He was not a man of considerable means, for often they could not pay him for his services, or if they did, it might be eggs or vegetables, sometimes a chicken or small roast. When he announced his retirement, therefore, the people of the village decided that there ought to be some token of appreciation. Since almost everyone was engaged in growing grapes and producing wine, it was decided that a large barrel would be placed in the town square and everyone would contribute a pitcherfull for it.

No One Will Notice

In a few days the barrel was full and the town turned out for the presentation. Taking the barrel to the doctor's house, the mayor made a long and elaborate speech. From now on, whenever the doctor sipped his wine, he was to think of the gratitude of his fellow-citizens.

When everyone had wished him well and gone home, the doctor sat before the fire, took a dipper, and sampled the contents of the barrel. A strange expression crept over his face as he swished the liquid about in his mouth and swallowed it: it tasted . . . like . . . water? He took another sip: . . . it . . . WAS . . . WATER! In fact, IT WAS A WHOLE BARREL OF WATER!

Confused, the doctor called the mayor, the mayor called the council, and the council met in closed session. At last, the mayor and the council stood shamefacedly before him. Eyes cast down, the mayor tried to explain: apparently everyone had felt that he did not have enough to spare and no one would notice a little water in so much wine!

My Little Share

Often we are asked to imagine the state of our churches, our communities, our world, if everyone else were no more generous than ourselves. The above story shows what did happen because everyone thought alike: No one will miss my little share! The saddest aspect of this parable is not that the doctor received no wine, but that the barrel of water stood as a glaring symbol of the people's ingratitude.

It was this same kind of ingratitude that Malachi attacked when he spoke to the people of Jerusalem: "Will man rob God? Yet you are robbing me. But you say, 'How are we robbing thee?' In your tithes and offerings." The result: "You are cursed with a curse, for you are robbing me; the whole nation of you" (Malachi 3:8-9 RSV).

Actually, they sinned against him in two ways: (1) They failed to give him what they owed him; and (2) they demonstrated their lack of faith in him. "Bring the full tithes into the storehouse . . . and thereby put me to the test", (Malachi 3:10 RSV): If they really trusted in him to provide their needs, they would not hold back on their gifts. Stinginess toward God is a declaration of mistrust, an insult to his providence.

Never Too Generous

I have never been in financial difficulties because I was too generous. When finances have been tight, it has been a matter of my own self-indulgence. Nor have I ever heard of a church that had to close its doors because it shared too much with those beyond the walls of the church. I have known of churches that "went under" because of building too lavishly, but never because of missions or benevolences.

God is an extravagant giver: He gave his dearest possession. How do you say "thank you" for a gift like that . . . except to join him in giving extravagantly of yourself?

Statistics reflect a grilm picture of lives "snuffed out" during the week ending at midnight Christmas Eve - a total of 22 on Maryland highways - according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police. Nine of those killed were drivers, eight were passengers, and five were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in thirteen of the deaths, speed in sixteen, and "driver error" in twenty.

In commenting on the highway traffic problem, Lt. Colonel George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the Maryland State Police, said: "As we approach the last week left until the end of 1967, we are apprehensive. Certainly, during this festive season all of us should exert every precaution in the interest of safety. 'Accidents don't happen, they are caused.' Let's resolve to be alert - expect the unexpected; drive defensively; and above all - if you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink".

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

With the rush of Christmas preparations over, many families are taking time to try out new hobbies and activities. The library has a number of books which can add to the hobbyist's skill and pleasure.

Those who found new cameras under the Christmas tree can profit by reading "Your Guide to Photography" by Helen Bruce, "The Delights of Photography" by Giorgina Reid, or "Amateur Photographer's Handbook' by Aaron Sussman.

Arts and crafts books offer many ideas for creative use of leisure time. Among the new titles are: "How to Make Collages" by John Lynch, "Print Making Without a Press" by Janet Erickson, "Practical Pottery & Ceramics" by Kenneth Clark, Ware Budlong's "Indoor Gardens" and "Weaving Is For Anyone' by Jean Wilson.

Chess is an ancient game which presents an ever new challenge. The serious chess player will find on the library's shelves "Chess At a Glance" by Fred Bloss, "The Road to Chess Mastery" by Max Euwe and "The Teenage Chess Book" by Reuben Fine in addition to several older titles.

Brushing up on bridge is easy with Edgar Kaplan's "Winning Contract Bridge Complete" or Charles H. Goren's "Elements of Bridge".

Jerome Meyers "Big Book of Family Games" offers plenty of entertainment for winter evenings - games, puzzles, quizzes, riddles and magic tricks. Parents' Magazine's "Family Fun Book" and Robert Masters' "Family Game Book" contain much more than their titles suggest. They present a wide variety of creative and educational activities for young people which can be used by families or larger groups, parents or club leaders, or by young people themselves. There are many ideas for parties in all three of these books.

Going to the library together is a family activity highly recommended by Robert Masters in "Family Game Book". Families will find this a good activity in itself and a good way to begin all sorts of other hobbies and activities.

A New Year's Message

At this time of the year it is customary to have a New Year's editorial, and usually it deals with events of the year past, prospects for the year ahead, or the perishability of New Year's resolutions.

This year we found what we think is a more appropriate subject in a terse comment made by a refugee from Cuba a few days ago. This man, an ex-cab driver from New York, went to live in Cuba before Castro took over. His comment, upon setting foot on US soil:

"I wouldn't live in Castro's Cuba, if they gave me a dollar for every minute I spend there".

The refugee, Puerto Rican-born Amerigo Puig, then explained his distaste for the sanctuary we have given Communism in the Caribbean. Castro's regime stripped him of $25,000, his life savings, which he had saved while working in New York. But that was only part of it. Food, which Cuba once exported, is so scarce that people have to rely on the black market where a chicken worth $2 costs $10, where rice is officially listed at 19 cents a pound but costs $2.25, and where meat is quoted at 35 cents a pound but costs $5.

You don't have to take Amerigo Puig's word for the fact that Communist Cuba is a pretty miserable place. Seventy others got out with him. They aren't talking, beyond saying they're afraid to talk for fear of endangering relatives still in Cuba. Which is pretty eloquent testimony of a silent nature.

We bring these things up as a reminder that when comparisons are made, the United States is pretty wonderful. And when comparisons are made with countries with a socialistic form of government, whether it's the British type, the Swedish "middle way", or the brutal type found in the USSR, China or Cuba—the United States is a veritable paradise, for citizens for all creeds and colors.

The moral, in the form of a New Year's resolution for 1968, "Let's defend and strengthen the wonderful system that has been given us, and cherish it, each and every one". —U. S. Press Association, Inc.

Your Federal income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws.

Questions and Answers

Q. What right does the IRS have to seize somebody's property or bank account for unpaid taxes?

A. Federal tax law provides several actions that IRS can take to protect the government revenue when a taxpayer refuses to satisfy his obligations voluntarily.

Before enforcement action is taken, a person who owes taxes is given ample opportunity to voluntarily pay his tax liability. A taxpayer is sent several written notices and afforded conferences. If in response to any one of these notices the taxpayer cooperates, no enforcement action is taken. Only when all attempts to gain the taxpayer's cooperation in regard to the settlement of his tax liability have failed, does the IRS initiate action to enforce the law.

Q. I give my maid lunch. Do I have to pay Social Security tax on that too?

A. No. The Social Security tax applies only to cash paid to household employees for wages and transportation. You do not have to include the value of the meals you provide.

Q. I just got a letter inviting me to a charity ball. If I buy tickets can I list this as a charitable deduction?

A. This may be a deductible expense if the event is sponsored by a qualified organization. In that case, a deduction may be taken for that portion of the ticket price that exceeds the value you receive by buying the tickets.

In other words, if the tickets entitle you to attend a dance then you would have to subtract what it would cost to attend a similar dance from the amount you pay for the tickets to determine the deduction. If you buy the tickets and do not attend the event the law still requires you to reduce your charitable contribution by the value of your ticket.

To simplify things for contributors, IRS has requested that sponsors of charitable fund-raising events list the admission price and the amount solicited as a contribution right on the ticket.

Q. My boss says that since I didn't file a new withholding certificate by May 1, I have to wait until January 1 to do it. Is that right?

A. No. Many employers will let an employee change his withholding certificate at any time. Under the law, however, the employer is only required to make payroll changes four times a year, on January 1, May 1, July 1, or October 1, for changes filed at least 30 days previously.

Q. Where can I get the forms I need to report tip income?

A. Your employer should have copies of Form 4070 which you should use. If he does not have them or can't obtain them for you, send a post card to your district director requesting copies.

Q. Do you have anything that explains what a taxpayer can do if he disagrees with the agent auditing his return?

A. Yes. An explanation of the audit procedure and the taxpayer's rights of appeal are contained in IRS Document No. 5202, available at your local IRS office.

Q. I made a mistake on my 1040 and filed an amended return sometime ago. What's holding up the refund I claimed?

A. It usually takes a little longer to process amended returns. The original return has to be compared with the amended return before processing can be completed.

Q. My daughter has a small scholarship which covers part of her tuition costs. Will that have to be counted as taxable income for her? If not, will I have to pay tax on it since she is my dependent?

A. Most scholarships are not taxable. If your daughter's scholarship happens to be taxable, however, it will be counted as her income not yours. A taxpayer is not liable for the tax on income earned by his dependent.

To find out whether your daughter's scholarship is taxable or not, check with the person or organization granting it. You can also obtain information on the tax status of scholarships by sending a post card to your IRS district director.

THIS YEAR IS GOING;
DON'T TRY TO STOP IT

In a few days the old year will be nothing but statistics and memories. We look forward to the coming New Year settling many current problems.

Our affairs in our pharmacy have done very well. We have filled more prescriptions than the year before. Statistically, volume is increasing, but growing overhead and costs are taking away most of the extra profits additional sales should get. For the coming year we intend to watch our inventory so we will have any product you ask for. We will try our best to always have in stock the ingredients to fill any prescription, even those prescribed by physicians in distant cities.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Gentlemen

We have examined the statements of receipts collected and expenses disbursed and related cash accounts of the Garrett County Board of Education for the year ended June 30, 1967. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements and exhibits fairly present the Garrett County Board of Education's cash position at June 30, 1967 and income collected and expenses disbursed by the Board of Education for the year then ended on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Respectfully submitted,

To Convert Stamp Vending Machines

Nearly 10,000 postage vending machines, including those at the Oakland post office, will be converted over the next three months to reflect the new postage rates, Postmaster Guy Wm. Hinebaugh, announced.

New postage rates go into effect January 7. The new rates raise first class postage to 6-cents an ounce, air mail to 10 cents an ounce, and postal cards to 5 cents.

The job of converting the vending machines will take several months to complete, the postmaster said. Five different types of machines are involved, he noted.

Most of the machines now provide 5-cent and 4-cent stamps for a nickel, quarter or dime. After the conversion, the machines will provide 5-cent and 6-cent stamps. A new model will offer 1-cent, 5-cent and 6-cent stamps.

Mr. Gnegy, Miss Ruppenthal Wed In Double Ring Ceremony Oct. 7

Miss Robin E. Ruppenthal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon G. Ruppenthal of Terra Alta, W. Va., became the bride of Richard Gnegy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert E. Gnegy of Oakland, in a double ring ceremony performed October 7 at the Church of St. Peter the Apostle in Oakland. The Rev. Regis Larkin officiated at the exchange of vows, before an altar adorned with fall flowers and candelabra.

Mrs. Vivian McConnell, organist, accompanied soloist Joseph DiSimone in traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of de lustered bridal satin, styled with empire bodice with pearled Alencon lace appliques, extending down her A-line skirt. A detachable mantle coat with long sleeves tapered over her hands, extended into a wide lace applique chapel train. A juliet cap of Alencon lace secured her chapel-length veil of English silk illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Mrs. Lynn Fraley, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She was attired in an empire-waisted A-line gown of willow green crepe with a square neckline and long bell sleeves. She carried a bouquet of fall leaves and yellow and bronze mums.

Other attendants were Miss Maryann Ruppenthal, sisted of the bride, Miss Elaine Cumpston, Miss Jean Sayre, and Miss Ann Gnegy, sister of the groom. They wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor, and carried similar bouquets. Miss Lisa Clutter and Miss Kimberley Bond, both nieces of the bride, served as flower girls. They were attired in empire-waisted A-line gowns of yellow crepe with a square neckline and short puff sleeves, and carried miniature bouquets identical to those of the bridesmaids.

Marvin D. "Jack" Jones of Oakland served as best man. Ushers were Stephen Feaster, Medick Capirano, Raymond Hayes, and Michael Ruppenthal, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the American Legion home in Oakland. The bride's table was decorated with a white cloth, silver candelabra, and fall flowers. The wedding cake was decorated with yellow and bronze mums. Aides were Mrs. Robert Clutter, Mrs. Larry Bond, Mrs. Stephen White, and Mrs. King Tower, all sisters of the bride.

Mrs. Gnegy is a graduate of Terra Alta High School and St. Mary's School of Nursing of Huntington, W. Va. She is presently employed as a registered nurse at Preston Memorial Hospital in Kingwood, W.
